Resumption of the Bebate on the Budget Speech Mr. G. W. Boss Hopes for Haid times No Change in Whisky Bonding Special Despatch to The World.

OTTAWA, April 3.—The budget debate was resumed this afternoon by Mr. G. W. Ross, who made a clear speech of about an hour and three-quarters duration. He divided the ground of his attack on the government into two portions, the first being the great increase in the expenditure, which the great increase in the expenditure, which he considered out of all proportion to the wealth and resources of the country, and the second the alleged failure of the retired.

The Emperor of Austris, who for months has suffered from a painful internal malady, will spend the summer at Carlsbad, for the purpose of trying its healing waters. the second the alleged failure of the national policy. He pointed out that an inspection of the public accounts showed that the useless expenditures were even greater than tiems were hidden away under improper heads. As an instance, he said, that the expenditure for immigration contained an item of $1500, traveling expenses of Sic A.
T. Galt when he went to the Northwest to look after his interests in the Souris coal fields, and such items as $800 for repairs to a Puliman palace car for the use of the gov-ernor-general on his trip to British Columbia were charged to the Engle river portion of the Canada Pacific railway. He argued at great length that the tariff had failed in every respect to come up to what those who introduced it had led the people to expect and concluded by hoping that Sir Leonard Tilley would live to see the day, which was sure to come, when hard times would show the people that the national policy was a failure, and they would decide not to perpetuate it.

Mr. Rykert followed on the government side and spoke till recess, and for about an hour after. He criticised the speeches of Messrs. Paterson and Ross, characterizing the former as being of the stump order, and stating that the latter did not agree with to avoid so many inconsistencies. The re-mainder of his speech was devoted to a defence of the government's policy, but he altered nothing which had already been better said by Sir Leonard Tilley and Mr

White on Friday last.

Mr. Rinfret followed in French attacking the national policy, more particularly on the ground that it had not afforded protection to farmers.

Mr. Amyot, also speaking in French, depreciated at some length and with much gesticulation the efforts of the opposition to atir up feeling among the workingmen against the manufacturers on the ground that the latter were monopolists. He warmly
