

Unit may review septic tanks

BRAMPTON — Two applications for septic tank permits are to be reviewed by the Peel County Health Unit, one of which is the Mississauga Health Club.

The issuance of a permit to E. Bumeister, will also be reviewed. Both applications had been turned down earlier by the health unit sanitary inspector.

Deputy-reeve Ed Blair of Chinguacousy said the application of the Mississauga Health Club was turned down because the board had been told the club was planning an extension which might be turned down by the Streetsville Planning Board.

"If the matter is going to be reviewed," said Streetsville deputy-reeve and former chairman of the planning board, "On what basis are you going to do so? If there is a chance you are going to approve it, Streetsville council will go ahead and make the land conform to the zoning bylaw."

"We were told here," said Mr. Blair, "that the present system was working to capacity."

"We heard that two adjacent properties to the Health Club," said Mississauga deputy-reeve Roy McMillan, "could be jeopardized by this proposed installation. The health club would be draining two adjacent single family properties."

Normally you have 400 lineal feet of weeping tile in for a single family dwelling. In the case of the health club, the owner planned 1,500 lineal feet of tile and a perimeter tile as well. He thought this would be sufficient."
