Mrs. F. J. Clegg, Dundas street, has turned over an Easter visit with relatives in Port Huron.

Miss Charlotte Vining, of Toronto, is guest with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Grant, Talbot street.

The officers of the R. C. R. entertained last night an informal dance at Wolsley Barracks.

Mr. Edward Hicks, of Tillsonburg, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. G. M. Hammond, 36 Craig street.

Mrs. S. C. McLeod, King street, spent Easter week-end with her sister, Mrs. J. F. Reid, in Seaford.

Prof. Maine and Prof. Anglin, of the faculty of Albert College, Belleville, were Easter week guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Maine, Byron avenue.

Mr. B. B. Reynolds, of Sandwich, and Mr. G. A. Reynolds, of Toronto, were holiday guests this week at the home of Mr. W. F. Reynolds, Princess avenue.

Miss Kitty Brown, Queen's avenue, entertained the Crescent basketball team at a theater party yesterday afternoon, the girls going on to her home for a jolly high tea after the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kirk, Wilton Grove, announce the marriage of their daughter, Nellie Kathleen, to Elmer M. Barons, of Belmont, the marriage to take place in April.

Miss Florence Hammond, Craig street, and Miss Florence Pittaway, Westminster, have returned from a holiday visit at the home of the former's uncle, Mr. W. D. Beach, Harper avenue, Detroit.

In honor of Miss Nora Hember, of Toronto, Miss Marjorie Brauntown, Waterloo street north, entertained informally at the tea table yesterday when she was assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Brauntown.

A popular gathering in the city is Mrs. Roy Yeates, of Montreal, who is with her mother, Mrs. Jones, in King street. In honor of Mrs. Yeates, Mrs. Jones entertained at tea on Tuesday afternoon, and Mrs. Norman Keene will be a tea hostess to-day.

The engagement is announced of Miss Rebecca Tassie, B.A., youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tassie, of Dresden, Ont., and sister of Mrs. James McGregor, of Glenora, to Mr. Ean Edridge Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edridge, of Chatham, Ont., the marriage to take place the latter part of April.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion president of the W.C.T.U., goes to Ottawa next week to attend the postponed meeting of the National council on immigration, which will take place on Thursday, April 5. On the evening of that day Mrs. Wright will address a mass meeting in Ottawa on "The Call of the Hour," in reference to the approaching liquor referendum.

A delightful reception to the members followed last night's annual meeting of the Women's Music Club, in St. Andrew's Hall. Receiving with Mrs. Victor Blackwell were Mrs. C. R. Squire and Mrs. Edwin Paul, and Mrs. Charles Percy and Mrs. R. E. Davis presided at the supper table. The table was decorated with pink and white flowers and pink and white tablecloths. The decorations were a lovely sight. The guests were: Mrs. J. H. Elliott, Mrs. Mabel Stevens, Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Gordon Hunt, Mrs. Robinson Orr, Mrs. J. D. Grant, Miss Marion Grant, Miss Jeanette Wilson, Mrs. Ray Lawson, Miss Minnie Raymond, Mrs. Mortimer Hunt and Mrs. Ross Johnston.

Mrs. Jared Vining and Miss McPherson were tea hostesses yesterday afternoon, entertaining at their home in South London. Miss Charlotte Vining, of Toronto, assisted in receiving, and Mrs. T. M. Millman ushered to the tea, where the table was decorated with a springlike decorations of snapdragons and daffodils. Presiding were Mrs. C. E. Cowley and Mrs. B. H. Clement, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Miller, and a quartet of pretty girls, Miss Margaret Millman, Miss Eleanor Grant, Miss Marion Grant and Miss Norma Anderson. Roses and carnations made a fragrant background in the living-room, where the many guests lingered over a chat with the hostesses, who are leaving in April to spend the summer in Scotland.

