INSTRUCTIVE LECTURE

Given in Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church. An interesting and instructive lecture was given in Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church last evening, when Rev. Mr. Barraclough, of Sarnia, spoke on the subject of "Siwashes of British Columbia." Mr. Barraclough stated that the Siwash Indians were the most interesting of all the aborigines of America. They evidently were descendants of Asia. He explained that the Indian: of British Columbia were divided into even distinct nations, each with its own distinct language and customs. He described the manners and cruelties of the different races, together with their custom of erecting totem poles and their particularly weird dances. conclusion, the speaker dealt with the work of the Methodist missionaries amongst the Indians of that section. The lecture was much appreciated by the large audience in attendance. This evening Mr. Barraclough will lecture in Centennial Methodist Church on James Lockridge's Legs Were 'Life Among the Miners in the Klon-

Hugh Winslow, driver of a delivery wagon, who happened along at about the time the row occurred at a stable in a lane running between King and Dundas strets, near Ridout street, gave testimony for the plaintiff. Erenstein declared that he fought in selfdefence, and contended that Saddy was the aggressor. At any rate, both were badly marked about the face and head, and the story of the plaintiff appeared most plausible to the court. Erenstein was allowed bail, but will be sentenced in one week. Stanley Hallum, who was accused of stealing a trunk and its contents, valued at $25, from Wm. Miller, elected summary trial on Monday next, and was allowed out on bail until that James Franklin Kindrie, an Indian by a boy of about six years. She at first stated that he was their son, but upon being questioned by the magistrate, stated that the lad was an adopted child. The authorities believe that the little oy was merely "borrowed" for the purpose of creating sympathy. Davis, when ordered to stand up for sentence, shed a few tears and asked for leniency not for himself but for the sake of his "wife and little baby."

GREY TUXEDOS WILL BE WORN

Way Devised To Tell Your Friends From the Head Waiter.

New York, Feb. 14. — After an all-day session of the National Associaof Merchant Tailors of America, at the Hotel Astor, the 400 members present reached the following conclu-

"That the spring fashions shall represent long lines and striped materials. (This piece of news is intended that her passage to this country was for the fat men especially).

"The lines will follow the natural figure, no padding, no hip pegs, no double collars, and narrow, long revers for stout men.

That men are slaves to fashion, as much as women. "That the new Tuxedos shall be gray instead of black, to enable cre to distinguish one's friends from the head waiter. 'That American men hate high silk hats and only wear them under cover of a c. Pitage at nightfall. That Anterican men would prefer knee breeches and English court costumes to the traditional dress suit, but they haven't the figure of the European court dandy or the army and navy men to enable them to wear it. (Too many Americans are bowlegged.) "That it takes 46 varieties of garments to make a man. 'That the New York man is the best-dressed man in the country. "That the American man will wear European clothes in Europe, but is ashamed to do so on Fifth avenue." "Yes, padding is no longer desirable in man's clothing," said Clarence A. McCarthy, of Chicago, president of the association. "It is out of date. The new lines for men will follow the hobble gown effect for women. Comfortable, of course, but perfectly natural.

"White vests for evening dress are tabooed, black velvet vests with handsome jewelled buttons are the thing. "Jet buttons will take the place of cloth buttons on evening dress suits. "The coat worn with a business suit will be almost two inches shorter this season. The prevailing colors will be brown, grey and blue."

The convention will close Thursday
