Red River.
For several years great discontent has been expressed by the settlers of the district lying between the Rocky Mountains and Canada, known under the generic title of the Red River Settlement, at the control of their affairs by the Hudson Bay Company, which Corporation stands in the same relation to the settlers in that locality as it occupied towards this Colony prior to 1858. The Government of the Red River Settlement is in the hands of the Company. From its officers are appointed the members of the Legislative Council, and the Council make all the appointments and regulate the officials from Sheriff to Constable in the territory. Against this undesirable form of Government the settlers have frequently petitioned. They are anxious to "open business on their own account," and to do the Hudson Bay Company justice, we must say it appears anxious to transfer the responsibility to the Crown. The Company has, we believe, wielded their almost unlimited power in a spirit of justice and impartiality; but disputes frequently arise between their officers and the colonists, which render the task of governing as disagreeable to the officers as the fact of being so governed is irksome to the people. The Red River country lies directly on the line of the proposed highway from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The British American railway, if ever built, must run directly through the heart of the settlement. The country is one of the most magnificent on the continent. Rich prairies, intersected here and there with belts of valuable timber, abound, and an American engineer who recently explored the country, in a report to the New York Legislature, gives it as his opinion that within twenty years hence the territory of Red River to the foot of the Rocky Mountains, along the Assiniboine and the Saskatchewan, will produce more grain than all the Northwest States of America now produce. He estimates that there are at least fifty millions of acres of splendid land now lying idle that will yield bountifully of every resource that contributes to the support of man, were the land thrown open to settlement. In his report the gentleman presses strongly upon the United States Government the advisability of obtaining possession of this splendid territory, the almost uninterrupted water communication from Red River to the Atlantic, rendering the shipment of its products a matter attended with comparatively slight expense. The few farmers who have obtained a footing in the settlement are rich in flocks and herds and grain. As high as sixty bushels of grain have been raised to the acre; forty-five bushels is the average yield, and the only labor required to secure this enormous return is in turning up the rich virgin soil and sowing the seed. Added to its agricultural resources, the territory is known to be rich in minerals. Gold in payable quantities has been discovered on its rivers; and its mines of native copper will one day rival those of the far-famed Lake Superior region. Iron, too, exists in abundance, and traces of silver ore have been frequently found. The climate is mild—milder, in fact, than that of any part of Canada—and Red River is open to navigation as early as the St. Lawrence. All these natural advantages need only to attract thither both men and capital. One of the main objects of the Confederation scheme is the construction of a railway from ocean to ocean through British territory. The importance of the Red River country to the New Nation cannot be underrated, and we are therefore not surprised to learn by telegraph that the settlers—fully awakened to a sense of their importance—are clamoring for a change in their relations to the Imperial Government. The Hudson Bay Company, for several successive years, has offered to transfer the territory to the Imperial Government upon payment of a large sum of money; but the bargain has never been struck, and the question has been at last left with the Kingdom of Canada to dispose of. From appearances, we think that this will be one of the first matters of importance to come before the Parliament of the Confederation, and since the settlers have expressed a desire to unite their fortunes with their brethren of the Eastern Provinces, we feel certain that should the price named by the Company be anywhere within reason, a transfer will be effected during the first session of Parliament.

IMMIGRANT AID SOCIETIES IN ENGLAND.
A private letter from a gentleman to a friend in this city says:—"The Rev. R. Wake has published in London a pamphlet describing Nebraska in glowing colors, and urging people to proceed thither and make it their home. Numbers left England last year for that distant territory, and a large party of a very superior class, consisting chiefly of small farmers, each possessing from £200 to £1000, leave in the spring, together with a minister, for the Far West. Virginia is holding out strong inducements to settlers, and an office has been opened here to give information to enquirers, etc. Queensland has resumed partially her immigration system; and the other Australian Colonies, New Zealand and Natal are all making efforts to secure a share of the surplus population of Great Britain. Your Colony would be able to obtain her share, if an Agency were opened in London and a liberal system of immigration adopted by the Colony. I am glad there is an immediate prospect of this, for the attention of the emigrant class is being directed to British Columbia by the strenuous efforts of one of your old colonists."

THE COLONIST ON THE BRAIN.—"Pecksniff" of the News, who is suffering from a severe attack of this malady, yesterday treated his readers to only four items and a "leader," devoted to the COLONIST and "Jenkins." We observe, however, that the dive we made into the fellow's "Scrapbook" on Saturday has demoralized him sadly, and that he has summoned a Monitorial friend to assist him in the "leader" department. Poor Pecksniff! we fear that the malady with which you are afflicted will prove fatal; but do try and keep your head above water until these "witching" "two months" are over. You will then be convinced that you are a fool and a dupe instead of a wise man.

