Luque held New York to four hits, and had a perfect average at bat, while Cueto hit two singles and a double. Cincinnati stopped Causey, who had won seven straight games. Score: Cincinnati . . . 000200102—5 10 2 New York . . . 000100001—2 4 2 Luque and Wingo; Causey, Steele and McCarty.

PHILLIES TAKE A PAIR
Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—Batting both Pittsburgh pitchers heavily Philadelphia secured an even break for the series yesterday by winning both games of a double-header, scores 6 to 1, and 8 to 2. Cravath and Meusel hit home runs into the left-field bleachers in the second game of the double drive coming with two men on bases. Williams and Luderus drove in all the local runs in the first game. To-day's game was played at home so that Pittsburgh could play at home with Cincinnati, a game advanced from September. Score: First Game: Pittsburgh . . . 000000001—1 6 2 Philadelphia . . . 10230000x—6 8 1 Comstock and Schmidt; Hogg and Adams.

Second Game: Pittsburgh . . . 000000110—2 8 2 Philadelphia . . . 03000050x—8 11 2 Slapnicka and Schmidt; Jacobs and Adams.

ALLIES HAVE ADVANCED TO DEPTH OF 7 MILES

With the Allies Well Out in the Plains and Pressing Rapidly Forward, the Offensive Gives Promise of Menacing the Whole German Front From the Sea to Rheims—Average Advance is From Two to Four Miles. With Deepest Penetration Seven and a Half Miles.

New York, August 8.—The Associated Press to-night issued the following summary of to-day's fighting: The historic battle ground between Amiens and Mont Didier again is the center of a mighty contest. This time the British and French are the aggressors, and under their fierce onslaughts in the first day's battle they have penetrated deeply the German positions over a front of more than 20 miles, reaching from the region of Braches to the neighborhood of Morlancourt. A Canadian division is taking part in the fighting.

From short, but intensive artillery preparations and aided by misty weather, the allied attack took the Germans completely by surprise, and they fled almost everywhere pell-mell before the tanks, motor machine gun batteries, cavalry and infantry went against them. All the objectives set for the Australians, Canadians, Englishmen and Frenchmen were attained in remarkably quick time and at last accounts on Thursday night the allied forces were still making progress. Wherever the enemy turned to give battle he was decisively defeated.

Great Captures.
Thousands of Germans were made prisoner, large numbers of guns were captured, great quantities of materials were taken and a score or more of villages and hamlets were occupied. In addition heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy. At its deepest point the penetration of the German line was about seven and one-half miles, eastward from Villers-Bretonneux to Framerville, while from two to five miles when his own forces north of Montdidier are in a rather precarious position as a result of the new offensive, it is apparent that Rupprecht will have to defer his campaign to cut off the cross-channel service.

On the Vesle front little fighting occurred on Thursday, except in the process of line-straightening operations on the north bank, where, under almost incessant rain of enemy shells, both the American and the French troops improved their stands.

The Enemy Flees.
With the British Army in France, Aug. 8.—(4.20 p.m.)—Fighting their way through the Germans at dawn on a front of over 15 miles, astride the River Somme, British and French troops this afternoon reached points from four to six miles inside lines which this morning belonged to the enemy.

The Prussians and Bavarians fled before the advancing infantry and tanks, leaving many of their guns behind them. Large numbers of prisoners have been taken, both by the British and French and heavy casualties undoubtedly have been inflicted on the enemy.

Thus far everything has been accomplished with excessively small losses to the Allies.

Casualties Light.
Of one entire British corps, for instance, two hours after the attacks began, only two officers and fifteen men of the ranks were reported as casualties.

The artillery has followed up the storm troops closely, and now is hurling shells down upon the enemy forces which, taken by surprise, and fiercely attacked, must be in a more or less crippled condition. It is believed that reinforcements are on the way to help them.

What to-morrow holds for the enemy cannot be forecast, but the outlook is not a promising one under present conditions.

Moreau, and the country front adjoining Villers-aux-Érables, have been taken by the French, while the British have captured the Dodo and the Mamme woods and Marcel Cave, after hard fighting and pushed a considerable distance beyond.

Especially hard fighting was experienced, and is still in progress, on the left flank of the fighting front in the neighborhood of Morlan-court.

Weather Helped.
The weather helped in the advance. North of the attacked zone the barrage began at 4 o'clock this morning and lasted four minutes. Tanks then rolled forward and with them the infantry swarmed toward the enemy lines. These lines were reached and passed as a mist started to roll in.

All along the line, except possibly northward on the left flank, very little enemy shelling was experienced after the movement got well under way. Nearly all the country already fought over and that now in front of the Allied force is low and rolling and especially adapted to open warfare.

The new German division, which had just arrived in the line before the attack was launched, was told to expect local attacks. Prisoners taken from this division said they had heard nothing of a general attack being contemplated.

