CONSERVATIVES AND PROHIBITION.

The World this morning proposes to discuss prohibition in its relation to Mr. Whitney and those who support him in the Legislature. Our good friend Brother Courtice of The Christian Guardian says that The World will do nothing to hurt Mr. Whitney in this matter. What we propose to do is to tell the truth, irrespective of whom it hurts.

Mr. Whitney is up against it just as Mr. Ross is up against it, and so are measure when in that legislature there are not half a dozen practising prohibitionists, men who do not drink on principle, who avoid asking others to drink and who place their views on abstaining from intoxicants before the convertible of th who are personal abstainers, and against them are five or six who are not; who are personal abstainers, and against them are five or six who are not; tom of the conspiracy. The keeper of and in the legislature, as we said before, there must be 90 who do not personally practise total abstinence and about half a dozen that do. How can them that he suspected Irish-Americans of being responsible for the outrage. such a legislature, with any degree of sincerity and honorable conduct, pass a prohibitory law, when the great bulk of them are only prepared to juggle with the question? And, so far as we can gather, Mr. Whitney's followers are just as willing to juggle with the question as are the Liberals. only Bamboo Easels, 64 inches The only two things we know of open to Mr. Whitney and his followers are: First, to stand up and say that they are, on principle, as we believe they 65c each, on sale Tuesday45 made, stationary rest, regular price are in opinion, opposed to prohibition as an impossibility; or, second, to stand up and say that they are prohibitionists in practice and in principle, and are willing to pass such a law if entrusted with office. They have Fancy Ribbon Ties, with tucked col- to do either one of these things or they are ready to juggle with the queslars, pure silk, neat, fancy and Ro- tion, as we have said above, just as Mr. Ross and his supporters in the man stripes, in pink, turquoise, he- house appear to be ready to juggle with the question. They would like, all liotrope, etc., in fancy box, regular of them, to dump it on the people, but would like, each and every one of

And the lesson of it all, as we wish to point out to the prohibitionists, is that they are leaning upon tottering straws, when they rely upon the pledges of politicians, who do not practise principles they profess. Altho we say it, we say it in all fairness and frankness, prohibitionists who rely on politicians are evading their own responsibilities. The great duty of prohibitionists is to make individual men abstainers, and when they do this they are doing earnest, honest Christian and humanitarian work. There the new linen shade, beautifully em- is no finer field for genuine effort than in persuading a man who drinks too much not to drink at all. But we are afraid some prohibitionists are not very earnest in this work, and that they, too, would like to evade their responsibilities and duties by putting upon the men in the legislature and upon the law the task of making their fellows abstainers. They are very much like those parents who try and shift over on the teachers of the public schools their own responsibilities for the moral training of their children. This cannot be done, and prohibitionists, if they are earnest-and many of them are earnest-must confess that there is very little hope in a prohibition law which comes by way of politicians and legislators who do not either practise or believe in their hearts in prohibition. There is a long and arduous road ahead of the prohibitionist, and it involves his personal effort day in and day out, devoted to the man who drinks and not to the man who happens to sit in the legislature. He is working on the wrong material, and is trying to work in the wholesale line, when there is no work for him but in a retail way. Of course it would be a nice thing to make all men temperate by act of parliament, but it cannot be done, any more than one can teach and secure the practice of Christianity by an act of parliament; and clergymen have found this out long ago, altho there is a constant effort made by some of them to do this very thing.

So, then, Mr. Whitney, and those of you who follow Mr. Whitney in the legislature, you must be a prohibitionist out and out or you must be an anti-prohibitionist. If you are not one or other of these, then you are simply $2.75, on sale Tuesday at1.99 clare, notwithstanding any pledges that have been given, that prohibition

Chinese Court is Now 18 Days' Tra vel From the Capital. Pekin. Dec. 15 .- It is generally believed here that the court left Kaifeng Fu to-day for Pekin. Wang Wen Shao, the successor to Li Hung Chang, as plenipotentiary, who recently traversed the road which the court will follow, says it will take 18 days to reach the railway at Cheng Ting Fu. The rest of the journey by raal to Pekin will occupy three days more. A large part of the court's immense following, consisting of officials and personal attendants, was forbidden by a recent edict to accompant the imperial family. They will come to the capital later on. The Chinese people say the procession across the Yellow River outside Kalfeng Fu, will occupy several days. Yuan Saih Kai, the new Viceroy of Chi Li, has gone to meet the court at Shente Fu. He expects that it will stop three days at Pao Ting Fu.

The edict, conferring on Sir Robert Hart the title of Junior Guardian to the Heirapparent, is a signal honor. It is the first instance of so high a rank accorded to a coreigner in the Empire. All the higher Chinese officials congratulated Sir Robert to-day. Mr. Conger, the American minister, gave a dinner in honor of Sir Robert to-night. to L! Hung Chang, as plenipotentiary, who Brotherly Blood-Letting. German intrigues against the republic. There can be no doubt that the position of affairs in Brazil is by no means satisfactory, and the time is approaching for a little brotherly blood-letting.

The particular troubles referred to can be traced to Lisbon, where they caused a considerable stir on the Bourse. The imparcial and other papers have received mail advices from Rio de Janeiro, all to the effect that some sort of conspiracy is brewing, with German backing.

The Imparcial's correspondent declares that the conspiracy was formed by financial and political aristocrats for the purpose of reviving the monarchy. He says that numerous secret societies are working for the restoration of the empire, and that the republican authorities are showing a deplorable lack of vigor. People are asking why the friends of Chaplean would publish such a letter, which only justifies the oft-repeated accusation that the once Conservative leader had gone over completely to Laurier and Tarke.
