Of gates of pearl and dazrling light, Of shining wings and robes of white And things all strange to mortal eight, But in the afterward of years it is a more familiar place;

A home unburt by sighs or tears,
Where waiteth many a well-known face.
With passing months it comes more near.
It grows more real day by day;
Not strange or cold, but very dear—
The giad homeland not far away.
Where none are sick, or poor or lone,
The place where we shall find our own.
And we think of all we knew.

What the Mouse Says

Now if I was a savage monster, A tiger, or even a bear, It wouldn't be so surprising But I'm such a tiny creature,

If I gave them a little scare.

Not a bit like a beast of prey;
Besides, if they only knew it,
I'm always more frightened than they.

Why are men and women so stingy? There's plenty of bread and meat And cake—yes, and cheese in the pantry-Yet they grudge me the little I eat: Last night I was nibbling a cracker— Do you think that was very wrong? But Bridget rushed in with the poker, And shrieks that were loud and long

One of the boys called "Pussy, Come Pussy!" and when he said that, I was not only grieved, but of onded, For they know I hate a cat.

So I'm going to write a letter
To that kind S. P. C. A.;
I'll ask them ifthey will protect me,
And I'll let you know what they say.

Bees in Block of Stone.

While workmen were sawing through a block of Bath stone at Exeter they cut into a cavity in which was found a cluster of two or three dozen live bees. The incident occurred at the works of Messrs. Collard & Sons, monumental sculptors. There was not much sign of life in the bees at first, but when air was admitted they gradually revived, and after a few hours several of them were able to fly.—Exeter Express last Friday, were 78 carloads, composed of 1428 catile, 169 hogs on the market, and 372 hogs sold on cars, 647 sheep and lambe and 69 calves.

The quality of fat cattle was about the same, no better and no worse, than the general run lately fair trade for the best quality of cattle, but prices were no botter, and, in fact, not so good for the common quality. The meat familie is certainly a long way off, as several loads of cattle were unsold at the close of the market.

Exporters—Only one load of exporters were cold as such. They were bought by Alex. McIntosh at $3,20 per cwt. Export bulls sold at $4 to 44.50 per cwt.

Butchers—Choloce picked lots, and loads of butchers self. $5,20 per cwt.; loads butchers self. $5,20 per cwt.; loads butchers self. $1,50 to $4,00 per cwt.

Feders and stockers—None on sale as such. Milkers and springers—About 20 milkers and springers sold at $30 to $50 each. A few common light cows, which are hard sellers, brought less money.

Veal calves—About 60 veal calves sold at $4 to $1,50; vearling ewes and wethers. For lamber was strong to day. Export sheep and lambe was strong to day. Export sheep and lambe—The market for sheep and lambe was strong to day. Export sheep sold at $1 to $1,50; vearling ewes and wethers. Hogs—Mr. Harris quoted hog prices unchanged at $5,15, fed and watered, and $4,90 to drovers at country points, f.o.b. care.

C. J. Leonard, Toronto, representing the Land Mortgages Company, was next heard. He represented companies with 96 millions of assets, of which nearly 60 millions was borrowed money. His com-plaint was in regard to the investment clauses. While it was not intended to plaint was in regard to the investment clauses. While it was not intended to shut out loan companies, this was done by clause 2, which did not cover the method of loan companies doing business. For instance, investments were confined to seven years' debentures in the bill, while none of their debentures were more than five years. This effectually shut them out. He wanted the clause amended to apply to Provincial companies, having a paid-up capital of $400,000, and a reserved fund of not less than 15 per cent. of its fixed capital.

Mr. J. J. Harpell, Toronto, representing the Policy Holders' Association, put in a statement signed by the president and other officers of the association.

Mr. J. J. Harpell, Toronto, representing the Policy Holders' Association, put in a statement signed by the president and other officers of the association. There were about 600 members in the association, the membership fee being $1. The burden of his complaint was that the bill did not proceed against the increase rates, which were already too high. The rates on the participating profit plan were 25 per cent. higher than on the non-participating plan. He was opposed to rebating, as only the large insurers got any advantage. He wanted life companies restricted to the loanings on their policies for expenses. As to rebating, he wanted the commission clause in the bill, which presumed knowledge on the part of the directors taken out. The present clause applied to the director only when he had actual knowledge.

London, Feb. 12.—Carl Ludwig Von Veltheim, German-born, but a naturalized American, who posed as a Baron and was known as Frank Kurtz and Carl Sneiderich Mauritz, was sentenced to-day to 20 years' penal servitude at the Old Bailey, having been convicted of attempting to blackmail Solly B. Joell, of London, an African financier and mine owner, out of $80,000.

Won Veitheim was arrested four months ago in Paris and extradated to England. The man has had an adventurous career. He has served in the German navy and army: was once in the Bulgarian army and has had many adventures in Australia, America and Japan. He went to Cape Town in 1897, and ten years ago shot and killed Wolfe Joell, a brother of Solly Joell, at that place. He was arrested and tried, pleaded self defence and was acquitted. Some years afterward a body recovered from the Thames was identified as Von Veitheim's by his wife, but later the adventurer was discovered serving in the Bechuanaland police.

Game and Fishery Inspector Kerr

made a catch yesterday afternoon on the west end of the bay, when he landed a fish pedlar who had eight beautiful black bass in his possession, all of which had been speared. J. Garber, 187 John Kerr said that wherever there was anything illegal going on in the fishing world Garber was always there, but he had been unable to catch him until yesterday. He had a bag and a basket in his possession, and in reply to the Inspector said he had one little bass in his bag, and he brought one out. Kerr was not to be fooled that easily, so he grabbed the bag and dumped it and then picked out the black bass, of which there were eight, besides the little one produced, which was found to be undersized, when it was measured. Garber, he said, then tried to make out he caught the fish with a hook and line, but the spear marks were in every one of them. When the Inspector took charge of the fish, seizing them in the King's name, as usual, Garber, so the Inspector claimed, shouted that if he touched the bass he would blow his Inspector claimed, shouted that if he touched the bass he would blow his brains out. The Inspector had a witness named Morrison, who heard the threat. Garber pleaded guilty in the Police Court this morning to having the fish in his possession, but he denied that he threatened the Inspector. The Magistrate chose to believe the officer, he said, and he fined Garber $810 for the fish offence and warned him against threatening a King's officer. Garber, he pointed out, was getting off lightly, as the statutes provide for a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $50 for each fish, so that he was liable to at least $40 and as high as $400. Defendants in this kind of a case are compellable witnesses, and can be made to tell where they got the fish. Garber said he did not know the name of the man who sold them to him. The Inspector said Garber was on the bay last night, putting all the spearers "wise" to the fact that the Inspector was out for black bass supercered.
