speaking to him from the op of the well and they not hear him to many. It suggests that the reason is due to some peculiarity in the action of sound, but after inquiry from it is due altogether to the speaking tube principle. The people on top spoke into the pipe going down to the bottom of the well, whereas Sanford vas not sufficiently low to speak into he other end. The sound of their earth and bricks to where he was. Had the earth been solid the sound would not have radiated at all from the lower end of the pipe. It is an estab lished scientific fact that earth in compact form is impervious to sound. Sanford, not being able to get at the lower end to speak into it, did the next best thing and signalled his rescuers by tapping on the side of the pipe in answer to their questions.

One of the gentlemen spoken to on the subject was Mr. Stupart, director of the Observatory. His view was in accordance with that given. "As to the action of sound," he remarked, "there are interesting experiments going on the whole time in that connection. Just now a clergyman is carrying on some in England. Of course sound only travels where there is air. lished scientific fact that earth in

It is not easy for any of us to fancy ourselves in the position of Sanford, fast at the bottom of the well, with the chances of being buried by a second cavedn at any mement. How long the minutes must have seemed! But perhaps the strain was almost as great on many of the army of noble fellows who strove to rescue the victim, or who, unable to do anything to help, could only stand by and pray for the success of the efforts of others. Joshus Schford shared with King Edward the hepes and prayers of the people of this locality, and of a good part of the Dominion. Honor to the rescuers. They deserve the medal of the Humane Society.

Tested by Time.—In his justly-celebrated pills, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world one of the most unique medicines offered to the public in late years. Prepared to meet the want for a pill which could be taken without nausea, and that would purge without pain, it has met all requirements in that direction, and it is in general use not only because of these two qualities, but because it is known to possess alterative and curative powers which place it in the front rank of medicines.