LOWER RIVER ITEMS.—The Columbian and Examiner contains the following: Wm. Christie, formerly of the Royal Engineers, died suddenly on Saturday..... A man named James Curwan was severely injured on Friday by a tree falling upon him. He was cutting cordwood at the time..... A gentleman who arrived this week from Douglas, says that but little mining was being done on the Portage when he passed. There were only 28 men a work..... As the steamer Lillooet was laying to at Miller's Landing, Sumas, on her way up to Yale, on Wednesday, some hay on board was discovered to be on fire by a party passing in a canoe, who immediately gave the alarm. Fortunately the fire had got but little hold of the inflammable material, and was quickly extinguished.

Cricket Match.
The return match between the Victoria Club and the Navy Eleven (with Equumalt) came off on the ground of the latter at Colwood on Saturday, resulting in a nominal victory for the Fleet on the first innings by 46 runs; the ground was in good order and the weather favorable. The Victorians won the toss and elected to take first innings; their batting was very middling, displaying a great want of practice, and but little judgment; only Powell and Ellis reached double figures, the latter's score included a run. This innings was good, but Drummond's was very easy and should have met with more punishment from the hands of the Victorians. Browne, of course, longstopped well. The Navy ran up 97 in their first innings, batting throughout with great care and steadiness, Browne topping the score with 21, Drummond 11, Howard and Waller a somewhat laborious 7. The fielding of the Victorians was scarcely up to their old form, although we must give Ellis credit for his longstopping, which is always one of the features of the game. Frere, Powell and J. Wilson were the bowlers, the former was certainly the most effective. Victoria improved greatly in their second innings, although eight wickets were down for something less than 40 runs, but Weaver and Ellis getting well together, collared the bowling; Ellis made 37 by brilliant hitting and Weaver 24 by steady play. J. Barnett made 12, including a leg hit for five. This left the Navy 67 to win on their second innings, but they pleaded darkness and concluded to draw the stumps at 5:30 p.m., although 6:30 p.m. was the time agreed upon between Messrs Digby and Clarke, the respective Captains. As it was decidedly within the bounds of possibility to put the Naval gentlemen out for less than the required number (67) within the hour, the ultimate victory of the Fleet may be considered very problematical. Messrs Farwell and others acted as umpires and gave general satisfaction by their decisions. The scores, Messrs E. R. Thomas and Sidney, E. N., did their duty in a most scientific manner, notwithstanding their close proximity to a keg of Stuart's Ale kindly furnished by the Fleet for the accommodation of their adversaries. The ground was graced by the presence of many fair ladies and the players were cheered on to glory by the melodious strains of the band of H. M. S. Malacca.

MAGNIFICENT OFFER.—A letter published in the Panama Star of the 14th ult., signed Ignacius, in behalf of an Irish firm, offers for the Panama Railroad lease of 99 years, to pay the national debt, amounting to $33,000,000, to pay an annual rental of $500,000, and $100,000 to the State of Panama. The contract would free the custom revenue from 36 per cent. now paid as interest on foreign loans.

FIRST TREASURE OF THE SEASON.—Upwards of $130,000 in gold dust and bars were brought down on the Enterprise on Saturday by J. G. Shepherd, Esq., of the Bank of British North America, from Cariboo. This is the first shipment of the season, and we understand that there is still more of the same sort left on the creek. The indications are that the receipts of treasure will be large this year.—Islander.

Among the passengers yesterday by the Fideliter was Captain Moriarty, R.N. Captain Moriarty was formerly stationed here, and is well and favorably known to most of our citizens.

OUTRAGE AND MURDER.—California papers received by the Fideliter give particulars of a mob outrage and murder at the town of Belmont, Nevada. A man named Canfield was being ridden on a rail by a mob, when a man named Dodson interfered and fatally shot one of the rioters named Diegan, and was in turn shot and killed. Canfield escaped unhurt.

ITEMS IN BRIEF.—Governor Seymour departed for New Westminster on Saturday.... "Liverpool Jack" paid the Indian he had assaulted $10, and was liberated with a caution to make himself scarce.... The Enterprise on Saturday afternoon brought down 20 passengers and $130,000 in treasure.

MASONIC.—We are informed that a Warrant has arrived from the Grand Lodge of England to open a Lodge at Nanaimo, and that shortly a gathering of the Freemasons from New Westminster and Victoria will take place in that town for the purpose of installing the Hon. Captain Franklin as W.M.—N.W. Examiner.