It was a very smart afternoon "at home" of which Mrs. J. I. Ferguson was the hostess yesterday at her home in Worsley road, where she was assisted in receiving her many guests by Miss Martha Smith, the latter wearing a handsome gown of gray crepe meteor, with touches of lovely Venetian point, while Mrs. Ferguson's gown was of white blue satin, handsomely trimmed with gold lace. The table was a color scheme of old rose was carried out in the bowls of Richmond roses about the room, while in the pretty dining-room, the table with its cloth of rare old Roman lace, was set in glowing yellow. Yellow roses, a quaint china spread were surrounded by maidenhair fern, and the white candles, softly shaded, cast a pretty glow on the room. Pouring wine were Mrs. Ray Lawson, wearing a lovely black velvet gown and wide black hat, and Mrs. Sherwood Fox, a modish frock of brown tulle with satin, beaded in bronze and flecked with turquoise blue embroidery, with smart hat of blue and black. Mrs. F. R. Clegg wore a smart frock of burnt orange shade with draperies of crystal, and Pekin blue hat beaded in pearls, and Mrs. C. A. Harris was charmingly frocked in black velvet with becoming black hat. Mrs. R. E. Davis, wearing blue chamoisee and black hat, ushered to the tea. Mrs. J. H. WOMAN'S INTERESTS

WEDDINGS

James-Attwood.
St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Walkerton, was the scene of a pretty Easter wedding at high noon on Monday, March 28, when Miss Catherine Attwood became the bride of Mr. Treve James, Rev. R. Perdue officiating. Miss Kathleen James, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. R. H. Proud, of Tara, the best man. Following a short honeymoon, which they will spend in Toronto and Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. James will reside in Walkerton.

Delaney-Macgregor.
A wedding of interest to many Londoners was solemnized this week in the Blessed Sacrament Church, Guelph, when Irene Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Macgregor, York street, J. Delaney, of Sudbury, Rev. Father O'Gorman officiating. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. Coleman, following the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Delaney left for a trip to Eastern points, before returning to Sudbury, where they will reside.

Hughes-Winter.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winter, Samia road, London Township, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, March 30, when their eldest daughter, Sarah, became the bride of J. Albert Hughes, of Ilderton. Rev. Dr. McCas performed the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests, and Miss Hughes played the wedding march. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father and wore a modish gown of embroidered tulle and carried roses and lily of the valley. The ceremony and congratulations supper was served, followed by toast. Many pretty and valuable gifts, including some substantial checks, attest the popularity of the bride and groom.

A charming wedding took place on Wednesday morning, March 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Vickerman, Tilbury, when their eldest daughter, Pearl, became the bride of John Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Richards, Rev. T. Dobson, rector of St. Andrew's church, officiating. The bride wore a going-away suit of sand-colored cloth and was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Vickerman, who was robed in navy tulle. Mr. Maurice Richards, the groom's brother, was best man. A dainty breakfast followed the ceremony, only the immediate members of the two families being present. Those from a distance were two sisters of the groom, Miss Ada Richards, principal of Ford public school and Mrs. Isaac Kelly, of Hamilton, with her two small children, after a brief honeymoon, spent in Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Richards will take up their residence in Tilbury.

Venning-Sloan.
On Friday, March 25, at noon, a quiet but pretty wedding took place in Tilbury, when their daughter, Mary, became the bride of the late James Sloan and Mrs. Sloan, of Canal street, became the bride of Richard Bruce Venning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Venning, of Walkerville. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, which was beautifully decorated with an abundance of pink and white flowers. Rev. W. Williams officiated. The bride, who was unattended, carried a bouquet of pink and white flowers and wore a gown of velvet and brown and orange hat, trimmed with flowers. Following the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Beloved out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brooks, of Elmira, the latter a sister of the bride; Mrs. Denry and Miss Kathleen Venning, of Walkerville, and sister of the groom. The only Tilbury guests were Miss Helen Sharp, a lifelong friend of the bride, and Miss Margaret Stewart, who was also a guest at the wedding of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Venning will reside on Gladstone avenue, Walkerville.

Stringer-Young.
A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Matthew's Church, in Kingston, on Tuesday, March 29, when Miss Lucie Young, daughter of Mr. Joseph Young, well-known resident of Kincora Township, was united in marriage to Mr. John Wilmer Stringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stringer, of Kincora Township, and nephew of Rev. Bishop Stringer. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church in the strains of the Lohengrin bride chorus and looked charming in her gown of white satin with a flowing veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Arum lilies. The bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Stringer, sister of the bride, wore a dainty frock trimmed with baby ribbon and rosettes. Mr. Albert Young acted as best man, and the rector, Rev. F. Lewin, officiated. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, where about 50 friends and relatives gathered to offer congratulations and view the numerous wedding presents. During the beautiful wedding song, "All Joy Be Thine," was rendered. Mr. and Mrs. Stringer left by motor on their honeymoon and will later take up their residence at the Stringer home.

