

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNOWL, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. YOST, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENTINA DUBERINO, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

My Gracious boy, said the uncle, you do certainly eat an awful lot for a little boy.

Well sir, replied the boy, maybe I'm not so little as I look from the outside.

REV. R. S. WILSON'S DEPARTURE REGRETTED.

The departure of Rev. R. S. Wilson from Aberdeen for Medway, Ky., is a distinct loss to our little city and this community. When this is said, no special allusion is intended to his valuable services for the past two years as pastor of the Christian Church; it is to his broader services as a citizen generally that we here allude. We do not by this reference intend to in any way minimize the value of the work rendered any denominational church by its pastor, but it is not universal that the minister occupies the larger field of civic and social life open to him. Mr. Wilson's most notable achievement has been his organization and command as Scout Master of the boy scouts; these young fellows, soon to become our leading citizens, love him, and his services to them in erecting high ideals for noble living will last through their lives. The occupying, effectively, of the broad field of the church pastor, where he may be all things to all men and thereby save some, and make good the boast of St. Paul, is a splendid achievement, most heartily accorded by this paper to this worthy man. When a Scotch laddie he many times as a sailor dropped anchor at Gulfport and other coast cities; later, as a missionary, he and his good wife penetrated the African jungle; later still, as a minister of souls, he here, too, made good. We trust that his newer and wider field of labor will afford him yet larger opportunities.

THE PROHIBITION BILL.

(House of Assembly, Halifax, N. S., March 18th, 1916.)

The Corning Prohibition Bill was the all-absorbing issue in the Assembly during the past week. It was practically the sole topic of discussion for two days and three nights. Introduced over a month ago by a Conservative member, Howard W. Corning of Yarmouth, backed by the Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance and solidly supported by the Conservative Opposition, "Bill Number Ten" has made slow progress, owing to the obstruction of government members and the untiring opposition of Halifax brewers and saloon-keepers.

Mr. Corning introduced the Bill on February 22nd, sought to have it given its second reading on the 23rd but was prevented from so doing by R. E. Finn, the Liberal Whip, and finally succeeded in getting it sent to the Committee on Law Amendments on the 24th. And there it was kept in cold storage till March 10th. During this period of 2 weeks which was utterly wasted as far as any consideration of the bill was concerned, the Opposition repeatedly asked Attorney-General Daniels, the Chairman of the Committee, when it would be reported up to the House. The answer invariably was that Mr. Finn, the pro-saloon advocate, was preparing some amendments to it which required time. The emptiness of this excuse for delay became apparent when it was finally reported up on Mar. 10 in its original state. The Finn amendments were nothing but a fiction devised for purposes of delay. When the Bill finally appeared the Liberal Whip moved "the three months hoist."

But even when the Bill was reported up on Friday, March 10th, the Government refused to allow the House to consider it without further delay. By a government vote the debate was adjourned before it commenced, and consideration of the Bill was postponed till Monday the 13th. When the House met Monday afternoon there was practically no business before it but the Prohibition Bill, but Attorney-General Daniels again moved the adjournment, obliging the Assembly to rise at 4.30 in the afternoon rather than proceed with the discourse. Then Mr. R. E. Finn, Liberal Whip, took the floor and talked in favor of the liquor traffic and licensed saloon till after midnight, whereupon the House adjourned till the afternoon on Tuesday the 14th. Brief but able speeches were made in favor of the measure by Mr. Tanner, H. W. Corning of Yarmouth, A. C. Zwicker of Lunenburg, J. S. O'Brien of Antigonish and R. H. Kennedy of Colchester. Then came 2 cases of death-bed repentance on the government side Hon. R. M. McGregor of Pictou, and J. C. Torey of Guysboro, two inveterate opponents of prohibition, bowed to the storm of popular indignation created by the anti-temperance record of the Murray government, and announced their intention of getting under cover.

The last sinner to announce a change of heart was no less a personage than Hon. G. H. Murray. But his was only a half conversion. He said he would vote against the Finn motion for "the three months hoist," but professed little faith in prohibition, which he said could not be enforced without an army of inspectors, detectives, special constables, informers and prosecuting attorneys, maintained at a ruinous cost. The outstanding feature of the debate was the masterful, logical, and clear cut deliverance of C. E. Tanner, the Conservative leader. He expressed his amazement and regret at the Government's lack of policy on such an all-important public question. He declared that he and the party he led in the House stood ready to join hands with the Government to place the Bill on the Statute Books. Mr. Tanner also announced the Conservative policy to

The vote took place at 12.15 Thursday morning, after an all-night session. Every Conservative in the House voted for the Bill. The three months hoist" was defeated by a vote of 28 to 3, for the stamped in the Government ranks became general after Premier Murray's capitulation. The vote stood as follows:

Germans Making Desperate Flanking Attack.

London, March 20.—The German attack has again shifted to the west of the Meuse. Their ranks replenished after the failure of five other night assaults on Vaux, like alternate blows on Verdun anvil, the Germans have once more turned their attention to Le Mort Homme.

This time, however, instead of attacking from the Corbeaux wood, the Generals of the Crown Prince are attempting to flank the hill. Today violent attacks, accompanied by the use of liquid fire, were delivered in the Malancourt-Avoncourt sector to the south and east instead of the north of the hill. In the Malancourt wood Paris admits a partial success, but does not detail the extent of the German gain.

"West of the Meuse," says the French War Office statement tonight, "the Germans in the course of the day, after an intense bombardment with shells of large calibre, made an attempt to enlarge their front. An attack by a fresh division, recently brought up from a point remote from the front, was directed with great violence and attended by the use of jets of liquid flame against our positions between Avoncourt and Malancourt."

That in the climax of the battle for the mastery of Verdun, and when the issue is not yet clear, the French have appealed for British aid was the inference drawn tonight from the publication of telegrams exchanged between Sir Douglas Haig and General Joffre. Although it has been known that British guns were in service at Verdun, this is the first intimation that British troops might be engaged there.

Wanted to be Sure.

A drill sergeant was drilling the recruit squad in the use of the rifle. Everything went smoothly until blank cartridges were distributed. The recruits were instructed to load their pieces and stand at the "ready," and then the sergeant gave the command "Fire at will!"

Private Perilous was puzzled. He lowered his gun.

"Which one is Will?" he asked.
