ROUMANIA TO MAINTAIN NEUTRALITY.

PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 14.—The Roumanian minister to Russia gave out a statement concerning the Roumanian attitude in the present war in which he says:

"Owing to the doubt regarding Roumania's attitude, I wish to say that we shall maintain our attitude of neutrality. I know for a fact of the existence of pourparlers between Russia and Hungary regarding the ceding of Transylvania withdrawal of her troops from Cracow.

"The latter would change the whole military situation and probably end the war but Hungary's attempts are not seriously regarded by Roumania for we feel sure that as long as the present Russian foreign minister is in office our STRICTURES ON CHURCHILL CONDEMNED.
