Pay Premiums Promptly. Those who carry life insurance policies should be careful to see that the premiums are promptly paid. Neglect in this important matter has caused policies to be forfeited. It is best to pay premiums a few days before they are due. On the final day the policy holder may forget it or be called away, as many things can happen to cause neglect of payment.—Nashville Amer-ican.

SUMMER FIREPLACES,

How They May Be Transformed Into Things or Beauty.

The fireplace in summer is an alnost tragic feature, with its neglected rather aggrieved air, and most people are glad to induce it to hide as much as possible of its diminished head. We do not want to be reminded that all things pass and that we shall scarcely have begun to enjoy the summer ere we realize that it is nice to see a fire again, "just for the evenings."

The degree of summer disguise needed by the fireplace depends on its na-ture. The modern fireplace, with deep tiled recess, wants little but a bowl of cool greenery stood in the center. The leaded abomination, however, a more difficult customer to manage. Half measures are of no use here, and the thing must be either left in its native ugliness or means must be adopted to cover it almost entirely.

A New Idea. A wooden panel covered with tapes try of an indefinite leafy design may be planned to fit into the large square opening, and the lines of this can be broken up by pots of ferns. Once started, these groups can be kept up with a very few additional touches all through the summer.

A large Cairene brass tray is another hing which goes far toward mitigating the plainness of the summer fireplace. This can be flanked in various ways by a couple of scrolly iron stands bearing plants, supporting Jars of follage or, as is shown in the sketch, by two tall cylinder pots. These latter can be filled with trails of ivy and perlwinkle, with large fronds of fern standing up in the center, or, less trou-ble still, they can be planted with mar-guerite daisies or ivy leaf geraniums.

SAN SALVADOR.

Built on a Volcano, the Results Are Somewhat Startling. San Salvador is built on a volcane. San Salvador is built on a voicane.

It has been three times destroyed by an earthquake, but the people are becoming accustomed to such excitement now. Earthquakes are pretty frequent, and, while one is naturally nervous, there is really little danger to life. The shocks have been known to come as frequently as eighty times in an hour.

The effects are quite peculiar. In the city is a brick column, nine feet high and three feet square, which was removed a hundred feet without losing its perpendicular or cracking the mortage.

The ground under the city is full of

The ground under the city is full of caverns of unknown depth. A man was digging a well there. The last stroke he gave with his pick the bottom fell out, and he and his pick and all fell through, nobody knows where. There is a volcaue not far from San Salvador that some years ago discharged lava over a forest. The wood all caught fire, of course, but the lava, being light and easily cooled, formed and hardened into long arcades through which it was possible to walk. Even now the imprint of the trunks and branches of the trees can be seen.

TABLE NAPKINS.

They Came Into General Use in the Fifteenth Century.

Curiously enough, that article, now considered almost indispensable, the table napkin, was first used only by children and was only adopted by elder members of the family about the middle of the fifteenth century. In eti-quette books of an earlier date than this among other sage pieces of advice for children are instructions about wip ing their fingers and lips with their

It seems that the tablecloth was long enough to reach the floor and served, the grown people in place of napkins. When they did begin to use napkins they placed them first on the shoulder, then on the left arm and finally tied them about the neck. A French writer who evidently was conservative and did not welcome the napkin kindly re-

"The napkin is placed under the chin and fastened in the back, as if one were going to be shaved. A person told me that he wore his that way that he might not soil his beautiful frills."

It was a difficult matter to tie the two corners in the back, and it is said that thence originated our expression for straitened circumstances, "Hard to make both ends meet." This custom led to the habit of table waiters carry-

He is immensely popular all through the riding, and this largely accounts for his extraordinary run. His opponent was Abram McLelland, a respectable farmer and drover, but woefully inexperienced in things political.

No one expected him to win, but it was not thought Mr. Tolmie's majorlity would be so decisive. The majorities follow:

terms, preferring, he said, "the smell of healthy toil and the perfume of a good and manly life." It was customary at festivals to pass round to the guests perfumes served in alabaster boxes and vessels of gold. At one of these feasts Cynulcus, who loved to deride the youth for the use of per-fumes, was made a butt for their rid-pouring it lavishly over his head and face. When he awoke he exclaimed in an angry voice: "What is this? Oh. Hercules, will not some one come with a sponge and wipe my face, which is

DEATH OVERTAKES MINISTER.

Rev. Dr. Hutt Found Dead In His Study —Sad Circumstances.

Ingersoll, Oct. 31.—Shortly before 6 o'clock last night Rev. Dr. E. R. Hutt, o'clock last night Rev. Dr. E. R. Hutt, for the past 17 years pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was found dead seated in a chair in his study. His sudden death is unusually sad in view of the fact that at 7 o'clock he was to have performed the ceremony at the marriage of his second son, and wedding guests had already arrived.

wedding guests had already arrived.
Dr. Hutt was down town until about 4 o'clock. He had not enjoyed good health for the past couple of years, but there was no outward sign that the end was so near. Death was due to heart

The late Dr. Hutt was in his 55th year, and is survived by widow and five children, three sons and two daughters. He was one of the beat known Presbyterian ministers of western Ontario, and was a very clever

He en-closes some mealles, wheat, manna, pocloses some meaties, wheat, manna, po-tato, pea, bean, melon, tobacco and pumpkin seeds, which are sent to in-auguarate exchange either for seeds or postage stamps. Hon. Dr. Pyne will himself write to the boy, and will have the letter passed on to Inspector Hughes and on to the school children.

Conservative Call to Arms. Winnipeg. Oct. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club last night a strong resolution was passed calling for a big general convention of the Conservative party, to be held in Winnipeg as soon as possible. The feeling of the meeting was strongly in favor of holding a convention to thoroughly re-organize and prepare for the next federal election.
