useful things, and will be kept close to the faith and influence of the homes that have moulded and sanctified their lives.

In making your contribution to the war services fund you may be certain that every dollar which you give for this work will assist and comfort those who fight for us, and ~~thereby~~ ^{will also} gladden the hearts of their mothers, their fathers, their wives, ~~and~~ ^{and their friends,} their children. Your response to the appeal cannot be too generous.

Much is being said today about a new world order to take the place of the old ^{world order} when the war is at an end. If that new order is not already on its way before the war is over, we may look for it in vain. A new world order cannot be worked out, at some given moment, and reduced to writing at a conference table. It is not a matter of parchments and of seal. That was a part of the mistaken belief at the end of the last war. ^{It is something} that lives and breathes: something much closer to the soul of man; something that needs to be worked out and prepared in the minds and the hearts of men. It is born, not made. It expresses itself in brotherhood, in good-will ^{and} in mutual aid. It is the application, in all human relations, of the principle of service, and of helpfulness, that ennobles the work you are being asked tonight to support.
