Some Vital Statistics.

We have been furnished with a statement by a correspondent of the number of interments at one of the city cemeteries from August 3rd to September 12th, which he characterizes as alarming in view of the fact that no contagious disease was epidemic during that period. In all there were 46 interments. The greater number of these were the burials of infants whose ages average about six months. This class constitutes 23 of the total. In support of his statement he furnishes the ages. The ages of the latter are as follows: 3 weeks, 3 months, 5 days, 10 months, 7 months, 2 months, 2 weeks, 6 months, 9 months, 9 months, 7 months, 8 months, 6 weeks, 4 months, 4 months, 6 months, 12 months, 2 months, premature birth, 3 months. The ages of the other class in years are respectively, 57, 25, 26, 62, 19½, 73, 17, 29, 8½, 24, 62, 69, 11, 65, 19.

The period taken covers six weeks of the summer months, when one would expect the death rate would be lower than at most periods of the year, of the same duration. As our correspondent is familiar with these matters, and as he characterizes the statistics as alarming, we presume they are abnormal as compared with the same period of other years. Whether this is so or not, they show a much greater death rate than that which would prevail under normal conditions.

It would, however, help our readers to realize the extent of the abnormality, if our correspondent could furnish us with the figures of interments between these dates for the past few years.

He considers it a matter to which the attention of the Public and the Public Health Officer should be directed.

Fell in Hold.

While putting on the hatches of the barque, which is discharging molasses at Stab's premises, on Tuesday evening, a laborer named M. Downey suffered severe injuries by slipping and falling head first into the hold. His head was laid open, his hip split and his face badly cut and he was senseless for some time. The man was later taken to Dr. Stafford's surgery.

A LADY LECTURER

Feeds Nerves and Brain Scientifically.

A lady lecturer writes from Philadelphia concerning the use of right food and how she is enabled to withstand the strain and wear and tear of her arduous occupation. She says: "Through improper food, imperfectly digested, my health was completely wrecked, and I attributed my recovery entirely to the regular use of Grape-Nuts food. It has, I assure you, proved an inestimable boon to me."

"Almost immediately after beginning the use of Grape-Nuts I found a gratifying change in my condition. The terrible weakness that formerly prostrated me after a few hours of work, was perceptibly lessened and is now only a memory—it never returns."

"Ten days after beginning on Grape-Nuts I experienced a wonderful increase in mental vigor and physical energy, and continued use has entirely freed me from the miserable insomnia and nervousness from which I used to suffer so much."

"I find Grape-Nuts very palatable and would not be without the crisp, delicious food for even a day on any consideration. Indeed, I always carry it with me on my lecture tours."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A Planter and His Fish

A fisherman who came here by the Portia is responsible for the following story. A planter upon the coast had about 700 qts. of fish which was cured in the finest manner, and that upwards of 400 qts. of it was spring fish, every one of them "pictures." An agent for a U. S. Company after inspecting the bulk in the man's store, offered the man $6.00 per qt. of fish, truly a tempting quotation, but the owner being inclined to do the square thing wired his dealer here telling of the offer he had and asking what was the best the St. John's house could do. He was told to send on his catch and that he would receive as good a price as the foreign agent could give, and accordingly he shipped the goods here. The fish arrived in due course in the owner's vessel, was weighed out with a staff of cutters employed on it, the man received the receipts for it with the startling outcome that it averaged after the cull, $3.91 per quintal, and the owner stands to lose in round figures something like $1,500. Report, our informant says, has it that the owner of the fish will bring the matter into the courts.

Fish Agents Are Everywhere

As we stated in a previous issue, it certainly looks at the present writing, as if not a cod's tail will be shipped to his port during the fall on that part of the coast extending from Burin to Bonne Bay. We learn by the Portia that in almost every settlement from St. Mary's to Bonne Bay there is an American agent eager to buy fish and ready to pay good prices for it. The Jordan Pew Coy. of Gloucester, have their agent busy purchasing green and dry cod, the Robinson Export Coy. will take what they can get, and he last invulnerable, Mr. Walsh of Halifax arrived on the coast as agent of Cunningham of Gloucester, and this man will take all the cod he can get during the next three months.

