

THE CITY AND THE SEA

She, image of her God since life began, She, but the child of Mammon, born of clods,
Her broken body spoiled and spurned of man,
But her sweet soul is God's.