

P. SINCLAIR has received within the last few days the following NEW WORKS which are now on sale at his Book Store in Fabrique Street.

NAPOLEON LOUIS BONAPARTE,

FIRST PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

A highly interesting volume of Biographical and personal sketches of the present President of the French Republic—written with good taste and evidently by one whose opportunities for collecting matter for such a work have been most favourable—the visit to the Prince at Ham, will be read with much pleasure.

The California and Oregon Trail,

A collection of sketches of Prairie and Rocky Mountain Life, in two parts or volumes—admirably written by a Mr. Francis Parkman, and originally published in the Knickerbocker Magazine. At this moment when the eyes of all the world are turned towards the gold region, Mr. Parkman's book will prove highly interesting to every one who reads it.

THE CAXTONS,

Sir E. Bulwer Lytton's fame and popularity as the best writer of fiction of modern times will ensure a rapid sale and eager perusal of this last new work, it is written in the author's usual happy style and is worthy of a place with his most popular productions.

THE DIAMOND AND THE PEARL,

BY MRS. GORE.

The highly gifted authoress of the "Banker's Wife," "Castles in the Air," &c., &c.,—has never penned a novel superior to the DIAMOND AND THE PEARL. The contrast in the characters and fortunes of two sisters is admirably carried out, and certain touches of pathos are wrought up with great judgment and feeling.

Voluptuousness or Madeline.

Eugène Sue, one of the most gifted and prolific writers of the present age has issued part four of the series of tales published under the startling title of the SEVEN CAPITAL SINS. Voluptuousness or Madeline is full of deep interest and is another splendid addition to Sue's Novels.
