REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

government disclose either great ignorance or great dishonesty on the part of those who make them. We are inclined to think that in most cases the former affords the explanation of them. Almost daily we find some of our contemporaries asserting that some district has considered in the district as soon as Spokane and points in Eastern Canada. It is clearly out of the power of the government and the legislature to give all the assistance to railways that will be assistance to railways that will be asserting that some aid must be given. We are much impressed its hardly probable that the Boundary region will be penetrated by two railroads this year. One of these will be the proposed extension of the Spokane & Northern from Northport, and the other is the Columbia & Westward of the power of the government and the legislature to give all the assistance to railways that will be asked. It is equally clear that some aid must be given. We are much impressed with the idea that a line of policy can be more and points in Eastern Canada. The Miner has reason to believe that the Boundary region will be penetrated by two railroads this year. One of these will be the proposed extension of the Spokane & Northern from Northport, and the other is the Columbia & Westward and the other is the Columbia & Westward and the other is the Columbia of the power of the government and the legislature to give all the assistance to railways that will be asked. It is equally clear that some aid must be given. We are much impressed with the other is the Columbia of the proposed extension of the proposed extension of the proposed extension of the proposed extension of the power of the government and the legislature to give all the assistance to railways that will be asked. It is equally clear that some aid the other is the Columbia of the power of the government and the legislature to give all the assistance to railways that will be asked. It is equally clear that some aid the proposed extension of the power of the government and the legislature provided for a locality is when supply is being passed. We do not TWO FARMERS' PARLIAMENTS. say that a government may not be fairly criticized at all times for not asking the house to vote sufficient sums to meet the reasonable demands of any locality. Our point is that after supply has been once voted the hands of the government are tied until the legislature meets again, except in the case of emergencies of the nature specified by the statute governing expenditures without a vote of the legislature. If the provincial revenue should be swelled by receipts from unexpected sources, the government would have no right to spend the money where it thought best: but if such receipts should create a surplus over the amounts voted by the legislature or expended under the emergency act, such surplus would be retained in the treasurv until its expenditure had been duly authorized by the house.

It may be worth while to mention to

We do not say that if a great and unexpected emergency should arise, one not contemplated by any legishation, the government would not be warranted in using any money in the treasury to meet it, trusting to the example of the stock penditure being ratified by the legislator. Thus in the event of great and treasury to meet it. Thus in the event of great and treasury to meet it. Thus in the event of great and treasured tr sudden calamities arising from natural or accidental causes, the government may take the responsibility of anticipating a legislative vote.
