LET US BE GLAD.

The philosophy of Pollyanna that we should be glad because things might be worse than they are, is very acceptable at the moment, and all would do well to follow along the lines laid down. Half the time matters are not quite so bad as they seem and a little cheerfulness radiated around goes a long distance toward dispelling gloom. The sun shines, even though we do not always see it, yet clouds but cover its face for a time and presently forth it comes in all its glory, breaking through the veil and diffusing warmth and light. So with present circumstances in Newfoundland. Trade may be dull at present, but it is bound to brighten up ere long. We are not the only people to feel the affect of hard times. Depression is world wide and every country is more or less affected by it. But the sun of better times is shining, and commerce is bound to look up. Hitherto, on the whole, Newfoundland has not had much cause for pessimism, notwithstanding the gloom that for a while hung over local conditions. Here and there perhaps occur instances that make for weighty consideration as to how best they might be mitigated. But meeting troubles cheerfully is half the battle. To sit down and grouse does not help. Playing the "glad game" by one and all brings mutual comfort. Times may be troublesome and affairs critical. In that case the best way to meet the difficulties that confront us is smilingly. The "I-told-you-so" individual should be shunned and contented. It is quite easy to be wise after the fact. Post mortems are not held for the fun of the thing, but to determine the cause. If then a trade post mortem will show just where the trouble lies, it is the business and duty of all to take such steps as will prevent a recurrence, by applying the correct remedy. "A short while back," says an article in the Shipping and Export Register of Canada, "the little dominion of Newfoundland was reported as being next door to bankruptcy. It had fishery troubles, railway problems, labor strikes, and all the various business diseases that generally terminate in panic." Yet there was no panic. We got ahead of our fishing troubles, we overcame the railway problem (at some past and future cost), we straightened out the labor trouble, and we are rapidly curing the other business diseases. The gloom has been dissipated. The sun of trade is nearing zenith, and the rays of increasing business will surely shine more brightly than ever. Therefore let us rejoice and be glad because we have at least something for which to be thankful.

"The Unkissed Bride."

SCREENING COMEDY BY GLADYS ELKAR CO.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you." All the world and his wife as represented by St. John's theatre goers had the time of their life at the Casino Theatre last night when Miss Gladys Elkar and her associates presented that screaming comedy, "The Unkissed Bride." The title sounds paradoxical, but—see it yourself tonight. If you want a laugh, or suffer from a Saturday night fit of the blues, just go and see Miss Elkar as the Unkissed Bride. The cure is both warranted and guaranteed. In this production every performer is on the job, and they get there every time. For the big laugh see Miss Nita Pearl in the character of Lily, and Miss Ellen Andrews as Aunt Matilda. The picture seems to be the whole of the admission. Lily, by the way, is the "niece" of Police Officer Buckley, portrayed by Mr. Harry P. Ford. Uncle Dawley from the West (Louis Lytton), and Jack Reynolds (Fred Carmel), are particularly good in their different roles, as indeed are all the members of the cast. The C.L.B. Band furnished attractive music, every number being thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated. At the matinee this afternoon "Polyanna" will be repeated Monday and Tuesday nights of next week "The Cave Girl" will be put on.

C. C. C. Church Parade.

The Battalion and Band of the C.C.C. under Major O'Grady, O.C., will hold a Church Parade tomorrow (Sunday), attending Last Mass at the R. C. Cathedral. As this is the first battalion church parade to be held for some time, it is expected that a large number will turn out. Owing to the fact that new uniforms have not all been finished, the senior company will parade in mufti. The C.C.C. is fast coming up to its previous standard. Practically all the survivors of the good old days have rejoined the ranks and already they have knocked the rust spots off and have settled down to a rigid course of training. The good, moral and physical of Brigade life for the boys of any town is not to be sneered at, and parents of all boys should insist on them joining the Brigade of their particular denomination. With all four Brigades in full swing, it is to be hoped, very soon, an interesting program of later-brigade sports could be looked forward to during the coming winter.

