BIG PRODUCTION OF IRON ORE

Manager of Victoria Company Says Resources of Vancouver Island are Very Great.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 15.—That the re-sources of Vancouver island are very great, and that one property alone, that of the Tye Copper Company, could fur-nish the material in commercial form re-quisite for building ships at Esquimaux, is the opinion of W. H. Trewartha-James, general manager of Tye Copper Company, who has supplied the board of trade with an interesting resume of the production of copper on Vancouver island, together with statistics of the copper mining and smelting industry. He says: "During the last twelve months, from Sept. 1, 1908, to August 31, 1909 the Tye Copper Company's smelter at Ladysmith, Vancouver island, has melted (in round figures) 45,000 tons of copper gold and silver ores, from which we extracted and sold to refiners: "700,000 ounces of gold. "3,000,000 pounds of copper. "25,000 ounces of silver. "It is especially interesting to note that notwithstanding a certain amount of de-pression in the mining industry, following the panic of 1907 and the slump in the price of copper in that year, the figures represent the highest production from com-plete smelter record any year since 1905.

Source of Supply
"Our smelter draws its ore supplies from Vancouver island, Queen Charlotte islands, and other islands along the coast, also from the mainland and from the Pa-cific coastal districts as far north as La-touche in Alaska, and as far south as Salina Cruz, in Mexico, so that our pro-duction of copper is not dependent upon the production of the copper mines on Vancouver island alone, though it may be freely admitted the copper smelting indus-try on this island would never have been started but for the splendid output of these Vancouver island mines. In fact, I estimate Vancouver island has produced, during the past five years, about one-half of all the copper that has come from the entire Pacific coast."

"The exact figures cannot be given as the ores from these mines have been melted at no less than three different smelters. The product has been mixed with that of other ores in the resulting copper matte and, as far as I know, the individual suppliers have not deemed it wise in their trade interests to publish exact figures."

"The entire production of copper from all sources from the Tye Company's smelter at Ladysmith, Vancouver island, since 1902 to date amounts to 22,000,000 pounds, to which must be added the total pro-duction of the other smelters to obtain a fair estimate of the gross amount of cop-per produced in what we term the Pacific coastal district. With these figures before us, we are not at all disposed to believe that the copper smelting industry of Van-couver island is in a healthy, progressive condition."

"As to the copper mines of Vancouver island, the Mount Sicker group have al-ready taken their place in the world's smelter production. In the opinion of men like Mr. Sutton, who have personally visited every point at which copper ore has been discovered, and in the opinion of the best mining men and geologists who are most competent to judge, notwithstanding a temporary de-pression which may be admitted, we have every reason to believe that the copper resources of this island are very great."

"That is my personal opinion, and I think it is only a matter of time and money, new trails and roads, the clearing of the forests and the settlement of the large uninhabited, and even unexplored, tracts of land, to open up and develop copper mines, exceeding in value anything we have yet seen."

On a Permanent Basis
"The great natural advantages and the exceptional facilities available at the Tye Company's smelter at Ladysmith, have undoubtedly combined to establish the smelting industry here on a permanent basis, and it rests with the government of the province and the community to do their share in recognizing the importance of the industry, and the great possibilities of its development, and assisting it in every way possible."

"In conclusion I have no doubt whatever that the Tye Copper Company could fur-nish the copper in commercial form re-quisite for building ships at Esqui-maux, if the industry should be started on a suitable scale, and if proper assur-ances were given to us."

DR. COOK HAIR CUT, SANDWICH, COFFEE, COCKTAIL AND SODA

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15—"Gimme a Dr. Cook haircut, cut gimme it quick." So spoke an incoming customer of a Robert street barber shop last night. Promptly the barber started. With the clippers he promptly skirted the environs of the grass crop, clipping the lawn very close all around, up the sides and parallel to the top. Except for a ridge from the rear centre to the front dome of thought showed through strong. The ridge of hair was left intact. Defiantly the barber combed it up from the sides, sloping it like the side of a glacier. From the front it rose in a stiff pompadour, firm, uncompromising and forbidding. It lent an aggressive touch to the face. That was a Dr. Cook haircut.

John Gieske, leading tonsorial artist, claims that the hair should be cut closely from the back of the neck to the front, leaving a little bunch of the untamed in front only. Others differ, and say there should be a ridge from the pole running south to a point midway between the eyes.

That indicates the homeward route, they explain. Down in the union station district they are serving a Dr. Cook sandwich. You pry the pieces of bread apart and discover that it is mostly hair fat, with a small dot of meat in the centre, sloping the side of a glacier. From the front it rose in a stiff pompadour, firm, uncompromising and forbidding. It lent an aggressive touch to the face. That was a Dr. Cook haircut.

The soda fountain are serving a Dr. Cook Sundae, a half globe of pure white cream, pink side down. It is rimmed with lavender syrup and across its snow-like surface leads a thin trail of chocolate terminating as the apex with a maraschino cherry with a red and white candy straw stuck through it. That's the pole.

And there is a North Pole cocktail, too. There is a Dr. Cook cup of coffee at the leading restaurants, too. It has an inch high collar of whipped cream and costs ten cents.