CLUB PRESENTATIONS.
The Riverview Mothers' Club is receiving congratulations on the success of their splendid concert, given on Wednesday evening in the Masonic Temple. Much of the credit is due Mrs. Thomas Forth, through whose efforts the program was prepared and a pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to her of a lovely basket of flowers. Little Beth Atchison prettily offered the gift. The prize for the greatest number of tickets sold went to Mrs. George Fralick, who was presented with a sheaf of flowers by the club. Marion Orchard made the presentation.

The Story of Ninette

By Ruby M. Ayers
Copyright 1921 by the Wheeler Syndicate, Incorporated.

CHAPTER XI.—"I SHALL MARRY A RICH MAN."
She had said that she did not want to stay in Northard's house, and yet, when all arrangements were made for her to leave it, she shrank from going. Anything fresh was an intolerable effort, and on the morning that she was to leave London she went down to Northard's study—the room where he had caught her that night with his watch in her hand—and stood trembling in the doorway.

"I don't want to go," she said faintly. "Must I go?"

Northard looked up from some papers he was sorting, great surprise in his eyes. He had never heard her speak so humbly before, so childishly, and involuntarily he took a quick step towards her.

"You don't want to go? What do you mean, Ninette?"

"I would rather stay here. I hate strangers. Can I stay?"

He looked troubled.

"Only the other day you were longing to get away," he reminded her. "What am I to do with you, if you keep changing your mind like this?"

"I shall not change it again, if you will let me stay, and I am willing to go into an office, as you said, or anywhere else, if I can stay here."

He colored distressfully. He had tried hard to understand this girl, and utterly failed; and now, just as he was congratulating himself that she was disposed of for the present at least, she upset all his calculations in this manner.

There were tears in her eyes, and her lip trembled as she waited for his reply.

"Can I stay? I'll help in the house; I'll do anything."

The housekeeper came to the door. "Please, sir, James has brought the car round."

Northard's face hardened. Was he to be made to look foolish before his own servants?

"I am sorry, Ninette," he said gravely, "but it's too late to change our plans. I wish your sister is expecting you. Please go and put your hat on."

Ninette flushed crimson, then paled as suddenly.

"Very well," she said shortly. "But I shall never come back."

She walked out of the room and upstairs.

Northard stood staring after her frowningly. What the dickens was a man to make of her? He shrugged his shoulders, bundled her into a taxi, and drew and went out to the car.

When Ninette came downstairs dressed for the journey she looked just as really indifferent as usual, and seemed nervous at her. Northard could not believe that she had ever made her trembling appeal to be allowed to stay.

She sat beside him as they drove away, her hands clasped loosely in her lap, the big collar of her coat fastened warmly around her throat.

The sun was shining, but the air was damp and cold, and Northard stooped and wrapped the rug more closely round her knees.

"You must not take cold again," he said.

She made no answer, and when presently she spoke, it was to ask quite an irrelevant question.

"Who else will be there beside your sister?"

Northard shook his head.

"Her husband, I suppose, and perhaps some friends. She has a big house, and she likes people staying with her."

were completed for the next meeting of the league, which will take place in the evening at 8 o'clock, at the Methodist Church on Monday evening, April 11. A one-act play will be presented on this occasion by Mrs. Lynne Evans and E. J. McDougall and Miss Grace Ellis. All directions whispered "Are, it's fine." Thinking of this story we think of our supply, growing heavier year by year, and how many of us would have grumbled and turned back had we not heard our supply secretary cheerfully calling: "It's fine at the top." When we have said "Are, it's fine" to us to do also say: "Are, it's fine." Your ready acceptance of the increased work has been an evidence of our appreciation of the spirit of our untrusting devotion to the work, and we are all the more grateful to be each of us. It is sent with the love of each individual member, who all unite in a prayer to God that you will prosper for many years to come.

GREENFELL SALE.
The gratifying sum of over $150 was raised yesterday at a most successful rummage sale, arranged by the London branch of the Grenfell Mission, in the basement of the First Methodist Church, under the patronage of Mrs. Donald McLean. The proceeds will go towards the annual contribution of the local branch to the work of the mission, for which a musicale will also be shortly given, while the yearly bazaar, for which contributions have been asked, will be packed, as usual, in June. Mrs. McLean was assisted yesterday in serving the throng of purchasers by the secretary, Mrs. H. Elliott, Mrs. C. H. Ivey, Mrs. Miss Isabel Ivey, Mrs. Scream, Mrs. W. A. Bleuthner, Mrs. (Major) Brown, Mrs. A. V. Beech, Mrs. Wood, Miss Mac, Mrs. Moore, Miss Clarke, Miss Raymond, Miss McCrimmon, Miss Shaw-Wood and others.