Where the tanks and the armored car batteries pressed forward in the rolling country there was much agitation among the enemy. A report came back that a British tank, probably one of the fast little whippets, had been seen chasing a frightened German general up the road. But the enemy general was not alone in the direction in which he was going. Observers reported considerable columns of enemy transport going eastward in a hurry during the middle of the day.

Farther south the tanks likewise did excellent work. They also had been taken across the River Luce, under the cover of night, and they did valuable work in assisting at the capture of Dodo wood and Hummel wood and the near-by high ground.

Slightly north of here the British batteries moved forward so rapidly that they were up and firing in new positions 30 minutes after midnight, when the infantry went over the top, followed at first in this particular case by the tanks, 1,000 yards to the rear.

Weather Thick.
At 6 o'clock the weather was so thick that objects 20 yards away hardly were visible and the British were not slow to take the opportunity to plunge through under its protection. About 6.45 the first prisoners began coming back. They were unwounded and looked clean, as if they had just come off parade, showing how complete had been the surprise. The British pounded on them before they got the slightest chance to give battle.

The prisoners that arrived later were not so clean, and they came forward, carrying wounded on stretchers.

The British army, which had started off with a thunderous roar, by 7 o'clock had quieted down to a virtual silence. This was because the artillery had ceased firing while it was being advanced to keep up with the infantry and the tanks. It was the tanks which by 7 o'clock had rolled ponderously into Cevisey, driving out the enemy, and a few hours later, in a difficult maneuver, took the woods opposite.

Tanks Do Well.
The tanks crossed the Avre and did excellent work here, too, with the infantry. On the peninsula between the Ancre and the Somme the British captured many guns.

Reports from the south say that things are going in splendid fashion there and that the French have been equally as successful as the British. Hastily organized counter-attacks have developed here and there along the line, especially north of the Somme, but so far all are reported to have broken down under the hot fire of the Allies.

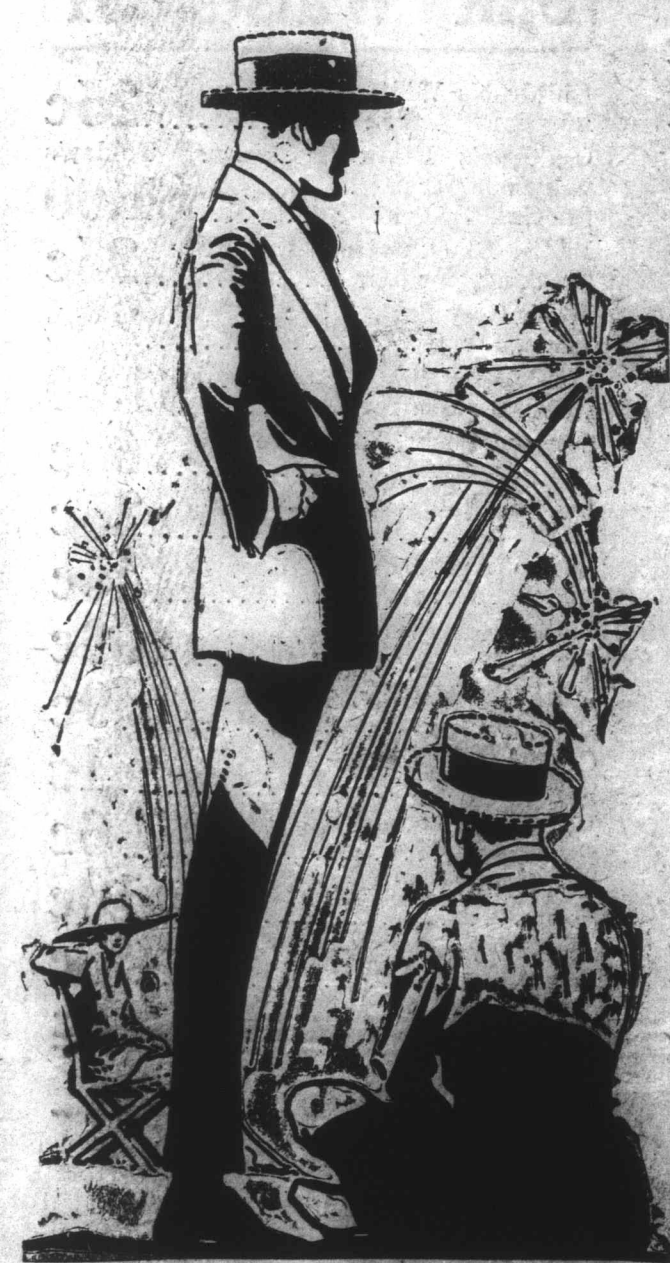

It may be taken for granted that further enemy counter-strokes will develop, either organized from the forces now in front of the Allied troops or from fresh forces that Crown Prince Rupprecht undoubtedly will try to hurry up from other sectors. Further reports of heavy fighting may, therefore, be expected.