Felt His Loss Keenly.

The effects of the poor fellow, Matt Coady, who was lost at Fort Harrison, Hudson Bay, last September, came to hand yesterday and are now at Mr. Baker's store to be forwarded to his home. His brother, Mr. John Coady, who is an assistant in Mr. Thomas Coady's saloon, Water Street, and went west at St. Jacques, to break the news to the father of the deceased who is mail carrier at the Portia. The kind-hearted priest felt unequal to the task and later Rev. A. McNamara finally told the tale at Burin of his son's death. The poor man was lumb with grief when he heard of his son's loss. When the lost in which poor Coady was swept ashore it was found that he and his comrade, a Frenchman, were gone. There were Eskimos with them, and natives on chopping through the hull which was bogged up on the beach, found the bodies of two Eskimos inside. Mr. Mallet brought photos of the stranded boat with him and gave them to the dead man's brother, Mr. John Coady.

Narrow Escape.

At noon to-day a horse owned by a teamster named Westcott of Windsor Lake took fright opposite Milley's and went west at a tremendous speed. Opposite the Anglo office truckman Pat Walsh was driving down Water Street and before he could haul out of the way the mad-dened beast was upon him. Walsh who was sitting on his long cart barely had time to throw his legs in over the cart when the bar over which they hung was carried away by the runaway's wheels colliding with it. Cart, horse and man were overturned into the street. Walsh's escape from broken legs if not death, was a narrow one. His hand and face was cut but not seriously. The runaway in colliding with Walsh's fitout left the whole thing behind and was stopped at the foot of Beck's Cove.

From Labrador.

Trinity, To-day.—The schooners M. P. Cahin, Bareclom, Bright Water and Lena P. arrived from Labrador with 400, 500, 400 and 700 qts., respectively.

Nipper's Harbor reports that the barque, R. J. Owens arrived there after a run of 23 days from Cadiz with salt to A. Goodridge & Sons.

Messrs. Shea & Co. had a message, this morning, saying that the Carthaginian was 60 miles west of Malin head at 9 a.m.

In olden times our father's toiled from hazy morn to dusky night. It was the only way they knew, to pay their bills and TIM SHANNAHAN walk aright. But now we scoff at such a game, 'tis ON GRAB-ALLS nukes too slow, that day is o'er. A shorter cut is now in sight. Go grab up land on Labrador. TIM SHANNAHAN.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP, 1912.

The Qualifying Examination for this Scholarship will be held in the Colonial Building, on Tuesday, October 17th, and Wednesday, October 18th, next.

Candidates for Examination are requested to have their applications lodged with the undersigned not later than Saturday, the 14th of October. The accompanying extract from a letter received from Dr. Parkin of the Rhodes Trust is published for the information of intending candidates.

"By a recent decree of Oxford University it is now possible for a candidate who may have passed the Rhodes Qualifying Examination in Latin and Mathematics, but not in Greek, to remove the Greek "condition" by passing in that language at some subsequent Rhodes Qualifying Examination. For example, a candidate who may have passed in Latin and Mathematics in October, 1909, may offer himself at the Examination of October 1910 for Examination in Greek only; and, if he pass, will not be required to pass in Responsions Greek at Oxford."

SAYS IT IS NOT TRUE.

We are informed that the item which appeared on Monday about a Massachusetts tanner misconducting himself is untrue. The tanner who says the item refers to him avers he did not misconduct himself, he was not turned out of the boarding house, and was not dismissed from the tannery. We are also told he knows who has been putting out such lies about him, and that he has instructed Lawyer Squires to get after him.

WRECKED CREW.

The Solway brought up a wrecked crew that had been transferred from the S. S. Stella Maria. They were landed at Twillingate and belonged to Merdon's Harbor. They lost their vessel at Ring Bolt Tickle; she struck on a reef and had the bottom knocked out.
