

School, until the 30th day of April, 1827, at the rate of Twelve Shillings, New York Currency, per quarter, for each and every individual Scholar, the school to be subject to the same regulations as other provincial institutions of the same kind in the province, and under the control of the present managing Trustees, whose decision in all matters, if any disputes should arise between the employers and employed, shall be considered by both parties as final. No charge to be made for any Scholar except the time actually attending, an account of which shall be regularly kept in a book for the express purpose by the Teacher, liable to be sworn to if necessary. The employers to pay the said Grierson at the expiration of the three months, in the current paper or other money of the province, for his services duly performed. The inhabitants concerned further agree to board and lodge the said Teacher, during the time of his engagement, according to their respective proportion of Scholars, and also to contribute their quota of wood for the supply and comfort of the School. This list, as soon as completed, to be delivered up to one of the Trustees, in whose possession it is to be retained; that if necessary it may be forthcoming when called for.

It is clearly understood before signing that the said Grierson is not to make any demand for the time he taught previous to the 4th of December, and that he is to teach an Evening School two nights in each week without any expense to the parents or scholar during the present winter months.
