The new (Eleventh) Edition of the ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA, the printing of which is now completed, is the last word in the art of assembling and co-ordinating the facts of science, history, art and life. The experience of all former makers of encyclopaedias has been profited by, their mistakes have been studied and avoided, their omissions have been noted and corrected.

A NEW METHOD INVENTED

To accomplish this result an entirely new method had to be invented, and something very like genius was needed to conceive and carry out that method—the kind of genius which is born of practical imagination and intelligent patience. When the necessary organization had been established and the old methods had been revolutionized, it took eight years and nearly a million and a quarter dollars to bring the Encyclopaedia Britannica to the form in which it is now offered to the public. Yet such is the perfection of the new method that the 29 volumes are practically of a uniform date—the year 1910.

BULK PROBLEM SOLVED BY THE USE OF INDIA PAPER

The volumes of the 9th edition were 2½ inches in thickness. For most persons their size militated greatly against their usefulness. The old cumbersome volumes are now to be superseded by thin, light, flexible volumes 1 inch thick, printed on opaque and strong India paper. (The new edition is also being printed for those who may prefer it, on ordinary book paper similar to that used for the Ninth Edition). In the India paper impression, the volumes of the Eleventh Edition, though containing 1,000 pages each, will be as easy to hold as a novel or a pamphlet. Bound in flexible leather covers, a volume may be doubled back, cover to cover, without injury, held in one hand, and so read in comfort. The usefulness of the Encyclopaedia Britannica will therefore be multiplied in an incalculable degree.

AN IMMEDIATE PAYMENT OF ONLY $5.00