THE ORIFLAMME.—A letter received from Captain Conder, of the steamer Oriflamme, announces his intention to touch at Victoria on his way to and from Sitka in June. He will go and come by the "inside passage" and will coal at Nanaimo.

FROM PORTLAND.—The steamer Fideliter, Erskine, arrived from Portland at noon yesterday, after a very fine run to this port. She brought 15 passengers and a good freight.

PRIZE FIGHT.—Tom Allen and Joe Goss recently fought so long in England that both were completely used up, and the fight was a drawn one.

COMING BACK.—Captain John T. Wright's name appears among the list of passengers who left New York for San Francisco on the 30th ult.

DANIEL DREW, the stock-broker of New York, who recently gave $500,000 for religious purposes, has been arrested for fraud. He is worth $25,000,000.

ARRIVED DOWN.—The ship Revere, 17 days from Nanaimo with coal, arrived at San Francisco on the 25th April.

FRANK WHEELER, a well known gymnast of San Francisco, is dead at the age of 41.

THE California reached San Francisco at six o'clock on Saturday morning.

THANKS TO Captain Erskine, of the Fideliter, for files of late papers.

Supreme Court.

[BEFORE CHIEF JUSTICE NEEDHAM AND A COMMON JURY.]

THURSDAY, May 2d, 1867.

Assignees of Thomas Harris vs. John Murray.—The Solicitor General, instructed by Messrs Drake & Jackson, for the plaintiffs; Mr. Rig and Mr. McCreight, instructed by Mr. Copland, for the defendant.

This was an issue and jointed to try the property in certain goods and chattels which had been sold and assigned by Thomas Harris to the defendant John Murray, but the property in which was claimed by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs called Robert Bishop, Thos. Harris, W. C. Ward and Under Sheriff Austin. The defendant called himself, George Hemmingway, bailiff, and John Copland. The books of Harris were also produced in evidence for the defendant.

The Chief Justice, in summing up the case, stated to the jury that the matter rested itself into a narrow compass, and the jury were to say, first, whether they believed the statements of Murray and Harris as to the terms of the arrangement entered into in January, when the great was supplied; and second, if the jury believed these statements, viz: that in default of payment Harris was to deliver up the book debts to Murray, they should find a verdict for the defendants, because Harris was only carrying out what he was in equity bound to do by the terms of the arrangement, and the assignment was no fraud on the creditors.

The jury, after an absence of five minutes, returned with a verdict for the defendants.

(From the Columbian of Saturday.)

Cariboo.

The steamers Lillooet and Oward arrived from Yale yesterday, the former bringing a Cariboo Express, and the latter having on board J. G. Shepherd, Esq., manager of the Bank of British North America, with $130,000 in treasure, being a portion of the winter take at the Williams Creek Agency. Mr. Shepherd left the Creek on the 24th ult. The weather continued fine on the Creek; but owing to the frosty nights the supply of water for mining operations was still short. Quite a number of Companies were working successfully, and many more were only awaiting a supply of water in order to commence active operations. Everyone appeared confident that the season just commencing will prove one of unprecedented prosperity. Market prices had not undergone any perceptible change, and the supply appeared to be equal to the demand, with a few unimportant exceptions. As far as Vanwinkle there was still snow on the ground; below that point the road is bare, and travel ling fair with the exception of the "Green Timber," where the ground is sloppy. Adam's Mill is working well, and turning out an excellent article. It appears to be well found and complete in every department. Hon. Mr. Ball was met at the Junction, en route to Cariboo. Hon. Mr. Sanders was to start out from Yale yesterday for Lillooet. Mr. Barnard's stage stock is in excellent condition, and his arrangements are very complete.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—It is altogether probable the Cosmopolitan will not be rebuilt as a hotel. Reiz Bros. have abandoned the plan to convert the building into stores and parties with whom they are negotiating have the same purpose in view. It is believed the building can be fitted up for stores at a less expense than must be incurred in placing it in proper repair for hotel purposes, and the property can be made to pay better when devoted to business purposes.

FORT CHURCHILL, April 28.—McCall, the delinquent Treasurer of Santa Clara county, was arrested this morning by Sheriff Adams and officer Mather, of Carson, near the sink of Walker river. He was on his way to Salt Lake.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Dr. B. W. Hathaway, whose serious illness has been noticed in the Bulletin, died this morning.

NEW YORK, April 20.—In Honduras a second Indian war has broken out. Venezuela papers state that the subject of the American claims against Venezuela was opened on the 4th of March, and would be discussed amicably and an arrangement agreed upon.
