SANG HYMNS IN MINE

"Lead Kindly Light" and "Crown Him Lord of All."
London, Feb. 17.—Rescue parties have succeeded in penetrating to all but the lowest of the coal seams in the West Stanley mine, near Durham, where the disastrous explosion took place yesterday, imprisoning about 150 miners.
The exact number of victims is not known. The estimates vary from 100 to 150. One rough miner who was rescued when asked how he had passed the sixteen hours he was buried in total darkness, said with unemotional simplicity: "We sang a great deal."
Asked what they sang, he answered with shy reserve:
"Five or six hymns. I don't remember them all. 'Lead, Kindly Light.' We sang that a good many times. We did not know it all, but Robert Henderson did. He is a bit of a preacher. I think it was all we could do. It helped to keep our spirits up. Another hymn was 'Crown Him Lord of All.'"

MARCH ST. NICHOLAS.

In short stories the March St. Nicholas, which is now out, has two that ought to captivate young girls. The opening story of the number is by Marian Warner Wildman, "The Sled That Ran Away." Of course it didn't really run away, for a sled couldn't do that, but "Margie" hitched behind, tied her sled at that, and couldn't untie it. "The Coral Necklace," by Grace E. Craig, is of a young girl who goes to Venice and almost buys a coral necklace. Ralph Henry Barbour's serial, "Captain Clark," continues, and draws three college boys as they exist in actual fact. "The Lass of the Silver Sword," Mary Constance Dubois' continued story of a group of school girls, presents a delightful view of an Adirondack girl's camp, while Bradley Gilman's Egyptian adventure story, "A Son of the Desert," presents in this installment some stirring scenes of a camp of Egyptian bandits who hold "Ted," the hero, in captivity. Charming verse, a great number of illustrations, and the regular departments complete the issue.

Remarkable Offerings.

The great spring shirt sale at Treble's two stores has brought forward some of the most remarkable offerings ever made in Hamilton.
These $1.25 shirts selling at 60c are causing unbounded interest and we would advise you to get these great values to-morrow, as there are only seven days left of this unparalleled event.
An Imperial Token.
While a German resident was driving an English friend from Frankfurt to Hamburg, a motor car passed at a terrific pace, raising a cloud of dust. "Ah," said the German, "there goes our Emperor." "How do you know?" inquired the Englishman. "Do you suppose anybody else could raise a dust like that?" was the reply.—Chicago News.

Boy Killed While Coasting—Six University Men Hurt.

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Mathew Dwyer, thirteen years of age, died today from injuries received in a coasting accident last night. The lad was unable to steer on the glassy surface of a steep hill and his sled struck a tree. His arm was broken, chest crushed and he received internal injuries.
A despatch from Hornell, N. Y., says: "As the result of a coasting accident at Alfred last night six professors and students in Alfred University were injured. Professor G. Clark is in a hospital in a critical condition. The men took a bobbed out on a hill and were riding down on the snow crust. At the foot of the hill Professor Clark lost control of the sled and it plunged into a river, throwing the men against the stone abutments of a bridge."
The number of persons burned to death in the United States each year by the parlor match is between eight and nine hundred, and the property loss more than $2,000,000. The parlor match is the common variety, which can be ignited upon any hard surface, as distinguished from the "safety" match which cannot ordinarily be ignited except upon the box in which it is sold. The original "inferior" match, which when ignited gives off the choking fumes of sulphur, is still used extensively, and is a safer match where handled carelessly than the larger-headed parlor type.
"Certain effort has been expended upon the parlor match to lessen its fire hazard. In some varieties the stick is chemically treated, so that a live coal will not remain when the flame is extinguished. In others, called 'hot-eye' matches, only a small white point of phosphorus on the head can be ignited by friction. These improvements are good as far as they go, but vast quantities of the most hazardous type are found everywhere in the United States, Denmark and Switzerland prohibit their use, and other continental countries impose restrictions. It is in America only where cheap wooden buildings abound, and where, therefore, restrictions are most vitally needed, that the parlor match is free to slay and burn."

A Race For Millions.

