Some of the papers could not understand why the New York, Boston and Philadel phia stock exchanges were closed yes-terday. They thought it strange that financial centres of the east should for King Edward, and did not hesitate to say so. At this convention a permanent committee was appointed to formulate a method of securing from the authorities of the Roman Catholie thurch a larger recognition than is the authorities of the Roman Catholic thurch a larger recognition than is now accorded the French Canadian communicants of New York and New England. Excepting in places where the French population is very large there has long been compilaint because the Roman Catholics of this extraction are not permitted to have priests from among their own people. There are other grievances, among which is one that the French people are now numerically strong enough to have at least another bishop. At the present time all the bishops in New England are of Irish extraction with the exception of the hishop of Burlington, Dr. Michaud. This grievance is similar to the one which the French Acadians in the maritime provinces have brought to the attention of the Holy See at Rome. The French people here are

Rome. The French people here are also of the opinion that their case will never be satisfactorily heard until it is laid before the Pope. Although the committee appointed last year has not made public its report, it is thought steps have already been taken to have the matter considered at Rome. There has been consider-able delay on the part of the committee in carrying on its work, as sub-committees had to be appointed for the several dioceses and it was neces-cary to compile an accurate array of statistics in order that the case of the petitioners should be as strong as pos-sible.
