PHILADELPHIA TAKES SECOND GAME IN THE BIG BASEBALL SERIES

Barker's Home Run Won Yesterday's Session for Connie Mack's Men -- Plank Pitched for Phillies, while Rube Marquard, New York's Flinger, was Taken Out of the Box and Crandall Substituted -- "Matty" and Coombs Today's Pitchers.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—When John Franklin Baker, third baseman of the Athletics, had touched up Eddie Collins ahead of him today, he put the Philadelphia Athletics on an even footing with the New York Giants and the two teams will now go to New York for the third game tomorrow in the series for the world's baseball honor. Score—Philadelphia, 2; New York, 1. The paid attendance was 26,236.

The big hit came in the sixth inning with two out and when the Athletics had touched up Pitcher Marquard of the National League champions, for only three hits, Baker's smash was the last in the game for the American leaguers, but it was enough.

And just as important as Baker was on the offensive was Eddie Plank, the star left hander of the house of Mack on the defensive. The veteran southpaw never pitched a better game in his long career. Only one of the Giants reached second base and that was Herzog, who made that bag on a long hit to center field, which Oldring either misjudged or lost in the sun. Plank was never in trouble and in the last six innings New York went out in order.

Marquard, on whom Manager McGraw had pinned his faith to make it two straight victories for New York, pitched a game that was almost the equal of that of Plank. He allowed the heavy hitting Philadelphia team but four hits, two in the first inning, in which the Quakers got their first run with the help of a wild pitch and two in the sixth, Collins' double and Baker's hit out of the grounds. In the eighth inning Manager McGraw changed pitchers, sending in Crandall, a right hander.

Marquard Hit Freely.
The New York left hander only once during the game showed any unsteadiness and that was in the first inning. He appeared to be nervous and for a time had trouble reading Myers' signals. It looked as though he would blow up quickly and Manager McGraw no doubt thought so, too, for he immediately sent Crandall down the side lines to warm up. But Marquard under the steady coaching of his Indian catcher, soon settled down and he had no trouble until Baker broke up the game in the sixth inning. Marquard, however, was hit harder than the score indicates. Five of the outs were long flies to Devore and one long fly went to Snodgrass. New York sent only three flies to the outfield, two of which were captured by Lord and one by Oldring.

Plank had eight strikeouts. Devore falling a victim to the crooked delivery of the Philadelphia four times, while Matquard struck out twice and Snodgrass and Murray each once. Six of the Athletics' reading, Marquard's route. They were Lord 2, Baker, Murphy and Plank 2. Marquard got four of these and Crandall two. Lord and Plank, in the closing inning.

Neither Plank nor Marquard gave a base on balls. The only misplay charged against them was Marquard's wild throw in the first inning and a man hit by a pitched ball by Plank. The Athletics went out in order in five innings.

New York's only run was put across the plate by the last half of the batting order. It came in the second inning. Herzog drove a fly to center which Oldring failed to get and the New York pulled up at second. He went to third on Fletcher's infield out and raced across the home plate when Meyers hit a single to left.

Wild Pitch Cost Run.
Philadelphia's first run came in the opening inning. Lord, the first man up, singled to right and reached second on Murray's fumble. He was sacrificed to third by Oldring and came home on Marquard's wild pitch.

The fielding honors today were the reverse of those of Saturday. The particular feature was Lord's quick catching of Snodgrass' long hit and his rifle shot throw to second which caught the feet footed center fielder by a couple of yards trying to stretch the long single into a double. In the ninth inning Collins took a nasty bouncer from the side and tossed out Murray, ending the game through the Philadelphia well through the game without a miscue while the Giants had three errors charged against them. These were made by Devore who muffed Barry's long fly; Murray's fumble of Lord's hit; and a muffed foul fly sent up by Lord and of these only Murray's figured in the run. Collins, whose error on Saturday proved so costly to Philadelphia, played a steady game today, accepting his six chances with apparent ease. He had two of the four hits of Marquard. The great pitching of both Marquard and Plank gave the fielders a few chances for sensational work.