GIFT BY PRESBYTERIAL TO MRS. F. BALLANTYNE
Address and Presentation Made to W. M. S. Supply Secretary.
Mrs. D. L. McCas presided over the quarterly meeting of the executive of the W. M. S. of London Presbyterial, held at the First Presbyterial Church yesterday afternoon, when the reports of the officers and superintendents were among the main business. The treasurer, Mrs. McCas, reported a total of $145.54 in the famine fund, raised among the women in the presbyterial for the use of the missionaries.

FACIAL SPASM.
Facial spasm begins with the twitching of one of the eyelids, after which comes a series of quick twitches and then a rest. This is not painful, but disagreeable and embarrassing, since it is conspicuous. By degrees the period of rest between the twitches becomes shorter and shorter and the sufferer is more and more distressed.

This kind of facial spasm is likely to come on in very nervous people, especially in middle and advanced life, and more in women than in men. The trouble usually starts, whenever it is not due to some real physical injury, or some emotional distress, or some grief or anxiety. Spasms thus caused ought to be recovered from as soon as there is return to normal mental health. Or the spasm may have had its origin in some undue exposure, as too severe a cold, or after getting the feet in snow and icy water, such exposure having resulted in an over or now disease of the nerves supplying such diseased parts of the head may be inflamed, or pressed on by a bony growth of a polypus, or a "pus pocket" in the region of the ear, the mastoid (behind the ear), the nose, the eye, the tear ducts, or the teeth. If the facial spasm is due to any of these causes, the patient, with causes, the question of relief would depend on examination by a competent physician and removal, when possible, of the organic trouble.

Questions and Answers.

When by brother (who is now 26 years of age) was a small child, he caught scarlet fever and it left him with a running ear. He is also deaf in this ear. A few weeks ago he had a mastoid in his ear and went to the doctor who told him it would be best if he went under an operation. Is such an operation serious?

Answer: An operation for the mastoid bone is a serious operation, but often must be performed. It may be more dangerous to them to operate if the operation is advised by a good ear specialist, you should permit it.

Please tell me the cause and cure of infantile uterine menorrhagia.

Answer: Infantile uterine menorrhagia is a condition which occurs when about 14 years of age. The cause may be bad health at that time, or it may be a result of abuse. When treatment is undertaken in early adult life, in many cases growth is obtained. Electricity has been a useful remedy in some cases, but it is not usually advised, but sterility is certain in some cases and is probable in others.

I am running on the right side. What would you advise for a permanent cure? I am wearing a truss now, but I don't think it will cure it, do you?

Answer: A truss will keep you fairly comfortable, but if you desire to be cured you must have an operation performed by a good surgeon.

WHY TOADS LOST THEIR TAILS.

Hippy Hoppy Toad cleared his throat and blinked his eyes. He loved to sit and watch Chatty Chipmunk and Fluffy Red Squirrel scampering through the trees and fields while he had none. Fluffy Red Squirrel seemed very proud of his, and would sit by the hour combing out the bits of grass and twigs that were caught in it. "Chatty Chipmunk's tail wasn't as fluffy as Fluffy Red Squirrel's but he was just as proud as he could be of it. "Maybe if you had to climb trees and stone walls like we do, you would have a tail," chuckled Chatty Chipmunk. He was very proud to think he had one. It helped him many a time in a tight place. He could flatten his little body out on a limb and hold on by his tail.

"Maybe if you'd try climbing, you might grow one," Chatty Chipmunk said, but Hippy Hoppy Toad shook his head and said: "I never had one. I have been to each of us. It is sent with the love of each individual member, who all unite in a prayer to God that you will prosper for many years to come."

SALOON TURNED INTO HOME FOR FAMILY

Will Accommodate Family of Twelve Evicted From New House.
CHICAGO, March 31.—The housing problem was solved for Albert Kaufman, his wife and 10 children, who recently were evicted from their recently purchased home because of inability to pay installments, when Judge Landis, amending his injunction closing a saloon for one year, turned it into a home for the family.

The present owner of the saloon, which was closed for violation of the prohibition law, read of Kaufman's plight and notified the city attorney-general's office that the family could live there if the ban against the building were raised. Judge Landis granted the request and the Kaufman family moved in to-day.
