PRINCIPLES AND PERSONS. In view of the awakened public feeling or the trade question there is every reason to sion, by the agency of complete reciprocity with the United States, or by a great reduction in the present high rate of taxation, will in the near future triumph.

Stern experience has taught the people of Canada that prosperity cannot be attained by imposing grievous taxes on the country, and by handing over the taxpayers to the tender mercies of a few combines.

Trade freedom has won so many friends that its success seems beyond a peradven-ture if care is taken to prevent the opponents of reciprocity, open or concealed, from weakening its strength by leading the people away on side issues. A few weeks ago no one would have believed that the chief members of the Canadian Government in the Province of Quebec would be supporting unrestricted reciprocity and indors ing an unrestricted reciprocity candidate. ing an unrestricted reciprocity candidate. Such a spectacle in presented in Napier-ville, where a Dominion election is now in progress. What does it all mean? Simply that the movement in favor or unrestricted reciprocity is now so strong that even those who have hitherto opposed it deem it wise to swim with the tide.

Such a confession of weakness by their opponents may well be regarded as the signal for renewed effort on the part of trade emancipators. They must succeed if they avoid tactical errors and side or personal issues. The leaders in the anti-reciprocity movement-those who would fain remain the obedient servants of the combines and continue recipients of the Red Parlor contributions—would like nothing better than a campaign waged on the personal merits or demerits of Sir John Macdonald. It cannot be denied that the Conservative leader—he who represented himself to the assembled combine-manufac turers as the man in the tree who has the power to shake down the apples or with hold the fruit from the hogs—is a man of great personal magnetism. He has a genial, taking manner, and he has pronounced ability. He has many followers who have hitherto voted for him on personal grounds alone. Not a few of these voters can be won over to unrestricted reciprocity, if the great principle is the issue, but they will tick by the old Tory chief if the issue is diverted to personalities.

There is, indeed, too much personal politics in Canada, and representatives of both political parties must be numbered among the transgressors. Little is to be determined to have regard, not for sec-tional or combined interests, but for the gained by antagonizing the electorate in regard toleading meninthis day. It did not help Mr. Meredith's cause in the late election to have Hon. G. W. Ross personally blackguarded in a hundred papers and on as many public platforms because of his policy on educational matters. It is a positive injury to the cause of the opponents of comdenounce Sir Richard Cartwright as a Province, will, no doubt, be favorably contraitor to Canada, intent only upon injuring the Canadian people. Nor is the denunciation of Mr. John Charlton as dis-Nor is the tion Convention this winter. It is a matter loyal to the Dominion calculated to injure that gentleman in the eyes of those who can read and think for themselves. Let it be admitted that the attacks which are far less warranted than those which have been directed by Liberal campaigners touch with the dairy industry so that have been made on these Liberal leaders towards Sir John Macdonald and some of financial provisions required may be made or legislation needed enacted at the next his associates. We know in how close companionship these men have been, and for session of the Provincial Legislature. Many party newspapers and some party leaders are too fond of this system of "educating" the public, of Knockdon. It is worthy of note that but as has been pointed out it has serious for the second time in succession Mr. disadvantages.

One of the largest and most influential deputations that ever waited upon a Board of Aldermen interviewed the London City Council last night. The petition presented called upon the aldermen to submit to popular vote, the question of whether or not the liquor licenses should be reduced from 69 to 59, and so strong were the arguments adduced by the gentlemen who voiced the opinions of the deputation that the Council unanimously granted the release made. The question raised is one rithy of the serious consideration of every payer.

-The high tax policy has not helped the petroleum trade of Canada. night, a resolution was passed thanking the Ontario Government for appointing a commission on prison reform, and indorson commodities imported from the States, Sir Richard made a most effective answer: on commodities imported from the states, Sir Rienard made a most effective answer:

"I will tell you you will not escape some trade disturbance, but you will be repaid by the great benefits that will result. By taking down the barriers to trade there will be alterations of channels of trade now diverted from their natural courses, but the collective wealth of the country will be enormously increased. And it is of secondary importance how you collect the revenue. There is no question of adding I cent to the expenditure. At the worst it will mean the substitution of a cheap for an expensive method of collecting taxation. Who are the men who are afraid of losing from the treasury $6,000,000 or $7,009,000? They are the men who are not afraid of adding $13,000,000 to the annual expenditure of the country, and if the amount of money they take needlessly from the pockets of the country to taken into account the sum would be nearer $30,000,000 than the $13,000,000 that go into the treasury. These men have not hesitated to double and treble the expenditure, and now they plead their gross extravagance as argument for not adopting the remedy."

When Sir Robert Peel was in Oposition has mean one occasion asked to give details ing the proposition to make industrial em ployment of prisoners an essential element in the reformation of prisoners. The resolution was moved by Rev. Thos. Geoghegan, an Anglican preacher in Hamilton, and seconded by Dr. Meredith.

--In response to freely-expressed public sentiment the Board of Trade has taken the initiative to feel the pulse of the electors in egard to the question of a reduction of the wards in the city to three. It is believed by many that the city could be more economically and efficiently managed if there were tewer wards, and the Council would like to go further, but the pro-posed reduction is as far as the Munici-pal Act enables cities to go, and ot adopting the remedy."

which, by the way, Gladstone has repeatedly indorsed. There are, however, many ways in which remedial measures should be applied. Take the Northwest as a field for operations. In regard to the maladministration of the mal for use in his old age, as he boasted when brought to book. His son, J. C. Rykert, tration that has characterized the management of the territories, Sir Richard said: tration that has characterized the management of the territories, Sir Richard said:

"There is an empire up there, and it has been fooled away by this Government. Sir John Macdonald promised that by January, 1891, there should be in the treasury of the Dominion $69,000,000 in cash, mortgages, bonds and securities as the profits from that vast territory in the west. How does the Northwest account stand? When I looked at it last it was: Expense of acquiring the Northwest lands, $2,50,000; cash receipts. $4,250,000; deficit, $1,000,000. The 1st January, 1891, will be here in less than a month, and as I remarked to Sir John Macdonald when last I saw him, he had to realize from that time $2,500 a day to redeem his promise. Now it would be necessary that he received $5,000,000 per day if he keep faith with the people. (Laughter and applause.) That is the difference between this Government's promise and fulfillment. Turn now to the administration of the Crown lands of the Ontario Government in contrast. My friend Mr. Mowat in the same time has made for the people of this Province $13,000,000 (applause), while Sir John Macdonald, with half a continent to carve, instead of his boasted $69,000,000
