IMPERIAL FEDERATION BILL.
The Canadian of Quebec, Mr. Tarr's paper, states that since the withdrawal of the Imperial Federation Bill...

It is whispered that the opposition of the Sun to Mr. Blair, as provincial premier, is more apparent than real...

Generally throughout the province the season's crop of hay has been an average one...

It is only when a comparison is made with the great states of Europe and the United States that the enormous dimensions of the British Empire can be appreciated.

BILL NYE ON BANQUETS.
THE HIBERNY OF THE HONORABLE GUEST AND THE PRESIDENT.

Bill Nye, a man who signs himself occasionally Peterson, of North Westbury Township, Mass., writes as follows:

"I have just attained the age of life with great zest, but there are a great many things of which I would like to know more, I learn with great rapidity, and now know as much useful knowledge as many men who are twice my age know."

"I want to know more about banquets, and how to appear and speak at them. We think of having 'old New York' in wish you would give me a few points, for you certainly must be authority on these things. Will you answer through the paper, so that others which may wish to know more of this matter may also have the opportunity?"

"I have shown the first qualification necessary to success, Orestes, and you desire to win. You may win in a rather a nebulous and gummy state mentally, but you know your way to go for information anyhow."

"The guest of the evening may be really discovered by his ill concealed anxiety. He smiles on all with the same bright and babbling joy that is felt by a man who carries the inferior regions in the interest of a large powder works."

"Every banquet has its presiding officer, who may or may not be gifted in that line. Some men are born banqueting, while others acquire through study. It is in the great quantities, is necessary, that will make even the guest feel comfortable while others seem to be placed at the head of the table with a grudge on their faces."