Neither team was given much opportunity to show their speed on the bases. Neither team had a stolen base. Merkle, who was on first in the seventh inning, made a fake attempt to go down and took too much of a lead off the bag. Plank turned in instantly and by a lightning throw to Davis, caught the New York base runner under the clutching of the Indian he struck out Baker, Murphy fled to Devore.

A Joyful Crowd.
The crowd that saw the first of the world's championship games here was six hundred short of the attendance at the first game for the world's title played here with Chicago last year. It was a joyful throng, however, and cheered from the moment the teams came on the field until Collins tossed out Murray in the ninth inning. The big double deck grand stand was a solid jam of people and there was no room in the bleachers. The outfield contained several thousand persons who were kept back by a four foot fence, and on the concrete fence surrounding the park sat a solid line of fans who risked their necks to see the game. On the roofs of the houses enclosing the park other thousands paid enterprising householders fancy prices for permission to take a seat on standards built up above the roofs of the dwellings. The grand stand doors were closed long before the game began, but the bleacher gates were not shut during the progress of the game. The few spectators who chanced arrest by openly selling the comparatively few tickets that fell into their hands sold out their pastboards at good prices.

The crowd was given a chance to cheer for the home team early in the third inning. Lord striking out, Oldring fanning to Myers, and Collins flying to Devore.

Barry sent up a fly to Fletcher, Myers sent a terrific drive to Collins in the sixth inning which the second sacker held onto and Crandall, who was sent in to bat for Marquard, went out. Collins to Davis, Devore struck out for the fourth time.

Plank and Lord struck out in the eighth inning for the Americans and Oldring, the last man to come to bat, walked home team, was out. Herzog to Merkle.

New York made a desperate attempt to do something in the ninth inning. Lord, Doyle fanned to Thomas, Snodgrass struck out and Murray sent an ugly grounder that Collins snuffed and tossed to Davis.

Both teams returned to New York tonight.

The total attendance was 26,236. The total cash was $42,962, divided as follows: Players share, $23,199; each club, $7,732; National commission $4,256. The attendance was divided as follows: 1,239 at $11; 134 at $1.50; 1,074 at $2; 7,764 at $3.

CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Annual Meetings of St. Joseph's Young Men and Father Mathew Association were held last evening.

The work of re-organization in the Catholic young men of the city is being carried out this week. Last evening St. Joseph's and the F. M. A. met to choose officers and make plans for the coming year.

With a large number of members in attendance and the greatest of enthusiasm prevailing, the winter season was opened by the Y. M. S. of St. Joseph in their rooms last evening when the election of officers for the coming year took place.

The officers chosen at last evening's meeting are as follows:
Pres.—Joe Lewis.
Vice-Pres.—Geo. Cunningham.
Rec. Sec.—J. Flood.
Fin. Sec.—Ed. Moran.
The committee chosen to carry on the work of the different branches of the society's work are:
Literary and dramatic committee—W. J. Magee (chairman), J. Morrissey, J. Stanton, W. O'Leary.
Sports—P. O'Leary, J. Mooney, H. Dolan, Jack Olive.
Rooms and social committee—W. Carleton, McGuigan, W. McMan.
B. Starvoose officers and make plans for the coming year took place.

Following the election the society heard the reports of the past year in the several departments. From the reports the most encouraging information regarding the work of the year was learned. Financially, the society while not showing a large amount to its credit, can boast a satisfactory balance on hand with all outstanding debts paid. In point of membership, the year has been a success, many new members having been added to

HOW GIANTS WON PENNANT IN NATIONAL

(New York Herald.)

New York's victory in the National League race of 1911 was one of the most commendable feats accomplished since professional baseball became the great organized sport that it now is. For a team of young players to fight their way through a strife such as was waged in the senior major league makes the victory all the sweeter to them and to their followers.

While at the beginning of the season it was generally believed that the Giants had a chance, and a good chance at that, to win the pennant, even the most optimistic scarcely dared hope that they would pull through with flying colors when so many teams developed unexpected strength and made strong bids for the honors.

