

Among those that had not changed were a couple of P. atalanta, and the rest were all V. Milberti, a great many of which were infested with parasites, and in a few days all that escaped these foes had changed. In about ten or twelve days they began to emerge, and on opening the box on the 13th, I was much surprised to find one specimen of this beautiful Grapta hanging from the empty case. I did not know what it was until I compared it with an example from California. On the 15th also, along with several specimens of Milberti, I found another in the box, and comparing both of them with my example from California, I cannot find any difference except that they are in better order. Chateauguay Basin is about fifteen miles south of here, and has never been visited much by collectors, but we have recorded from that locality three insects which have never been taken here (Montreal), viz., A. bellona and E. columbina, taken by Mr. Jack, and G. satyrus, taken by myself.
