The Evening Chit-Chat

By MARY CANNON

My small niece Rosalie had been kept awake several hours one night by a mosquito in her room.

In the morning her mother was comforting her and armed with the which hand, was hunting for the little warrior's wounds which seemed to be surprisingly few.

"Why, Rosalie," she finally objected, "he doesn't seem to have bitten you more than two or three times. I don't see how that could have kept you awake so long."

"But mother," protested Rosalie, "he buzzed so. It wasn't what he did so much as what he acted as if he was going to do."

It seems to me that poor, little, sleepy Rosalie quite unknowingly described an outlook on life that does more harm than all the other species of mental cross-eyedness put together.

For the most part, it isn't what our troubles do to us that makes us so unhappy. It's what they act as if they were going to do.

We could stand the few real attacks they make upon us, they fear real injuries we think we are going to suffer.

Suppose you could see all the mental energy your possible troubles have cost you in one total, and that which your real troubles have taken out of you in another—which do you think would be the larger?

The first, I fancy, for most people don't fret at all about real troubles—they just endure them.

It's buzzing, not bites that keep us awake of night times and makes us unhappy daytimes, and makes us thin and sad and sour looking, and uses up the precious vitality that we need for other purposes.

And remember this, all you who want to succeed in the business of life—and I suppose that is equivalent to saying everybody—he who is constantly fighting ghosts is seldom capable of fighting any of the real battles on the highroad to success. We require all a man or woman's full powers.

Buster Brown has a resolution on the subject of the needless unhappiness caused by the buzzing of that mosquito which seldom bites, which I'm sure you'll appreciate, whether you are a victim or not.

"Resolved," that worry is work. People who worry have got a life job with no pay envelope on Saturdays. Worry is crossing the bridge before you come to it, and while you're on it and after you're over. Tige says he never thinks about it until he gets there and if the bridge is down he swims the creek. I guess we can't worry if we stop saying "If."

Buster Brown.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood is impure and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrapper. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes.

To clean ivory make a paste of chalk, olive oil and ammonia, equal parts, and rub well. Let it remain on until thoroughly dry, and then wash off.

When eggs are broken and cannot be used at once, they will keep better if the shells are removed and a quarter of teaspoonful of salt beaten in for each egg.

The beaver drawer can be made to open easily and noiselessly by rubbing it with common soap, and the same device can be used upon doors that stick.

To keep sliced Spanish onions from falling apart take toothpicks and stick them through each slice to centre; then dip in eggs and cracker crumbs and fry in butter.

If shelves and floors of closets are wiped with water which is hot with chervene pepper, insects will be kept away. Borax and soda are good to put into the cracks.

To save gas, remove the tip and insert a small piece of cotton in the pipe and replace the tip. This lessens the pressure and a more even and softer light is obtained.

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 25 years. Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was used.

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Morpeth, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia, and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of kidneys, liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Cascarets Cleanse Liver and Bowels

No Pains—No Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which acids and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

If the seats of canned chairs are sagged down, wash well on the bottom side and when nearly dry rub the bottom over with water in which a little shoe has been dissolved. Let them dry bottom side up.

The most satisfactory method of marking clothes that go out to the laundry is with a rubber stamp, bearing your name. The stamp is inexpensive and one may buy a pad of indelible ink for a few cents.

Man Hunt in Manitoba.

Desperate Kidnaps Pretty Young School Teacher.

Snow Flake, Man, Sept. 13.—A fierce man hunt and deadly skirmish resembling Indian warfare has been underway for the past twenty-four hours, ten miles between here and the United States border. This sensational situation is the climax of the kidnapping of a pretty young school teacher, Eleanor Gladys Price, by a desperado believed to be Henry B. Wilson alias Bill Miner, of Hannah, N.D.

During the night a force of 300 pursued the fugitive through the bush and many shots were exchanged. At sunrise he was surrounded in a dense wood.

Hoodlums picked up the trail five miles from the school house where he rascal captured the girl on Monday afternoon. She returned home in a frightful condition last night.

The populace is in an infuriated state and the score of constables directing the pursuit will be unable to detect the man if he is caught.

The United States officials just over the line have sent a posse into Canada from the south.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms Can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache. I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Would Not Salute Stars and Stripes

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The public school authorities of New Jersey were called upon yesterday for the first time in the history of the state to deal with the situation arising from the refusal of Catherine Audsley, a 14 year old girl, of Perth Amboy, N.J., to salute the American flag or take the oath of allegiance during the exercises in her school. The state school laws compel the salutation of the flag and the taking of the oath of allegiance to it every morning. The girl refused to comply with this law and was sent home by the school superintendent, M. F. Audsley, the girl's father, is a British subject.

