

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

xi

	PAGE
Interest of survivors distinct	72
Statutory cause of action is in substitution, not cumulative	72
Scottish and American laws	73
Right to follow property wrongfully taken or converted	73
Rule limited to recovery of specific property or its value: Phillips v. Homfray	74
3. Liability for the Torts of Agents and Servants.
Command of principal does not excuse agent's wrong	75
Cases of special duty, absolute or in nature of warranty, distinguished	75
Modes of liability for wrongful acts of others	77
Command and ratification	77
Master and servant	78
Reason of master's liability	78
Who is a servant	81
Specific assumption of control	82
Temporary transfer of service	83
"Power of controlling the work" explained	85
Public offices under the Crown	85
What is in course of employment	86
(a) Execution of specific orders	86
(b) Negligence in conduct of master's business	87
Departure or deviation from master's business	88
(c) Excess or mistake in execution of authority	91
Interference with passengers by guards, &c.	91
Arrest of supposed offenders	93
Act wholly outside authority: master not liable	93
(d) Wilful trespasses, &c., for master's purposes	95
Fraud of agent or servant	96
Liability of quasi-corporate association for wrongs of servants	98
Liability of firm for fraud of a partner	99
Injuries to servants by fault of fellow-servants	100
Common law rule of master's immunity	100
Reason given in the later cases	101
Servants need not be about same kind of work	102
There must be a general common object	104
Relative rank of servants immaterial	104
Servants of sub-contractor	106
Work done under compulsion of law	106
Volunteer assistant on same footing as servant	106
Exception where master interferes in person	107
Employers' Liability Act, 1880	107
Resulting complication of the law	108
Workmen's Compensation Acts, 1897 and 1906	109