GOLD FOR BALLAST!

Remarkable Discovery of the Precious Metal in Northern Ontario.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Stanley Pentland, mining expert, has returned from Northern Ontario, where he has spent some weeks, looking into the resources of the country. Mr. Pentland states that a remarkably valuable discovery has been made at Bruce Mines, Ont., where 20 or 40 years ago copper mining operations were actively in progress.

When the price of copper fell the mines were abandoned, the machinery fell to pieces, and thousands of tons of ore were left uncrushed. The men who carried on these operations knew nothing of modern processes of gold mining and looked only for copper. It now appears that in the immense heaps of refuse they left behind there is enough gold to pay for its washing.

The property is in the hands of the C. P. R., who, since this discovery, will not part with it at any price. Miles and miles of roadbed are ballasted with this valuable refuse, and for years the trains have been literally running upon a bed of gold.

DEATH OF MISS RIDOUT.

The death of Mrs. Louisa Ridout occurred on Sunday at "Woodlands," the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Wm. J. G. Pennington. Deceased was born in Westminster, April 19, 1825, and came to London, then only a village of a few houses, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawless, when she was 4 years old. She was first taught at a small school here, and then went to Montreal to complete her education. She was married in 1845 to the late Lionel Ridout, by whom she had four children, one son, George Lionel, now living in Sherbrooke, and three daughters, one of whom died when an infant, the others being Mrs. Theophilus S. Wells, and Mrs. Wm. J. G. Pennington.

THE JUSTICE MILL.

The police magistrate's court at the police station was of short duration this morning. The only case of interest was that of Mrs. Sarah Left vs. Rabbi Gordon. She charged the latter with abusive and insulting language. Mr. Ed Meredith appeared for the rabbi, and pleaded not guilty. He said his client, as a Christian man, was incapable of such conduct. It was against his cloth, and gave the allegation a final denial. Mr. McKillop said that if he promised to live a more Christian life in the future, he would advise the plaintiff to take this into consideration and withdraw the charge, which was done.

Angus McGinnis was summoned to appear for allowing his cow to run large. He failed to appear, and when Crier Patrick Wallace shouted out his name, and the case was laid over. Wm. Jenkins, of this city, formerly of St. Thomas, was charged with freely of the festive bowl on Saturday, and was locked up as a result. This being his first time, he was allowed to go on his own recognizance. The Moriarity, a drunk, was discharged by order of the P. M. yesterday.

HIGH PRESSURE.

A correspondent sends a rather well-founded complaint to the Toronto Globe against the times in which examinations connected with collegiate institutions have this year been held. He says:

"Whatever position in the collegiate any pupil is seeking, he goes direct from exhausting study in the public school or class in which he has been working for the year, and after cramming through two of the most trying months in his life, the examinations come for promotion. This year those seeking to obtain third-class certificates were kept at work until July 13; those seeking second-class certificates were kept at work until July 17, whilst those who hoped to matriculate were kept until July 21. In all the heat of the summer we have had during this month, boys and girls who have been grinding away all winter, and doubly grinding during May and June, just when they need the most rest and recreation a holiday in the country would afford, are given such examinations in the heated rooms of a city. This would be sufficient, under any circumstances, to try the physical condition of the very strongest, and it does seem to me this year's examinations have been a test of the survival of the fittest (physically, anyway) with a vengeance."

A Lively Meeting at the City Hall.

The Mayor, Sir John Carling and Dr. Campbell Speak For.

And Ald. Pritchard and Wm. Scarrow Against the Bylaw.

Mr. Bartram Also Speaks—Some Questions Asked and Replied To.

The meeting at the City Hall Saturday for the purpose of discussing the sewerage question was the liveliest of the series, because spirited opposition was developed for the first time. The debate was quite warm. Had not the mayor and the chairman of the Board of Health shown perfect control of themselves, the occasion might have been still warmer.

At eight o'clock, when the meeting was to have been called, very few were present, and it was not for nearly half an hour that a sufficient number had gathered to warrant the opening of the meeting.

THE MAYOR SPEAKS.