At one time or another in the season Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago and St. Louis were contenders for the championship as well as New York. This fact made the work of the Polo Grounders just that much harder and makes their ultimate victory that much more creditable. Had the team been composed of veterans—players who had been through the mill before the showing could not have been better. The youngsters on the team stood up admirably under the strain. It was a severe nervous tension and many more seasoned performers would have broken down. The club was evenly balanced. What substitutes were called upon to take place in the place departed themselves with credit. They showed to as great advantage as did the regulars.

A Good Road Team.
One of the most striking features of the team was its ability to play good baseball while on the road, and it was this ability which won the pennant for New York.

During the last stage of the race the Giants held the lead by a scant margin and were called upon to make their final swing around the circuit with Chicago and Pittsburg, the other two contenders remaining in the thick of the fight, playing on their own fields. That trip was the real test and although New York did not clinch the list, in all the branches of the society the results obtained were satisfactory.

The business session was followed by a discussion of the season's work and addresses by a number of the members as well as by the retiring and incoming officers.

During the coming months the society proposes to make the season enjoyable and a profitable one for the members. One of the aims of the society will be to further augment the membership, and it is possible to bring the list to the 300 mark. Under the direction of the society's new chairman, Rev. E. J. Conway, the members are actively preparing for the season, and expect to make this year a banner one in the records of the society. Weekly meetings in which business and entertainment will be combined will probably be the order, and with the addition of more members a successful year is anticipated.

The F. M. A.
The election of officers of the F. M. A. also took place last evening and the following officers were selected:
President—Fred Hazel.
Vice-Presidents—Wm. Walsh and Frank Hazel.
Recording Secretary—Sidney Barton.
Financial Secretary—Alfred Standley.
Assistant Financial Secretary—Jos. McHugh.
Corresponding Secretary—Jos. O'Brien.
Treasurer—Jas. McHugh.

The annual reports show the society in a flourishing condition and prepared to successfully carry out the plans for the winter's work.

little before returning East, it laid the masonry and other heavy foundation right in Pittsburg, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago. It won the flag while playing in Brooklyn.

When at the very beginning of the season the grand stand at the Polo Ground was raised by fire, it appeared as though a decisive blow had shattered New York's hopes. Frank Farrell, president of the local American league baseball club, generously offered his ball park to the Giants to play their home games there until the Polo Ground could be rebuilt.

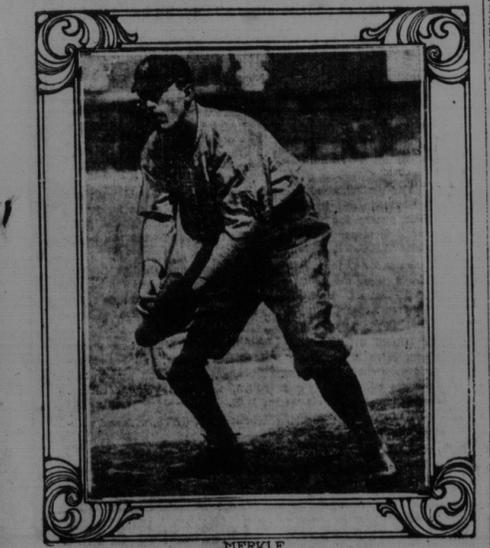

Had Poor Start.
The Giants broke from the barrier to a bad start. They lost their first two games. They could attain the speed which all knew they possessed. Their early form was discouraging. They played careless baseball, but it was only for a spell, and after the start of the season, when they were in last place, they jumped into third position and never fell any lower than that.

It was not until the first of June that the Giants jumped into the lead, and for one week it seemed as though they might hold that place successfully against the attacks of the other clubs.

The fight was too hot, and the Giants fell back a peg, and in the middle of June they were in second place. Maybe it was well that they did so. As long as they could stay within striking distance it was better that they should not labor too long under a pace setting strain. By some it is believed that their final spurt was made just that much stronger. At any rate, the spurt was well timed.

At the end of June the Giants again jumped into a short lived lead. From early in July it fell well toward the end of August they hovered between second and third places. On August 15 they forged into the lead, and there they stayed until the end.
