

NEW YORK MAN NOW FEELS SPLENDID

It is useless to look for happiness while your kidneys and stomach are out of order. Seek health first, and with it will come that buoyant happiness that money alone can never buy. From New York, we learn how has helped one man to health and happiness. Mr. Geo. Dixon, of 160 Bleecker St., New York City, writes: "Being troubled with my kidneys and stomach I was recommended by an acquaintance to try your GIN PILLS. I purchased a box at a near-by drug store, and I can truthfully say that they have been wonderfully effective and I am now feeling splendid."

If you have any suspicion of kidney or stomach trouble write to-day for a free sample of Gin Pills, or buy from your druggist—50c. a box, or 4 boxes for $2.50.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sleepy Time Story About a Very Disagreeable Gnome.

THE BOY WITH THE SULK.

All About How Two Sour Tempered Individuals Made Themselves Miserable—Spoiling An Appetite—An Interesting Tale With a Moral.

Well, said Uncle Ben to little Ned and Polly Ann, tonight I will tell you about

THE TROLL'S VISIT.

Once on a time there was a little black troll who lived in the ground. He was the gronchiest troll of the tribe, and none of the other trolls ever wanted him around.

Now, you may have heard it said that misery loves company, and he couldn't get it because none of his troll companions, who were cheerful little creatures who sang as they worked, could stand the little black troll for more than two minutes at a time.

And the little black troll complained to the troll king that he was lonely and that he thought the other trolls didn't treat him right.

The troll king thought and thought. He knew just why the other trolls didn't care to have the black troll around, but he believed it would do more good if the little black fellow found it out for himself.

So he said: "Very well. There's a little boy not far from here that's been complaining in just the way you complain. I think I'll send you to visit him for awhile."

The troll was quite pleased, and when he reached Johnny Blyn's house he was beginning to feel more cheerful.

Johnny didn't say, "Glad to see you," or anything of that sort. He just stared at the troll and remarked, "My, what queer clothes you wear!"

The troll was hungry, and, as it was lunch time, he followed Johnny in to the lunch table. Johnny began by saying that he didn't want anything and that there wasn't anything fit to eat. He said such horrid things about the food that at last the troll lost his own appetite.

Then Johnny's mother told them to go out and play, but Johnny said he didn't want to play. He was tired of all the games. When the troll suggested some nice new ones Johnny said he wouldn't play such dull games.

He stood it until tea time, and then he said to Johnny: "I'm going home. I don't think I like it here."

Of course Johnny wanted to know why, and the gnome answered: "You are too peevish and ill humored, that's why."

"You're peevish and ill humored yourself, you old black troll!" Johnny cried angrily.

"Maybe I am," the troll answered meekly, "but I'm not going to be so any more, for if I can't stand you I can't expect anybody to stand me."

Sister and Baby Ride.

What a jolly time the baby is having on her first sleigh ride with sister holding tight! Snow, of course, she is yet too young to understand. But next winter she will know more about it. Snow is such a queer thing; it looks so soft and warm and feathery. But when you take it in your hand it is very cold and soon disappears. It is so entirely different from what it appears to be—to a baby.

IN NORTHERN FRANCE.

"It is strange and terrible to visit Paris—and no one can be happy—but to visit the lovely Northern country. There is here a sense of emptiness, as if terror still hushed the normal cheerful noises of mankind. The people of these regions have lost everything: their houses are burned; their animals, even the rabbits, are gone; their farm implements are shapeless pieces of grotesquely melted iron. They live in temporary, patched shelters, and in the houses built by the Society of Friends, or mass themselves in some nearby village that escaped destruction at the hands of the crown prince's retreating army. After a time in this silent country one gets the sense that destruction is normal, and tears start to one's eyes at the sight of an undestroyed French village smiling in the sun. So changed are all values that I could feel nothing strange in the words of the woman who told me, 'Fortunately, my husband is a hunchback.'"—Mary Heaton Vorse, in the January Century.

Soapstone Griddles.

Soapstone and aluminum griddles have the advantage over iron ones in that they do not need greasing, and so one's house does not become choked with the blue smoke that is sure to rise from an iron griddle whenever it is used. Grease either aluminum or soapstone the first time it is used, then wipe with a dry cloth and away. No greasing is required afterward. Do not wash when putting away, but once or twice a season the griddle may be scoured off, and then begin all over again, as though you had a new griddle.

Useful Brushes.

Brushes have been invented for polishing either stoves or shoes that have a reservoir, controlled by a valve, to feed polish to the bristles.

Dislikes the Whites.

An Indian tribe in Bolivia shuns the whites and lives as in the stone age, making tools and weapons of stone, bone, and wood.

Freedom From Asthma.—Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give hope of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

The women of East Kent will meet at Thameville in May to discuss questions relating to their enfranchisement.

Timothy Johnston, a former resident of the sixth concession of Plympton, died at his home in Wyoming last week, aged 84 years. He leaves a family of two sons and two daughters, viz: Mrs. William Tierney, 6th line, Maggie and Joseph, of Detroit, and Timothy, Sask.

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is a standard remedy, and years of use have enhanced its reputation.

Chicken Pie.

Pare six medium sized potatoes, cut in small pieces, cook until tender, but not broken, then add two cupsful of chicken meat and half a cupful of fresh pork, cooked and cut in small pieces. Cover with a crust made as follows: Sift three teaspoonfuls of baking powder with two cupfuls of flour add two tablespoonfuls of shortening and half a teaspoonful of salt. Rub thoroughly together and mix with one small cupful of milk. Put on a floured board and press out with the hands to the size required to cover the chicken pie. Bake twenty minutes.

JACKSON, MISS., MAN

Tells How to Cure Chronic Cough
Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the Grippe left me with a chronic cough, run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups without help. I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, and I have gained new vim and energy."—JOHN L. DENNIS.

Vinol is a delicious non-secret tonic which is guaranteed for coughs, colds and bronchitis and for all weak, run-down conditions.
