In the year 1720 died Sheffield, Duke of Buckingham; and in 1722, Edmund Curil [a notorious published an advertisement in the London newspapers, indicating that there was to come out a libellous life of that deceased nobleman, life and the sum of the following of the sum course of the proceedings upon that occasion a committee was appointed, but he could not find that they had made any report. But on the 21st of January following the matter was again taken into consideration, the Lords being summoned, and that standing order was duly passed.—John Bull.

EARL GREY .- His Lordship occupied a prominent station in the public eye, for nearly half a century. His talents, however, were not of the highest order; but they were set off by an impressive elecution, a graceful carriage, and a lofty solemnity of manner which in ordinary minds created the notion of a corresponding solemnity and loftiness of purpose. But analyse any one of his numberless speeches which are recorded in the entary debates, and the stream of thought will be found exceedingly shallow. They told, at the moment, because they were skilfully adapted to the moment; like an occasional poem or some terms of the state of the peruyian or song; or the clap-trap harangue of Rolla to the Peruvian army, every sentence of which was drowned in tumultuous appiause, so long as the audiences could patriotically apply them to BONAPARTE and his threatened invasion—but how tame and common-place they would be now. The intellect of Lord Grey had neither a large nor a powerful grasp. He could not powerful grasp. not reach great philosophical truths, or deduce comprehensive maxims, like Pitt, Fox, Grattan, Burke, Sheridan, and many others who were his contemporaries. As a politician, his greatest merit was that he had principles, and that he never abandoned them. He was a Whig, and an advocate of popular rights: but unlike the Whigs with whom he was associated in carrying the Reform Bill, he scorned to truckle to the demoracy. He obtained for the people what he thought it was fitting they should have; not what they chose to ask. He fitting they should have; not what they chose to ask. He would not do their work, but his own. He left the former to Lord Melbourne and Lord J, Russell, patronised by Mr. O'Connell.—Ibid.

CONFLAGRATION AT SMURNA. - The following details are taken from a private letter, dated Smyrna, July 9, 1845:a Snyrna is again in misery and ruin; a larger and more awful configration than the last commenced on the evening the 3rd instant, continued violently for twelve or fifteen hours, and upwards of two days in burning embers and side-fires; even up to yesterday here and there magazines and stone buildings buildings were burning—some from being opened too soon, when the heated air burst into a flame. It began in the centre of the town aided by a furious north wind, (which afterwards changed,) destroying everything right and left, and for a circumference, I calculate, of at least a mile and a half. The English beautiful preserved to the control of the English hospital was saved by a miracle, and thereby preserved that part of the town and the so called rue de Rose. The Austrian hospital is burnt. Close to it Borrell lives; he was saved, although the fire was burning on three sides of him.—

Then, back although the fire was burning on three sides of him.—

Then back although the fire was burning on three sides of him.— Then, backwards, all the Armenian quarter, except Purdlestreet, is destroyed. The fire skirted the Jews' quarter—burning some 100 houses—and then spread to the grand Vizier Khan and up to the bazaars. Shoemaker-lane is all burnt, and round about St. George's as in the former fire. The three corners, Atkinson's, Maltass's, &c., are saved. It came near to us, when Van Lennep's and three or four adjoining houses were burnt; but all these being built with terraces and long Passages, the half only towards Frank-street were consumed, and the fire was fortunately stopped. Hereford Election.—The new election to supply the vacancy in the representation of Hereford, caused by the dearh of E. Bolton Clive, took place on Thursday, in the old Shire of Hereford. The only candidate was Sir Robert Price, a Whig, who formerly represented the county, but retired some years ago. He was of course declared duly elected. FIRE.—We regret being compelled to announce that the neighbouring village of Ancaster was on Sunday night last the scene of an almost ruinous conflagration, which destroyed the two hotels, Rousseau's and Tidy's, together with the post office and several other buildings. The fire originated near Rousseau's hotel, and from the combustible nature of the old wooden buildings, it raged with terrific fury, and in less than two hours from its commencement, the work of devastation was complete. We understand that much of the property was uninsured, and that Mr. Notman of Dundas will sustain a heavy loss. Various rumours are affoat in reference to the cause of the fire; but it is generally believed to have been the work of left here on the 23d ultimo; no arrivals have taken place from an incendiary .- Brantford Courier.

NOVA SCOTIA. PROSPECTS OF THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION .- A great deal has been said of late in the papers relative to the contest at the next General Election, and much ink and paper has been expended in speculation upon the result. The Great Lib-erals talk confidently of the prowess they intend to exhibit, The Pope on Railways.—The Frankfort Journal makes the following odd announcement, under date 17th July, from Rome:—"The Pope has declared once for all, that he will not allow railways to be established in the Pontifical States, for it would be dangerous to allow them in a country where there low ourselves to be imposed upon also, and frightened from our propriety at their portentous noise. Some of our contemporaries surprised by their flourishes, do now and then write as if a little scared; but we see no danger as yet to the cause of order and propriety, though it must be owned that the Liberals show much activity, and are very assiduous in their endeavours to create an impression which shall tell when the time comes. Up to this time, however, their labour is lost, and they exasperate themselves without gaining any converts. Were the Government to be carried on for the next two sessions as in the two last, their chance of returning to power would be but small—and if a little more energy were infused into its

It seems that after all the gaseonading despatches of the Mexican Minister, a declaration of war is now very doubtful. Our prompt and intelligent correspondent tells us the whole story. be the successful candidate.

Almonte has offered his services to government in the approaching campaign against Texas; but I rather think it is more a ruse de guerre, to help him to the Presidency, than any great desire he has got to have a brush with the Texans—or as Lought rather to say now, the United States.

Of course you have heard, are this of the states or not. Of course you have heard, ere this, of the revolution at To-basco, in favour of Federalism, which has induced government to declare said port closed to foreign as well as native shipping, but is rather puzzled how they will keep out the former, as they have not a single steamer that they can get ready in less than eighteen or twenty days, all the engineers being still, as I may say, loafing on shore and waiting for their pay, of which, for e months past, they have received but a mere trifle. Aug. 5.—The Water Witch not sailing yesterday, I open to say that we have no news from the American Squadron, but it is thought here that it will soon appear. It is said that the troops now on the road to Texas, amount to 10,000.