Newfoundland and Reciprocity.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

There is one point in connection with the present discussion, which though made in our columns by an esteemed correspondent, has not received the attention its great importance demands. It will be remembered that some years ago a treaty—commonly known as the Blaine-Bond treaty—was negotiated between the United States and Newfoundland. It was much less extensive than the present bargain, but so far as concerns the point now made, was similar, in that it provided for the free admission of Newfoundland fish into the United States, in return for the concession of fishing privileges by Newfoundland.

So far as the United States and Newfoundland were concerned, the treaty was concluded. But at this point, Canada woke up to the seriousness of the situation. It was recognized by all parties, without any political distinction, that if this treaty were allowed to go into effect, it would entail the most disastrous consequences for our great fishing industry.

There was never a suggestion that such a treaty was a thing not worth our having, to say nothing of being a distinct detriment to us. On all sides, it was admitted that if our sister Colony was allowed to make such a treaty separately, it would not only be a great gain to her, but a most serious detriment to us.

The Canadian Government did act quickly and firmly. It represented to the Imperial Government that it was most improper and unfair to the Maritime Provinces of Canada to allow such a treaty to be made by Newfoundland independently. It was a harsh contention, as respects our sister Colony, and she argued with a great deal of force that it was most unfair and dog-in-the-mangerish of Canada to prevent her from obtaining a favor from the United States, merely because she would like a similar favor for herself, but could not get it. However, the influence and representations of the Canadian Government were so strong that they prevailed and the Imperial assent to the treaty was withheld. Newfoundland's resentment was, and still is, both deep and loud, and, considering the circumstances, perfectly natural.

Some ten years have elapsed and now Canada is asked to ratify an agreement which, so far as fish is concerned, is even more favourable to her than the Blaine-Bond Treaty was to Newfoundland. Would it have been believed possible that party frenzy could have so maddened the opponents of the Government that they are asking the voters to reject the very thing which ten years ago they were insisting was so advantageous that Newfoundland could not be permitted to have it unless we were allowed to share in its benefits? Yet so it is.

But this is the least important aspect of the case. Newfoundland is still more anxious for a reciprocal arrangement, respecting fish, with the United States, and is watching the course of events in Canada with the keenest interest. A gentleman well acquainted with the island informs us that nothing would please her people better than the rejection of Reciprocity by Canada, because it would mean the immediate resumption of negotiations with Washington. Our foolishness would be her great opportunity.

Of the result of those negotiations, in the present frame of mind of the Washington Government, there can be no doubt. A treaty would be entered into at once. Canada could make no opposition. With what face could she oppose Newfoundland obtaining something which she had just declared was of no value to her, and which she did not want?

Before six months were over, our fishermen and fish exporters would find themselves in competition with a Newfoundland that had free access to the American market.

Of the result of that competition, there cannot be a moment's doubt. Newfoundland is our most formidable rival in the fish business at present. So great are her natural advantages in that respect that even now some of our fish houses, notably the great firm of N. & N. Smith, find it to their advantage to have branches in that island and transact a large part of their business there.

But with all of the American markets, including Porto Rico, open to her and closed to us, her superiority would be so overwhelming that there would be only one course open to our people—namely, to transfer themselves and their industry bodily to our sister Colony.

There is no possible room for misapprehension or doubt. Every vote against Reciprocity is a vote to transfer our whole enormous fishing industry, in all its branches, from Nova Scotia to Newfoundland as a free gift. — Halifax Morning Chronicle, Sept. 16.

Public Notice.

CENSUS, 1911.

The following Regulations in connection with the Census are published for general information:—

1. The father of a family, if alive and present, is the proper authority to give information of his family; if the father is dead or absent, then the mother or person in charge shall speak for him.

(a) Provided that any child over sixteen years of age objecting to be classed in religion by the parent may be permitted to name his or her religion to the Magistrate;

(b) That the wife, boarder or servant, or other person of full age present in a house, may speak for themselves, and can have alterations made by applying to the Court of Revision.

2. No person who has been continuously absent from Newfoundland for eighteen months immediately preceding the time of taking the Census shall be included in the Census, but this shall not be taken to exclude (1) Any child who is absent at school; and (2) Any head of a family who is employed out of the Colony, but whose family continues to reside in the Colony.

3. Every person resident in the Colony at the time the Census is being taken shall be included without reference to the length of time during which such person has resided here. In other words, the name of every actual and bona fide resident must be included.
