The Primroses batted well, but their fielding was scarcely up to the mark, and their base running was a trifle too venture-some, Miller and Morrison making a couple of bad mistakes in this respect. Morrison, of bad mistakes in this respect. Morrison with the ball, five or six men getting their bases on balls, although he did a fair bases on balls, although he did a fair bases in the striking out line, evening six to his oredit. Bierbauer behind getting six to his oredit. Bierbauer behind the bat gave a fair account of himself, but still has four errors to account for. Wilson at third and Thempson at second were not artificed and Thempson at second were not artificed and Thempson at second were not artificed as well up to their work as they been second or third rate oarsmen, or if they had failed to carry off the flowers of they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at every regatta, they could have violated the spirit of the amateur rule times without number and nothing would ever have been said of it. As it is an inferior oarsman has but to catch one superior to himself making but a small bet on his chances of winning and he need not wait to outrow him but can report to Mr. Garfield and have him suspended or ruled out. While Mr. Garfield is about it he had better make a clean sweep of the matter and suspend the of the matter and suspend the slub whose members do any betting. He had better, too, rule out those clubs in his own country who make it a practice to keep men for rowing only—that is who allow them to become and remain members sent. It is possible Mr. Garfield would not have to go outside his own city—Albany—to get an opportunity to exercise his power in this respect. At least we know he could have done so not many years ago. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Garfield's hands were strengthened by the action of a black sheep in the Canadian association itself. We refer to W. B. Wells, of Chatham, Ont. This gentleman is or was a member of the council of the home association. He and Harry Ball, a fellow townsman and an oarsman of some fellow townsman and an oareman of some repute, rowed a double-scull race against Another pitching phenomenon has been discovered in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He is a 20-year-old boy named James Hindman, who is said to be not only a wonder in the box, but a change catcher as well. The e*Commer-Eartght-Laing Case.

Boston, Aug. 13.—The annual meeting of the National association of amateur of the case of the Canadians, Enright, Laing and O'Connor, said that while these men had not violated the letter they had the spirit of the amateur rules, and as such violations seemed to be growing in number it was deemed time to take some action which would prevent it. The executive committee had no power to disqualify these men. It could only instruct the regarts committee for 1885 to reject their entiries until they had removed all reasonable doubt as to theis amateur standing. The retiring members of the executive committee were Tucker of Philadelphia, Paraos of Diron, Ill., and Peterson of New York. They were re-elected. *

In reference to the foregoing it might be mentioned thatMr. Garfield has chosens avery queer time to become so religiously strict. As we said before so we say now that I Laing, O'Connor and Earlight had been second or third rate oarsmen, or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen, or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen, or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen, or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen or it they had failed to carry off the flowers of the National association at sexemen statement was ever made by a member of Editor World: On my arrival in Toronto this afternoon, on way home from annual press trip, copies of your spicy journal have been placed in my hands containing letters from Bowmanville signed "M. Quad." The writer I have no doubt, is Moses Ananias James, who was present at Moses Ananias James, who was present at the annual meeting of Press association, but opened not his mouth where all could have been fully explained in a minute. His object now is purely a personal one to insinuate where he dare not strike, and try to injure one whom he has vainly belied for a year past. The books and accounts of the association are always open to the members thereof, and the auditors—C. B. Robinson and H. P. Moore—will no doubt do their duty properly. I have repeatedly proved that there was no use entering into a newspaper controversy with Moses Auanias, who knowingly and maliciously slanders and belies the official he is now trying to injure. When M. A. James, ("M. Quad,") pays his Press association dues, he can have free access to the books of the association, and obtain all association dues, he can have free access to the books of the association, and obtain all requisite information—a matter which the public have nothing to do with and care nothing about.
