Nobody Loves a Fat Man, Thus Explaining Why So Many of Them Learn to Play Rugby

ST. THOMAS SCRIBES SAY CIGARETTES WERE GENUINE NEEDS

However, the Memory of Them Still Lingers in Advertiser Sporting Department and Under No Consideration Will the Hats be Accepted.

(BY BERT PERRY.)
Clever Clarence and J. Edgar Tongue, who suffered from the St. Thomas Journal, have become quite famous by a criticism of some St. Thomas cigars (?) which appeared in these columns: very much amused, indeed. The said cigars were wished on us by Clever Clarence, who, in the summer months, makes reckless wagers on the St. Thomas Journal, a lot of gents whom somebody labelled fat players by mistake. Not being addicted to the smoking habit, ourselves, we magnanimously passed the smokes along to the members of the staff. Since then, our popularity has received a terrific kick on the shelves and we are about as highly regarded now as a wolf in a sheep pen. Fortunately, we happened to be out of the city when the cigars were getting in their work and that is all that saved our life. No deaths have been reported yet so we are still outside the pale of the first opportunity, the smokes were taken out and killed. The title battle was the most appropriate spot we could find for the killing. If the St. Thomas fire department has missed any old hose lately we are sure the guy that made those cigars knows where it went to. The way to end the present European war would be to send a box of those same kind of cigars to the German Kaiser. Perhaps he could be deluded into believing they were a tank offering and be tempted to smoke one. After taking a couple of puffs—GOOD NIGHT KAISER.

However, Clever Clarence and J. Edgar Tongue are still backing those alleged cigars. After getting used to St. Thomas no doubt they can get used to anything. It speaks wonders for their constitutions. A constitution that can survive those cigars is a well-kept secret. Under the name of plume of Paris, J. Edgar Tongue has the following to say about the patent of "One Who Has Suffered."

The inhabitants of the smaller hamlets when first introduced to the press the opinion of the first day's visit that they much prefer their own quiet and peaceful home, sweet home.

As such a case only we can describe the ravings from some poor deluded member of the staff of the London paper who was sent to treat a weed emanating from this set of cigars were of a real brand. Our eyesight isn't bad and we saw the scribbles by them and also witnessed the fact that they were of the well known Havana style.

Now, of course, a good cigar in the small hamlet of London is unheard of. In fact, it is a rare sight to see one of the natives sitting on the front porch either on the Sabbath or a holiday, enjoying even one of those monstrosities of which three may be purchased for the small sum of five cents.

Of course, unaccustomed as he was to the pleasant tang of a good weed, the Cockney scribbler's aversion to trying more can be compared to the yokel's first day in the real town.

We can quite easily understand the hat matter. We sprang along far ahead and so fast in the haberdashery line in the burg that the new lids must seem odd to the poor souls away up north there. Whenever a London village happens to get south for a little time and a box of those cigars that he is of the style of some ten years ago, but residents of the metropolis, refrain as much as possible from embarrassing him by staring or crowding on the streets.

After reading this outburst of Mr. Percy Penelope's we are inclined to think that he must have been smoking one of those same kind of "Havanas" when he wrote it. This is absolute proof of what terrible havoc those smokes have to answer for. Clever Clarence also breaks into print. His stuff was buried on the back page where people are most apt to miss it. The inspired compositor who placed it there no doubt took it at face value. Here is what Clarence says on the back page.

The Saints finished behind the Cockneys in the Canadian League race and the Cockneys won the majority of the game played between the Saints and themselves. As the result of these facts two of the local scribbles are out at bat apiece and a box of cigars, and friend "Jinx," the northern village sport writer, is a smiling winner.

Naturally, with the advent of the war came hard times, and at least one of the local scribbles thought that it would be best to get the little wagger. Unfortunately the London gentleman is not made of the same patriotic material, and recently he unparliamentarily used His Majesty's mails for the purpose of informing the local scribbles that a hat and a box of cigars was due. The smokes are now in London but the Cockney pen manipulator is evidently so elated by the triumph of the Cockneys that there is not a hat in town that would comfortably crown his dome of knowledge. The hat will not be forwarded until the hat-maker has been communicated with and a special creation constructed.

