QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

SHETLAND PONIES WANTED.

Can you inform me who has pure-bred Shetland ponies for sale? H. C.

Ans.—Anyone having pure-bred Shetland ponies should take note of this inquiry and advertise in "The Farmers' Advocate."

WATERPROOFING BINDER CANVAS.

How can I make the binder canvas (for conveying grain) waterproof and yet be soft and pliable? I want to buy some canvas to make coverings for my horses, as I consider them more lasting and better than those one can buy. G. B. P.

Ans.—Paint the canvas with raw linseed oil, or see answer to J. H., issue of January 18th.

REGISTERING CLYDESDALES.

I have a Clydesdale mare with four imported crosses. Is she eligible for registration in the Canadian book at Ottawa? ENQUIRER.

Ans.—Yes, if the crosses are all of registered Clydesdale stallions, and you can give satisfactory evidence of the facts, which should be stated in a letter to the Registrar, Mr. F. M. Wade, Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

EXTRA TEAT.

I have a heifer calf, a week or so old, I want to raise. It has five teats. The odd one is between the other two, and will be a nuisance. Is there any way to get rid of it and not injure her as a cow? CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—The odd teat will probably not develop if you don't milk it. We think there would be very little risk in clipping it off with a pair of scissors, touching the wound with diluted carbolic acid, or a little tar.

CLOVER SEED.

What is the best kind of clover seed to sow for winter feeding to cattle? Please send me the prices of seed, and where I can send and get the best kind of seed, clear of all daisy and all other seeds. S. E. M.

Ans.—Sow a mixture of 6 to 8 lbs. red clover, and about 2 lbs. alsike seed per acre. Good clover seed can be obtained from most local dealers, or may be obtained from seedsmen advertising each year in our columns. Prices fluctuate; we cannot give any better quotations than are printed from week to week in our market reports. Write to any good seedsmen for prices and samples of his best seed, and order early by sample.

HENS LAME.

Some of my hens get lame on one leg, and go around for about a month or six weeks, and appetite seems to fail. Their droppings are of a yellowish color, but they have not diarrhoea. When they first take lameness, they are in good condition, but gradually grow weaker and die. What is the matter, and what treatment should I give? SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—I am inclined to believe that these chickens have an epidemic, and possibly are troubled with tuberculosis. I would certainly advise "Subscriber" to have one of these birds that are sick, or probably two of them, sent to the Bacteriological Laboratory here for examination, or if he cannot do this, he might be able to examine them himself. He could see whether the liver had white spots on it, or if there were any similar spots in the lungs anywhere. The only thing to be done in cases of this kind is to isolate the sick birds. I am doubtful whether or not there is any treatment that would pay. I would suggest that the dropping-boards or where the manure falls during the night be thoroughly disinfected. Probably the best way for doing it at this season of the year would be to use one pint of crude carbolic acid to one-half bushel of air-slaked lime, stirring the acid thoroughly through the lime. Use this freely on the dropping-boards. It would not pay to spray the chickens' house, as this would cause too much moisture. It might be well to give the chickens a mild physic, using salts, either in the drinking water or in the mash, using about one tablespoonful to 25 birds once a week. If given in the water, one dessertspoonful to a gallon of water.

W. R. GRAHAM.

"Worn Out" People

—Don't neglect the first symptoms. Oftentimes the irritating cough, the insipid cold, the listless and languid feeling, are due to a weak state of the system. It is a sure sign of breakdown. Nothing else will put you right so quickly and effectively as "PSYCHINE." If you feel "worn out," it is time for a tonic, a real tonic. There is only one really good tonic. It is "PSYCHINE." Keep a bottle handy—never be without it. It tones up the system and restores your old time vitality. Ask your druggist about it.
