SUET PUDDING.—Chop fine one cup of raisins and one-half cup of suet (one cup if wanted very rich), add two cups of sweet milk, one cup of sugar, four cups of flour, one teaspoonful of cream tartar, two teaspoonfuls of soda, and a little salt. Cover tightly and steam or boil two hours. Leave room to swell. Pork chopped very fine, or a little less in measure of pork fat may be used instead of suet. Eat with liquid sauce.

WATER TEST.—A French periodical, La Culture, gives the following simple method for testing the purity of water. In an ordinary quart bottle three parts filled with water dissolve a spoonful of pure white sugar, cork it well, and put it in a warm place. If at the end of forty-eight hours the water becomes turbid and milky, there can be no doubt of its impurity; but if it remains limpid, it may be considered safely drinkable.

Irim on nearly all the fat, cut the lean meat in small pieces and put them in a pudding dish; if you have any gravy or stock, pour that over them; put in a little butter, and season with pepper and salt and a little paraley chopped fine; cover the top with a hick paste made just as you make baking pouder biscuit; brown nicely in the oven.

FIG CANDY.—Fig candy is not at all difficult to make. Take one cup of sugar, one-third of a cup of water, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar; let the sugar and water boil until it is a pale brown colour; shake the basin in which it is boiling gently, to prevent its burning, but do not stir it at all until just before you take it from the fire; then stir in the cream of tartar. PINEAPPLE CAKE.—One cupful of butter, two cupfuls of pulverized sugar, two cupfuls of flour, seven eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of water, a large binch of salt. Work the butter to a very sight cream, add the sugar, then the well-beaten yolks, the whites beaten to a very stiff froth; the water, and lastly the flour, baking powder and salt sifted well together. Bake in jelly-cake paus. Spread pineapple marmalade between the cakes. If you have none it may easily be made. Take the slices from a can of pineapple, chop them fine, make a thick syrup of some of the juice and sugar, put in the pineapple and boil fifteen minutes. Have it cold before putting it between the cakes.