All we have to say in reply is that we are going to pass up those hats. After seeing the kind of cigars sent us we are afraid to take a chance on the hats. If the lids possess the same destructive qualities as the smokes we would likely have our ears bitten off the first day we wore one of them. We would rather prefer parading through the streets encased in a German helmet. It would likely be safer in the long run. So, Clarence, you can keep those hats or you can donate them to some charitable institution that is looking after wounded Germans. You can do anything you like with them as long as you do not send them here. We are willing to try anything once, but after those St. Thomas cigars we absolutely draw the line at the hats. We are perfectly satisfied to forget all about the stupid part of the hat. After having the office fumigated life is worth the living around here again and we are in hopes that we will be able to live down our little part in the affair.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(BY PURDUM LOVE.)

The students had a fast workout last night, and succeeded in getting most of the soreness of Saturday's splash with the Sarnia Sallies out of their systems. The whole team, with the exception of Chatto, Steele and Ireland, were out, and went through a stiff workout.

"The boys have simply not to turn out, or they will not make the team."

Hearing Is Restored To Deaf

Without Mechanical or Artificial Hearing Devices, Deaf Hear With Their Own Ears—A Wonderful English Discovery.

Thousands of people suffer from catarrhal deafness or poor hearing, who, having tried specialists, advertised treatments, electrical vibrators and various mechanical appliances without success, have at last received a wonderful cure. "World of Silence," thinking that nothing can ever restore to them their normal hearing. Yet their case is not hopeless. A remarkable scientific treatment discovered a little more than a year ago in England is making people hear after years of deafness, and is also unequalled for quickly stopping the distressing head noises that are so often the companions of defective hearing. This discovery is called Parmit, and has attracted widespread notice throughout Europe, where reports of the remarkable results it has given to deaf people have come in by the hundred.

The effect of Parmit, it seems, is by tonic action to produce a stimulus necessary to reduce all inflammation, swelling, enlargement or thickening of the organs of hearing and to stimulate the entire auditory tract. Parmit is now being sold by many leading druggists in London and vicinity, and a speedy trial is urged upon all who suffer from catarrhal deafness or head noises in any degree. Ask the druggist for 1 oz. of Parmit (Double strength), and take it home and mix with 1 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar until dissolved. Take the teaspoonful four times a day, and you should soon find a remarkable improvement in your hearing. 50c—$1.00 for $2.50.

THREE YEARS, THEN THE BREAK BEGINS FOR CHAMPION TEAMS

Judging from the downfall of the Athletics, and looking over the annals of the past, it seems that it generally takes about three years for a championship club to "crack." It is also evident that a championship team can bluff its way through its own circuit for a final flag, mainly because it has the prestige and knows the weaknesses of the rival teams, and that it takes a club of the opposing circuit to finally upset the machinery. The players of its own league, the fans, and critics, seeing the champions still winning, never realize that the old steam roller is making its last trip on luck and reputation—that the eggs are rust, the driving rods fractured, and the whole works ready to be pushed over by the first determined adversary.

Three years isn't much of a period for strong, young men. It would be imagined that burly, clean-living lads from 21 to 27, instead of slowing up in three seasons, would be just at the best of their united powers, and that their club should be far stronger, far more dangerous than in its earlier stages. Yet such is the story of the game—the story of the Orioles, the Brooklyn, the Pirates, the Tigers, the Cubs and the Athletics. Just one of the strange things that make baseball doubly fascinating, that is all.

Memphis Drafts Baldwin; Reising to Manage Hams

Hamilton Third Baseman Goes to Southern League Club—Hamilton Directors Will Hold Meeting Next Week to Appoint Manager—Reising is Favored.