Personality.

"When I first came to St. John's," said a recently married friend of mine, "there was one thing in particular which I missed." "And what was that?" I asked. "The friendliness of the stores," she replied. Now this rather surprised me, for of all the places in the country I should have thought that St. John's was the most friendly in the shopping sense. I suggested this view of the matter to my friend. "Well," was the answer, "perhaps it was a feeling of loneliness more than anything. Before I was married, I lived at H. . . around the bay and I knew practically everybody in our little town—and, equally, everybody knew me. I would go to Smith's Dry Goods Store and I was welcomed by Mr. Smith himself. Mr. Cassidy the Grocer, always greeted me with a cheery 'Good morning, Miss . . .'. Mr. Brown, the Butcher, Mr. Brannigan, the Baker, Mr. Floyd, the Druggist—all of them were pleased to see me and willing to oblige me. 'Of course, when I came to St. John's I knew practically nobody—but what struck me most was that nobody knew me; I suppose I missed the personal side of life in the outports—that is until . . .'. 'Aha,' I said, 'until so you have remedied that defect in your St. John's existence?' 'Yes,' she laughed, 'I am beginning to feel I'm quite important myself again—in fact I have felt so ever since I started shopping at the Royal Stores. You know, I feel entirely at home there now. Some stores are so large and silent that I feel like an intruder, an awkward feeling possesses me that I am disturbing something or someone—you know what I mean—that nervous sense that one gets on arriving late for service on Sunday morning—when the only outstanding sound is the echo of one's own footsteps. 'Well, at the Royal Stores, it is quite different—there is an air of welcome about the great store—the largest in St. John's—a cheeriness and a liveliness that is refreshing to a stranger. Of course, there is no Mr. Smith, or Mr. Cassidy, or Mr. Brown to greet you, but there is in their place an atmosphere of pleasing and gentle courtesy which seems to put one at one's ease immediately one enters the door. 'The Royal Stores has a personality that has given back to me once again the friendliness or companionship of my old home-town. I do all my shopping there—and enjoy myself thoroughly, while doing it.' THE GLEANER.

A Salesman of High Degree.

While the purpose of the Premier of Newfoundland in this country was to protest against the proposed tariff on fish, we have considerable reason to believe that his main object was to sell 400,000 quintals of Newfoundland codfish for use in the relief of Russia. Great Britain and her dominions ever combine government with business to the mutual benefit of both, and therein lies a lesson which this democracy should sit up nights and study until mastered.—N.Y. Fishing Gazette.

Charged With Larceny.

Three members of the crew of the schooner Romeo were charged before Judge Morris this morning with the larceny of a quantity of rubber goods to the value of $700, the property of Mr. F. House. The goods were being shipped to Bonavista by the Romeo. The accused entered a plea of not guilty and asked to have Mr. G. W. B. Ayre represent them. At the request of the Inspector General on behalf of the prosecution, the accused were remanded for eight days. The captain of the schooner was arrested at Port Union, where his vessel was forced to put in, after drifting off to sea, and he is now in custody at Bonavista. The other men were arrested on the arrival of the train yesterday, and a large quantity of the goods, which were recovered, now lie at the police station.

Enquiry Commenced.

The Magisterial enquiry into the death of Miss Margaret Skinner who was electrocuted through contact with a charged fence on the Torbay Road recently, was commenced yesterday before Mr. J. J. McCarthy, J.P. The evidence of Bro. O'Regan, Raymond Miller, Frank Burley, John King, Mrs. Frances Coleman and James Coleman was taken, and the enquiry was then adjourned. The enquiry into the shooting accident in the Telegram building which probably be concluded this afternoon.

McMurdo's Store News.

SATURDAY, Oct. 22. Nuxated Iron has a good many cures of cases of anaemia, bloodlessness, weak nerves, loss of appetite, general debility, and run down systems, to its credit, and most people who have taken Nuxated Iron for the above or similar complaints, have derived benefit from its use, and express themselves as satisfied of its value. So that we feel that we can recommend it to enquirers for a medicine for the relief of such troubles. Price $1.40 a bottle. If you want a liquid shampoo that comes near to perfection, you need not go beyond our Emulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo, the same, and use, of which grows apace, Easy and pleasant to use, effective for its purpose, moderate in price, 40c. a bottle.

