ARRIVED AT NOON

GENERALISSIMO FOCH

Gen. Ferdinand Foch, new allied generalissimo, is of Basque origin. He was born at Tarbee in 1851, but was raised at Metz. Rather than become a German after the annexation of Lorraine, Foch preferred to return to France and help to prepare France for the struggle with Germany which he believed ultimately would take place.

He entered the polytechnic school with the number 72. He left it the 45th of his class—a rank that was not considered as justifying hopes of a great future. He never dazzled by this brilliancy, but he showed that wonders could be accomplished by application.

application.

Foch began by mastering the strategy of the war of 1870 in its minutest details. Knowing the mentality of the Germans, he counted upon their repeating in future conflicts the manoeuvres that had succeeded. He also expected them to make some of their old mistakes. In his teachings at the superior war school, and his writings, he held always to the idea of an inevitable aggression by Germany.

aggression by Germany.

Given Stars in 1907.

The stars of a general were given Foch in 1907 and the command of the superior was solved. Foch in 1907 and the command of the superior war school, where he left his mark as professor. Prefer-ring a more active command he re-signed in 1912 and commanded suc-cessively the eighth and twentieth army corps, and proved that he was one of the few military writers or professors who also was an efficient handler of men in the field. professors who also was an efficient handler of men in the field.

The war found Foch at Nancy, the headquarters of the twentieth corps. His corps was attached to Gen. Castelnau's army, and he was selected to command a new army concentrating behind the centre forces marching to the Belgian frontier to meet the Germans. tler to meet the Germans.

Defeat of Von Hausen.

After the Moroccan riflemen by three furious charges had captured the chateau of Mondement, reports brought by aviators showed that in their retirement, the forces of von Buelow had left a gap between their left wing and von Hausen's right. It was by promptly profiting from this situation in massing his troops against von Hausen's exposed flank, that Foch disengaged Gen. Langle de Cary's troops on his right and contributed largely to the defeat of the German army.

For some time it has been hinted that Gen. Foch might be appointed as head of all the allied forces owing to his known ability as a tactician and his skill as a leader of men. REMAINS FOUND IN RIVER IDENTIFIED AS THOSE OF MISS DOE

The remains of the woman found north of Gunn street, near the east bank of the Thames on Good Friday morning, have been identified as Miss Ann Doe, who disappeared from her home in East London nearly two years ago. Through articles found on the body and a peculiar tooth the identification was established by relatives today. Arrangements have not yet been com- Bailey Beaver leted for the funeral.

IS GLADSOME NEWS

There will be no change in the whole-sale price of coal under the new export licenses effective Monday, and so no change is likely in the retail price.

W. A. Martin, the D., L. and W. agent, was so notified by his head office over the phone this afternoon. The operators at the mines are making a 30-cent a ton cut, but this is eaten up by a 15-cent a ton increase granted in the United States by the interstate commerce commission and interstate commerce commission and effective tomorrow night and by the 15 per cent increase in freight rates on Canadian roads. The miners are agitating for a wage increase, and it is just possible that these prices may not prevail for long. The operators are not booking orders ahead.
