Accurate Information Respecting Affairs on that Creek.

A Surprising Amount of Work is in Progress - Many Big Steam Plants-First White Baby Born.

From Wednesday's Daily. Mr. J. M. Pickel returned yesterday

On the latter creek Mr. Pickel found a surprising amount of work under way, a continuous line of fires going for a distance up and down the creek of nearly 10 miles. The men on the creek do not know as yet what will be the result of the winter's work, but they are determined that Jack Wade is going to turn out a good output next spring if hard and continuous work will bring about results.

Among the claims now in operation is No. 5 above upper discovery, owned by Peter Schmidt. He is working a team thawer and to men.

Charley Hall, of the A. C. Co., and W. H. Smallwood have the largest plant on the creek. They are working a 25horse power boiler and are taking out big dumps. Fifteen men are employed on the claim. Charley is also interested in several other properties now in many very funny situations. Jim Post cabin Jack has been cooking things for course of development

A. Beryman has a thawer on 15 above

On 13 above lower Coleman Bros. & Schooley are working a gang of six men. They are also preparing to open up No. 14, the adjoining claim,

No. 12 above lower is owned by Penfington, Woodand & Simmons, who have a fine thawing plant and are working to men steadily,

Several lays have been let on No. 11 above lower, which claim is owned by Austin, Hefly & Co. McCourt Bros. are working one lay, Steelesmith, Mc-Donald and Doyle Bros. a second, Myers and Searle a third and La Mott

Horace Bowdere is working discovery and making good use of two thawers. He employs 15 men and rejoices in the possession of a lady cook.

Austin & Co. have two steam thawers on No. 7 above lower. They are work- then after the introduction of a numing one of the largest gangs of men em-ployed on the creek and are piling up another comedy sketch. The opening an immense amount of dirt. Natural Born Reacher.

"He's ah natul bohn reachah, sah; dat's what Mistah Germain says, and dey was his fowls. Yah! yah! yah!" Just who the natural norn reacher was, what it was that he had been reaching for, and why Germain knew all about it, were mysteries to the man whose face was under tonsorial treatment when the above remarks were made by the son of Ham who sat in one corner of the shop and discussed politics and the price paid for sawing wood, while the barber kept on shav-

By and by a part of the mystery was punctured in several places, however, and some light was thrown on the remainder.

"I bet de eatin shop doan hang out back to jail. no moah fowl birds dis yeah," continued the soliquist presently, and after another outburst of mirth at the idea called to mind, he added, "Dat fellah shoah got long arms.'

Little by little, between pauses and eating houses since the wild fowl began coming into the market this fall, has been disappearing at rather a lively rate recently, and that Mr. Germain, who has suffered in common with others from the visits of the "pusson" with the long arms, had dubbed the aforesaid pusson" a natural born reacher.

Therefore, the oracle of the barber from a to days' trip covering Fortymile shop fireside is willing to gamble large and tributaries, including a visit to sums that "eatin shops won't hang out no moah fowl birds dis yeah."

The Playhouses.

"Two Men From Fortymile," is the name of the opening piece at the Savoy this week, which because of its local color and by virtue of its laugh raising properties, is a drawing card, the house being well filled on the first and second night of the week.

At the foot of the cast of characters appears a note, added in postscript, of perspiration upon his brow, and iron which savs: "Keep your eyes on the rust upon his hands, and the evidence two men in the hotel," and everyone

Larry Bryant, as Trespian and mince pies." Mush, a Shakespearean actor, also draws upon himself much attention, lights turned an envious green color, and George Troxwell as Landlord and Frank McQuellan fainted. Brown of the hotel where all the trouble occurs, runs the house in a most original manner. The olio which follows this sketch is as always, up-todate and the source of much entertainment and amusement, containing as it does all the well known talent of the Savoy company.

Another short sketch, "The Lottery Prize," closes the evening's entertainment, and though shorter is just as amusing as the opening piece.

This week the Standard offers a very fetching program, of the comedy and vaudeville order, opening the entertainment, like the Savoy, with a short skit, comedy in one act, is short and not A. A. Benson is working a "tender- burdened with too many characters, but

The closing feature of the evening entertainment is rather more pretentious, including a longer cast of characters and being divided into three on Jack Wade on Dec. 2. This was acts. It is entitled "Mixed Pickles," no less than the birth of a little daugh- and the people in it are truly as mixed a lot (to the great amusement of the lower. That Stolen Church.

Yesterday afternoon in the territorial court the case against Louis Wise, charged with stealing the Episcopal church, or a portion of it from Chechako Hill, was dismissed, there being insufficient evidence.

The church, or that part of it which was in court yesterday is once more in the keeping of Lay Reader Reed, who, best houses in the territory. His ac- after he has finished reading the bills incidental to the church's sojourn in the city, may give some one a lay to finish joining the sundered parts and finally get the church permanently established.

Edward Little who was arraigned yesterday on a charge of extortion, plead not guilty and elected to be tried before a judge.

His trial was set for Tuesday the 18th. He said at the time of his election that he did not want a jury trial because he did not want to wait any longer than was necessary, and wanted to know if he would have to remain in jail from then till next Tuesday, or if he could be admitted to bail. He was told that it would take a very heavy bail to release him, and that his business would be attended to by a policeman, as he stated that his affairs were being ruined by his absence. He went
