CUMBERLAND, Md. Dec. 27.—(Can. NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(Can. The woman, it was understood today, is Dr. Katherine B. Davis, superintendent of the Bedford Reformatory for Girls, and the office that of commissioner of correction, now held by Patrick A. Woney. TWO HURT WHEN ENGINE
COLLIDES WITH FREIGHT

Disregard of Train Orders Said to Have Caused Accident at Cainsville.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 26.—An engine's disregard of train orders and his taking a chance of making the next station in time was the cause of a head-on collision between a Grand Trunk engine that was running light and a freight train at Cainsville, east of here, this morning. Engineer Smith of Brantford and a brakeman were seriously injured. The light engine had orders to wait at Cainsville to let the freight pass, but instead of waiting started out, and just east of the station the engine came head-on into the freight on the curve. Both locomotives were wrecked.
