Mission House, Bobbitt, Sept 10, 1899.

My Dear Sisters:—

This is Sunday evening. We have just come in from prayer meeting. This afternoon we had a very heavy rain, which was much needed. People are prophesying another famine this year. At present a quiet rain is falling, which hinders us from going into the town to tell the Story of the Cross. So I take my pen to address a few words to the workers at home.