On the platform were Sir John Carling, who came from Ottawa expressly to address the electors on this question; the mayor, Dr. Campbell, Ald. Powell and Armstrong, and Mr. Murray Anderson. The mayor took the chair, and made the first speech. He dealt with the matter, as on previous occasions. The step was not an optional one, as the judgments of the courts were imperative that sewage should not be emptied into the river. Many of the citizens were suffering at present from improper sewerage. This was especially the case in parts of wards four, five and six. He called on Dr. Campbell to explain the proposed plan.

DR. CAMPBELL.

The doctor then clearly and carefully described the scheme, as he had done at the previous meetings. He pointed out that the courts twelve or thirteen years ago decided that the city should not empty sewage into the river. It was only after urgent communications from the Provincial Board of Health that the present action was taken. People might wish to ask, so they might all be answered at the same time, and Mr. Bartram arose.

SOME CONTROVERSY.

Ex-Ald. Robert Pritchard asked why the courts had not prevented St. Marys, Stratford and other places from emptying sewage into the river? He thought the plan well conceived, but did not understand it.

Dr. Campbell asked for other questions the ratifiers might wish to ask, so they might all be answered at the same time, and Mr. Bartram arose.

Mr. Bartram said the preliminary argument of both the mayor and Dr. Campbell that the courts compelled the city not to put sewage into the river was untrue. The suit against the city had been commenced by London with the end in view of forcing the city to remove the waterworks dam. He had had the pleasure of drawing up the indictment, which said that sewage should not be put in the stagnant pond formed by the waterworks dam. The way to remove the dam was to put a pipe in the dam or remove it altogether. He had refused to be a witness against the city.

city when the indictment was being tried, because he knew from personal experience, as he lived by the river, that the emptying of the sewage into the river was not a nuisance.

The mayor said he would not have replied had not Mr. Bartram said, "The mayor's statement is untrue." He should not have said that. It was not customary for gentlemen to make such statements.

Mr. Bartram protested that he said the mayor was wrongly informed, and that the mayor should not have accused him of being ungentlemanly. The Mayor—You said the mayor's statement was untrue. I did not see the indictment. I knew that London West had concocted some schemes to worry the city, but I take the word of the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health. I can vouch for the statement that the courts decided that sewage should not be put into the river. In answer to Mr. Pritchard: The interfering sewers will reach all parts of the city.

Ald. Pritchard—Did you or did you not tell me about a month ago that it would be all right to carry the trunk sewer a mile or so farther down the river and empty the sewage into the river there?

The Mayor—Certainly not. I told you that the Provincial Board of Health would give the city permission to empty the sewage into the river during the construction of the system only, but I did say that I did not believe the river to be much contaminated by the sewage.

Ald. Pritchard—I most emphatically state that you did tell me. The Mayor—There must be some misunderstanding. I do not think Ald. Pritchard would make any statement he did not believe to be true, but I positively state that I made no such statement.

Dr. Campbell rose to answer ex-Ald. Robert Pritchard, but that gentleman had decamped. The doctor then said that no action had been brought against the places mentioned, or, as the law is general, they would have been decided against.

Wm. Scarrow—I understand that many ratifiers are under the impression that storm water would be provided for, whereas it would not. The mayor explained that the cellars would be drained, but that the large flood of surface water in the spring could not be provided for.

Mr. Scarrow—it is not correct to attempt to delude the people. The Mayor—I will not sit here and permit you or any other gentleman to state we are attempting to deceive the people. It has been explained thoroughly that the cellars in the depth of eleven feet would be drained.

Dr. Campbell corroborated the mayor. Ample accommodation had been provided for the surface water, but not for the large flood of storm water coming down Carling's Creek.

SIR JOHN CARLING.

The mayor then introduced Sir John Carling. Sir John said that all large cities secured a good sewage system, Ottawa having spent between $300,000 and $400,000. London had only to keep on making improvements as they had been doing to make the city the most attractive in the Dominion for people to reside in. He then spoke of the most prominent recent improvements—the electric railway, the asphalt pavement, the securing of the G. T. R. car shops, "Which," said he, "I am glad to say, are to be built immediately."

The Mayor—Tenders will be here next Saturday. Sir John spoke of the difficulty of getting good drainage when the Asylum was established. It was the first thing to be considered in erecting great institutions here. He said the mayor and chairman of the Board of Health deserved great credit. London was a healthy city, but how long would it remain so, as it grew, if it had inefficient sewage? Money was cheap at the present time. The carrying out of the scheme would give employment to a great many people in the west.
