

The Colonist

FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1893.

AN OLD STORY.

These who expected that anything new would have been brought out in the debate on Mr. McCarthy's resolution...

The matter of preferential duties had also been before Parliament before, but as the adoption of this policy is contingent upon the action to be taken by Great Britain...

The Westminister indignation meeting, convened at a rather discordant hour of the Columbian trumpet, was evidently not a very impressive one.

The tone of the Toronto Empire on this subject is temperate and conciliatory. Commenting on the debate on the McCarthy resolution, it says:

There are evidences here and there of people who want to go a little faster than we have been going...

The New York Herald in its vigorous way says: The treaty was withdrawn on Thursday with promises which carry the significance of reading the riot act to the jingoists...

A law establishing Courts of Conciliation has lately been passed in North Dakota. These courts are very different, both in their constitution and their functions...

CRIME IN THE UNITED STATES. The New York Herald takes exception to the statistics of crime in the United States compiled by Mr. Henry M. Boies.

tion of those convicted in the courts are for venial offenses—drunkenness for example. It says that forty years ago drunkenness was hardly considered a crime save in exceptional cases.

There are many people in the world who appear to have been half asleep during the last twenty years or so. Ideas that were popular a quarter of a century ago they believe to be acceptable now...

THE MEN OF ULSTER. The excitement about the discussion of the passage in Mr. Clarke Wallace's Kingston address, in which he alluded to the way in which the men of Ulster raised the Home Rule Bill...

There are two schools who view with some apprehension the growth of our Empire. The first is comprised of those who, coming somewhat late into the field, find that Great Britain has some of the best plants already marked out.

Noblemen and gentlemen, the clergy of the Church of Ireland, the leading ministers in the principal Nonconformist communities, the professional men, the lawyers, the financiers, the men of letters, the cream of the Ulster artisans and the pick of the Ulster yeomanry...

Only at Certain Times. The members of the Union Gun Club held their fifth shoot for the Hamilton Powder Company's medal at Macaulay Point yesterday, with the wind blowing across the traps in a way that made the shooting difficult at times...

DEAR SIR:—I am pleased to hear that you are well, and hope you will continue to improve. I have not much news to write at present, but I am glad to hear that you are well.

SOME GROWLING. The way in which the Conservative party has been led in the British House of Commons has been the cause of much discontent. Mr. Balfour has disappointed his friends, and they are not backward in telling him so in the plainest terms.

THE INDIGNATION MEETING. The Westminister indignation meeting, convened at a rather discordant hour of the Columbian trumpet, was evidently not a very impressive one. The speeches do not appear to have been at all stirring, and the indignation seemingly with provoking obsequy refused to be worked up.

THE MEN OF ULSTER. The excitement about the discussion of the passage in Mr. Clarke Wallace's Kingston address, in which he alluded to the way in which the men of Ulster raised the Home Rule Bill...
