Imperial Hotel,

Tokyo, April 14, 1909.

Sir:

When I called at the Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China on Monday, I found that owing to the holiday, no business was being transacted. Through the kindness of Mr. J. Ritchie, I arranged to draw against my letter of credit without being obliged to return to Yokohama, by leaving with my letter of credit and letter of identification and forwarding later one of your Bills of Exchange for the amount desired. Mr. Ritchie has kindly sent me blank forms of Bills of Exchange and I have filled out one for £75. As I have not the letter of credit, and am not just sure what other particulars are required, I will be much obliged if you will fill in from my letter whatever is needed and return the letter of credit with letter of identification and your cheque for the £75 payable in yen at your agents here.

Yours truly,

The Manager,
Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China,
Yokohama.