Teddy Baldwin, the Hamilton third baseman, has been drafted by the Memphis club of the Southern League, according to an announcement issued by President Fitzgerald. He is the second player from the Canadian League to be drafted by the Southern League this past season to be drafted by the Memphis club of the Southern League. Baldwin was drafted by the Hamilton club through Brisk, Lord, the former Philadelphia Athletic player, who is now managing a club in the Southern League. It is thought that Lord, responsible for him being drafted.

Will Sign Reising. The Hamilton club will hold a meeting next week to sign a manager for next season. According to the papers in the city, "Doc" Reising, former manager of the London team, is the man who will be selected. Reising has put in an application for the position, and the directors are almost unanimous for signing him.

To Protest Draft Prices. The Hamilton directors also intend to raise a protest to the National Association, because only Class C prices have been paid for Canadian League players drafted. In this they will be backed up by every club in the league. President Fitzgerald has the checks for players drafted from the different clubs, but he has accepted them under protest. He will take the matter up at the meeting of the National Association in Omaha next month.

Billy Murray Wanted No Secrets On His Club

Billy Murray was on the bench managing the Philadelphia team, and Coveleskie, now Detroit's star, was pitching first. Coveleskie took a long wind up, and almost before he pitched the runner raced to second, getting such a lead the catcher could not have shot him out with a Krupp gun. When Coveleskie reached the bench Billy demanded: "Why didn't you catch that fellow on the first base?"

"What fellow on first?" inquired Covey. "That guy that stole second." "No one told me there was a runner on first," replied the pitcher. "Billy was dazed for an instant. Then, turning, he shouted angrily: 'Here you, Knabe, Doolan, Brangfield—of you. There's one thing I want understood right now. Whenever hereafter a base runner reaches first or second or third bases you fellows tell Covey about it. I won't have any more of these secrets of this club.'"

Feds Shatter 1915 Pennant Hopes of Three Major Clubs

President Gilmore Says He Will Land Organized Ball Four Distinct Blows.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Oct. 27.—Hopes of a 1915 pennant by the American League club, have been shattered by the recent activities of the Federal League, according to a statement made here today by James A. Gilmore, president of the American League. Gilmore said he had been so "hard hit" by the Federal League, which he said had been so "hard hit" by the American League, that he had decided to "land four distinct blows" to the Federal League.

We found absolutely no difficulty in securing major league players. Even of the calibre that have proved to come will be all we need of these. More than a dozen men of the Federal League, and League contracts already. "If within a month I do not hand back to the Federal League, I will make them quake, then I quit."

Don't Think the Braves Can Repeat

Already fans are beginning to wonder if the Boston Braves can win the National League pennant next year, and popular opinion is leaning to against them, notwithstanding their record-breaking show, through the home and the complete destruction of the Athletics.

But those who are trying to belittle the real ability of Boston evidently have not figured on who they have to beat. The other National League clubs were very bad last season.

INSURING GOOD DIGESTION

Importance of Preventing Food Fermentation in Stomach. Good digestion usually means good health. So long as the stomach does its work properly disease can find no lodgment in the human system. The liver, kidneys and intestines will perform their work perfectly and remain in perfect health, in a permit anything to interfere with the proper digestion of food, an unending train of troubles is set in motion. Above all, the only thing that will upset the stomach and interfere with digestion is fermentation. Food fermentation is due to chemical action in the stomach itself. This fermentation causes the formation of gas, or wind, as well as acid, resulting in the unnatural distention of the stomach and the burning by the acid of the delicate lining of the stomach.

Medicine and diet cannot relieve this condition—they usually make it worse. The fermentation and acid are to blame in these cases, and must be overcome. It is avoided by taking after meals a teaspoonful of liquidated magnesia especially because it stops and prevents the fermentation of food and neutralizes the acid instantly, making it bland and harmless, without irritating the stomach. Get a little liquidated magnesia from your druggist and try it the next time your food ferments in your stomach. Note how quickly the acid is neutralized and how soon you forget that you have such a thing as a stomach. 0.50c.
