

its own among its many competitors. Its engravings are unpretentious, and its reading matter takes up subjects of every scope. The reviews of current publications are always good, always impartial and always readable.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL is replete with valuable and instructive information on Phrenology, Physiology, &c. &c. Its table of contents is very varied.

HARPER'S MONTHLY is unquestionably the popular magazine of the New World. It is always fresh, readable, spicy and piquant. No one need "take in" the English Monthlies or Reviews when Harper can be had for one quarter the price, and the same stories, essays and poems do duty for both.

The first number of the new CANADIAN MONTHLY has reached our office. It is under the direction of Mr. Goldwin Smith, who has taken up his residence in Canada. The pages before us are respectably filled and present a very favourable appearance. As the Monthly grows older it will improve. It behoves Canadians who have a desire to see a good native Literature spring up, to give such publications as this new magazine their best and unswerving support. It is the only way our authors can be fostered, cherished and encouraged. The subscription price is $3 a year, in advance.
