HISTORY of THE late war. 143

re: WAR.
ter. Thes still, forwurl, closing troops. But when musket and deadmesket and sheet te British oflicers r troops to certain fell at this head of unk from the conbut universal ruHell in the utmost $s$ only could reach voted to sure desil hy Ciol. Renee, ed up the rampart; em was left alive. 'he astonishod Brisinutes, when in a second effort; but esult. They were Id, which was left shocking and pit-ommander-inchief, st int the commenceim, Gienerals Kean rounded, and (renl. with the fregments British forces, acwars of Europe. is ill fated assault ile history lasts. river things were h had erossed over inder Col. Thornton, and marched to the attack of the entrenchments. The militia of the state. with some of tho Kentuckians, under General Morgan, nfier one lire retreated, teaving the batteries in the hamds of the Britisl. The enrmy had been nlile to outtlank then, in consequence of the giving way of a battallion of louisiana militia. The loss of the Americans on hoth sidee of the river, dill not exceed 20 killed and 40 womded.

The British were now only studions of effecting their escupe. On the 1 lh, they were diseovered to :nave descended the hayou laring the night, leaving a great muber of womeded oficers mad privutes. The inhubitants were filled with joy for this providentiul deliverunce, and hailed Jackson us their deliverer. They poured forth their gratitude in public thanksgiving for 1 is signal escape from a foe who would have doomed their eity to pillage nuldestruction. The utmost tenderuss and hmmanity wern cxhibited by all the iuhabitams, to the inforthmate victions by all the iuhabitams, to de masiance of their till of war, who regnien the assistane forsire tollow creatures. Fixery homse was alhospital for the reception of the wombled, int enge bed in pouring oil on their wounds, ami in discharging all ing offices of christian charity.
In a few days afterwneds it was diseovered that the enemy hail entirely disappeared, and the state of Louisiona, then the latest star in the confederation, shone with benuteous lustio.
The British proceeded soon after to attuck