The big moving picture company promises a particularly strong programme next Saturday, including one of Edison's latest films, entitled "A Race for Millions," introducing a realistic race between automobile and train, and many other sensational and dramatic scenes in the life of a miner and his home. The miner's daughter is wooed by a gambler, but he is rejected. A stranger takes her part and is wounded in a fight. The father discovers a mine, and the gambler tries to reach the government office first to record the claim, and a race between autos, horses and the train ensues, with a most sensational finish. Amongst the comic subjects will be The Mother-in-Law's Visit and Fun in a Photograph Gallery.

WESTMINSTER MEN.

The Men's Club of Westminster Church held its regular meeting last night, and two hours of fun and social entertainment were enjoyed. Games were indulged in, and Rev. Mr. Van Wyeck, the pastor, read selections from "Thoreau Walden." At the next meeting an address will be given on the power and cause of earthquakes.

ABOUT MATCHES.

Americans Careless Lot, Think Fire Insurance Man.
In Europe One Finds Matches Only in Their Places.

The National Fire Protection Association is responsible for the sentiment expressed and statistics of the following: The 80,000,000 people in America use as many matches as the 800,000,000 in the rest of the world. This is a startling commentary upon the American nation, and supports the contention that we are the most wasteful and extravagant people in the world.
"If one is in need of a match anywhere in continental Europe he must seek it in its proper place. Matches are not wasted in the Old World. Centuries of training in thrift and economy make the continental conscious of the fact that matches cost money. Where does one find them in America? They are in almost every room, in almost every building, public and private. The American breathes impressions if he cannot at any moment of the day or night reach out his hand and find a match. They repose in the pockets or linings of every old coat and waistcoat; they are scattered about desk and bureau drawers; they are found in every accumulation of rubbish wherever it may be; they are so carelessly and recklessly thrown about that rats and mice have adopted them as a standard article for nest building, certain always of an available supply.
"Unfortunately the burden of this extravagance is not confined to the cost of the matches themselves. This little article, unknown until 1832, while perhaps the most important fact in our civilization, has been doing its best ever since its creation to destroy the world it was designed to serve. The assistance given it as an instrument of destruction by the carelessness of the American people is a matter of amazement to continental countries. The average per capita property loss by fire in Central, Western and Southern Europe is 32 cents; in the United States the average is $3.02. The reason for this astonishing difference is obvious: the moment conditions are scrutinized. While this is being written a continual shower of perfectly extinguished matches is falling into waste baskets, rubbish heaps, upon the rugs of clubs, hotels, dwellings and offices, thrown by careless smokers. Men reputed to be good fathers have been known to light them in the hallway of their homes, throw the match in the general direction of an enspirator and go out; to return in half an hour to see firemen rescuing their sleeping children from second-story windows.
"In Massachusetts, in 1907, there were 4,796 fires, 1,239 of which, entailing a loss of $658,346, were caused by matches.
"The fire marshal of Wisconsin says that during a period of 60 days, 25 fires in his State, involving a property loss of $106,327, were traceable directly to the parlor match. In Ohio, another of the few States giving attention to needless fire waste, the fire marshal declares that match fires constitute a continuous performance at a cost of $500,000 a year. In one year of 446 fires from matches in this State, 122 were caused by children; 298 by the carelessness of adults, and 26 by rats and mice—also through carelessness of adults.
"Thirty-six women and children were hurried to death in Ohio through having lit their clothing fired by matches. Of these who suffered deaths in this, its most horrible form, 30 were children playing with matches left carelessly within their reach, and six were women whose clothing took fire from flying matches. Among these are not included five mothers who were themselves burned to death while trying to save the lives of their burning children.
"The number of persons burned to death in the United States each year by the parlor match is between eight and nine hundred, and the property loss more than $2,000,000. The parlor match is the common variety, which can be ignited upon any hard surface, as distinguished from the "safety" match which cannot ordinarily be ignited except upon the box in which it is sold. Hammond, Toronto, formerly cashier of the Bank of Hamilton, disposing of an estate of $1,205,944.91, was yesterday filed for probate in the Surrogate Court by the executor, the National Trust Company.
