APACHES ATTACK BIER OF PARIS MERCHANT

All Paris Took Holiday to Jeer at Pompous Funeral Procession.

POLICE CHARGE CROWD

PARIS, June 22.—Paris seized the occasion of the pompous funeral of M. Chanchard, and made of it a holiday to ridicule the merchant prince's memory.

The streets leading to the Madeleine church and the route of the cortege were thronged by a noisy mob of Apaches, who hallooed at the mourners with mocking utterances, as barbed and noiseful looking they followed the black plumed horse to the graveyard.

In spite of the efforts of the police Apaches fought their way to the bare casket, stripped them of the recumbent flowers and wreaths which they tossed to the most outside.

But the centre of interest was the mysterious woman who gained $5,000,000 by the old man's will. As the cortege neared the Church Madeleine she went by.

Mrs. Marie Bourain, the woman who had just won the million-dollar prize, was seen in the crowd.

Even then the soldiers and police vacillated in their way for the procession through the "howling mob" which held the Place de la Bastille.

The procession hurried on at a rapid pace while the troops and police charged right and left.

When the cortege reached the cemetery the iron gates shut out the clamorous mob, and the funeral proceeded.

ENGINEER REPORTS ON COAL CREEK ACCIDENT

A. S. Donald, resident engineer of the Transcontinental Railway Company on the Corbett-Fleisch contract, has just sent in his report of the accident on Saturday in which two men were killed and several hurt as the result of a simple train getting beyond control.

In his report Mr. Donald does not attach blame to anyone. He says the tracks were in such a condition that the wheels of the engine did not take proper hold, and slipped thus causing the runaway.

In sickness, it is certain, hidden nerve was wrong, that the organ that the nerve controls will also surely fall. It may be a stomach nerve, or it may have even strength and support to the heart of Schmorl. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach, but to stimulate the heart and the part of Schmorl. That old-fashioned methods are all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these vital organs.

The remarkable success of this preparation demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these troubling ailments. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten drops will surely tell. Try it once, and see how it will benefit you.

POINTED PAAGRAPHS

The "net" is mightier than the country jail.

Too many men who have good ideas are unable to make good.

WHAT THE BOY WROTE

A young man once wrote to his father, saying, "I can't do anything. I don't feel like making any sort of physical exertion." Thousands of people feel exactly like that young man—and they are not lazy people, either. They are, generally, dyspeptics, with a fret touch of indigestion; they need a short course of Mother Sigel's Syrup, to get their stomach, liver and bowels into healthy activity, so that their food will be normal and strengthen them.
