Morvich to Have Rest.
Benjamin Block, owner of Morvich, announced after the three-year-old son of Runymede and Hymir had finished last in a field of four in the Fall High-weight Handicap, that he would retire the colt for the remainder of the current racing season. "I believe," said Mr. Block, "that if Morvich had been gifted with the power of speech he would have said to me after his winning the race in the Kentucky Derby in May that he had endured a long, hard preparation, extending over weeks, for that future, and he wanted and deserved a rest." He had said, however, after the colt's victory in the United States Hotel stakes at Saratoga last year that his racing qualities belonged to the public, and so, sensing the interest in seeing him in action, I allowed him to be kept at hard work getting ready for his two later races here and at Latonia. At no time since may have I felt that Morvich was at his best. He deserves a rest and now he is going to have it. I believe that it will do him so much good to be turned out that he will be all that the thousands who have shown their admiration and affection for him could wish."

Borg is regarded as the greatest foreign rival to American swimmers. He is listed in the International book of standards for a 1,000-yard record in 14:18.1-10, set at Christiania on Aug. 18, 1921, but he has beaten this time since, and other records, still unpassed by the authorities, have been credited to him lately.

He will probably be tried on September 19 at the next session of the supreme court in Yarmouth. The confession made by the accused to the crown prosecutor in the presence of the judge, Dr. G. W. T. Parish, was put in evidence. The prisoner was unable to stand when the charge was read to him and said nothing in answer to it.

or say that the particulars were not advertised sufficiently when on Tuesday morning next—after the concert is over and the musicians en route to Halifax—you discover by the press and the hum of delighted comment that one of the rarest treats ever accorded the people of St. John took place the night before. This sort of disappointment has been the unhappy lot of townsfolk many times and this little reminder is sent out in the best of friendly spirit. The Boston Symphony Orchestra Ensemble consists of Fifteen of the Leading Players in the big Boston Symphony. They are not former players, substitute or relief players, but active artists in the famous organization who will resume the Symphony Hall season in a fortnight. This is their first Maritime appearance and they will surely create a veritable furore. Nothing like them has been heard here before. They are "feeling" out this territory, as it were, to decide upon the advisability of yearly visits. Maestro Augusto Vannini, the director, is a big man in the musical world; all the players are star artists on their various instruments. They have a marvelous programme of symphonic works and popular classics with which to charm St. John and a whole folio of encores. The season is a bit early yet, 'tis true, but by all means hear this concert.