Road Work Started.

We understand that the contract for the Colinet Road has been awarded to Mr. Geo. Lannon of Placentia, and work started last week, but through some delay in getting along the tools many men could not be employed. However, this has been remedied, and in short a large number of men will be at work. The Government will not this year place the bridge over Rocky River, but will finish the roads on either side—that is to Placentia and Salmonier.

Hallow'een Party.

Preparations are now being made for the Hallow'een party, which the members of St. Andrew's Society are holding on the last of the month for the children. The party will be held in the Club Rooms, which will be splendidly and appropriately decorated. The usual Hallow'een games will be indulged in and there will also be some special added attractions.

International Fishing Schooner Race.

Up to press hour no news had been received from Halifax of the starting of the International Fishing Schooner Race, between the Lunenburg challenger Bluenose and the Gloucester defender Elna. Enquiry at the Anglo office produced no results as neither the Superintendent nor the chief operator had any advice.

The Ladies' Fall and Winter Coats, with and without fur collars, that BISHOP'S are showing this week are the most wonderful values given in St. John's this season. The prices are only Twenty-eight Dollars to Fifty-nine Dollars. I would take eighty dollars to one hundred and forty dollars to buy similar coats last season.

Address to Mr. Ayre.

The following address was presented to Mr. George W. B. Ayre, LL.B., recently by a party of enthusiastic admirers.

Dear Mr. Ayre.—The success which has attended the conduct of your first case before the Supreme Court Bench, in the matter of the King vs. Peter Hiseock, must be a source of great gratification to you; and we the undersigned Ayre admirers desire to express to you the pleasure and pride which we feel in your achievement. The legal sagacity and marked ability displayed by you in the conduct of this important case was not unlooked for by those who have marked your successful career in the Central District Court, but it is very gratifying to find our estimate of your worth and talents now so amply and unmistakably confirmed. As a citizen you are entitled to the deepest gratitude of the public of the City and the Colony for your untiring efforts in the case of good clean sport, and just as your unselfish work in that direction has been crowned by the formation of the Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association (the Presidency of which you so appropriately grace) and the obtaining, after all others had failed, of the Parade Ground, for the purpose of the encouragement of athletics, so now have you added to your professional attainments the laurel of a successful termination to your first action in the Supreme Court, a distinction which is the envy of every Barrister. As a remembrance of such a happy occasion we beg your acceptance of the accompanying little souvenir which we sincerely trust you may long live to wield in the cause of honest, manly sport and the public interests generally. St. John's, Oct. 18th, 1921.

There is a large quantity of Men's Best Quality Shirts selling at BISHOP'S for One Dollar and Seventy-five cents each. These are the cheapest Men's Shirts to be sold in St. John's this year, and it would pay every man to pick up a few of these while they last.

Government Buys Potatoes.

Some thirty or forty pony loads of potatoes were brought out this morning from Broad Cove and hauled to a West End premises, from where they will be shipped by train and steamer for some ports in the Straits. The price paid for these potatoes was $4 per barrel, so the sellers said, and the purchase was alleged to have been made by the Government.

There is no gift which conveys such a personal message of regard as a Portrait, especially at Xmas. There is nothing so delightful to give, there is certainly nothing so welcome to receive. ### THE NEW FALL VELOUR.

Man! to get red-blood smartness into your winter outfit you'll want one of these dapper Velours. They're something extraordinary—in style, in wear. Couldn't find anything to measure up to my standards or these points. I have certain ideas as to what makes a real man's hat. I want to sell hats that are out of the rut—what no one else can show. I told the factory foreman the kind of a hat I wanted. He said "It'll be a cracker-jack hat!" It is. It's so different from the rest that they called it
