

MODERATES RULE RUSS PARLIAMENT

Extremists Defeated After Three Days' Debate, and Address Is Carried.

St. Petersburg, May 18.—Sitting until long after 2 o'clock this morning, the Lower House of the National Parliament set its seal upon its first great work, the adoption of the address in reply to Emperor Nicholas' speech from the throne at the Winter Palace, and setting forth the aims and aspirations of Russia's millions.

Despite attacks both from the right and the left, the leaders of the Constitutional Democratic party held their followers together to the last, and the address was adopted substantially in the form in which it was proposed by the commission.

Time after time during the long three days of debate the extremists, with their undying hatred of the whole ancient order, launched their fiery attacks against the "mildness" of the various paragraphs only to break against the force of the restraint of the chiefs of the party. When the discussion had been finished, the deputies, with the exhortations of the country to speedy action dimming in their ears, ventured no further delay, and, though they had been already in session 14 hours, took a recess until 2 o'clock this morning for the reading and adoption of the final draft of the address, instead of postponing this formally until the opening of Friday's session.

As if running a race to see which should be the first to present to Emperor Nicholas a demand for amnesty, the council of the empire also was in session well into the early morning hours, discussing the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

This document, which is far simpler and more conservative than that of the Lower House, proposes an amnesty which does not include those guilty of political offenses, murder or violation of property rights, or other crimes, political assassins, or participants in agrarian excesses.

The Lower House's demand for amnesty, the kernel and most pressing point in its address, was altered at the last moment by the commission itself, which, in response to criticisms of indulgence in the expression "full political amnesty," substituted "amnesty for all crimes committed from religious or political motives, as well as agrarian offenses, and the like."

The commission also accepted a new clause to meet the wishes of the discontented in the army and navy, asking the Emperor to revive the conditions of service on the basis of right and justice.

The last feature of the debate was an attempt by Prof. Kovzevsky to introduce a declaration in favor of peace and pan-slavism as the guiding principle of the empire, but an amendment commending Emperor Nicholas for his peace manifestos and pleading the Government to cherish the aspirations of the Slavonian peoples outside the empire, was rejected.

A MYSTERY OF THE DEEP

Strange and Fatal Accident to South African Deep Sea Diver.

Case Town, May 17.—An accident which is described as without precedent in the history of diving operations has been the subject of magisterial inquiry at Simonstown, two divers, Kraining and Macphail, were at work at several levels of the new dockyard works at Simonstown, which are being carried out by Sir John Jackson (Limited). They were working at a depth of about 50 feet, and, though they did not go down together, they met under water, and were, it appeared from the evidence, discussing by means of signs the position in regard to the level on which they were working.

According to the statement of the survivor, Macphail, he saw his companion's helmet suddenly fly off. In this desperate position the drowning man clung to Macphail, who gave the signal to the lost over-head to haul in, and the two men were drawn up to within a few feet of the surface. At this point the hauling ceased, the man in the lost being unable to raise the heavy weight further, and Macphail was compelled to lose his hold of his drowning comrade who sank to the bottom. The other man reached the boat, and immediately went down again, but Kraining was lying face downward on the bottom and was dead when they finally got him to the surface.

No explanation was forthcoming at first, it was possible for the man's helmet to come unfastened. It was stated to have been adjusted properly when he entered the water, and the two divers were said to have been on perfectly good terms, no question as to the possibility of foul play being raised. The verdict was simply that the man was drowned but the magistrate confessed that the manner in which the helmet came unfastened remained a mystery.

"MAN IS FILLED WITH MISERY." This is not true of all men. The well-sound of lung, clear eyes, art and buoyant with health, are not miserable whatever may be their social condition. To be well is to be happy, and we can all be well by getting and keeping our bodies in a healthy state. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will help all to do this.

Exports in 1905 of American farm, orchard, forest, mining and fisheries products and factory products amounted to $1,626,000,000, an average of $5,420,000 a day for 200 working days, and seventeen times as much as in 1905.

A new prize of $10,000 is offered in France for the invention of a drinkable balloon.

ZULUS CHARGE TO RIFLE MUZZLES

Fanatical Bravery Shown by Rebels in Attack on British Column.

London, May 17.—Full details of the Zulu attack on Colonel Mansel's column at N'Khandha, May 5, have been received.

Colonel Mansel made a reconnaissance in force yesterday from Fort Yolland towards Cetewayo's farm. While the force was moving through the forest the rebels fired several shots, slightly wounding one man.

As the troops were descending a precipitous hill in single file, entering more open country, the vanguard, consisting of Natal mounted police, was charged by 200 Zulus.

It looked at one time as if the rebels would get in among the troopers, but supports were pushed up, and the danger was averted.

The Zulus, however, came within a few yards of the muzzles of the rifles, but were beaten off with a loss of 60 killed, besides wounded. The attack was premature.

The enemy were engaged in making an encircling movement when the rush was made at our advance guard, and their rear attack proved weak after the frontal rush had failed.

Colonel Mansel captured 200 cattle and a great number of goats, and burned many kraals. With the troops came away small bodies of the enemy came out of the forest, sniping the column for some distance. The fire was returned, and several of the rebels were killed.

On the British side, Corporal Elington, of the police, was slightly wounded. Two Nongquais were also wounded, and several horses were struck. About 1,000 of the enemy were seen.

In an official dispatch, Colonel Mansel reported that the native police attached to the Natal Mounted Rifles behaved courageously, and did good work during the engagement with the Zulus.

The Durban Light Infantry were also engaged, and Colonel Mansel states that their steadiness at a certain critical stage of the attack prevented very serious casualties among the white troops.

Colonel Mackay took out a large force to patrol the district, and ascended one of the highest points of the N'Khandha range, eight miles from the magistracy. From here they shelled a number of kraals, the loyal natives assisting in the work. Pambaba's stronghold is about a mile distant, and is a well-fortified position, the rebels exchanged with the rebels.

Scouts of Colonel Mackenzie's force (which has reached here), who passed native huts reputed to be friendly, found in them newly-made and brightly-painted assegais.

The magistracy at Newcastle, in collecting the hut tax, finds the payments as large and as readily tendered as in previous years.

Bambaata has an Ethiopian chaplain named Mingo, who conducts prayers morning and evening for the success of the rebels.

Matjaan Toli, a chief in the N'Khandha district, part of whose kraal extends to the N'Qutu district, reports that his two sons and 75 members of his tribe have left the kraal to join Bambaata.

DEATH DUEL OVER GIRL

Combatants Fight to a Finish Upon Bottom of Upturned Canoe.

Fort William, May 17.—W. A. Thompson and Isadore Bouchard, formerly employed on the projected line of the Transcontinental Railway, met death under most tragic circumstances in Helen Lake, on the north shore of Lake Superior.

While in a canoe half a mile from shore they engaged in combat, capsize the craft. They climbed to the top of the upturned canoe and engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle, lasting nearly thirty minutes, when their strength spent, they slipped into the water and sank.

A fisherman and his daughter standing on the shore were the only ones to witness the death struggle. The bodies have not been recovered. There had been a feud between the two men, the outcome of a quarrel over a girl.

PURCHASE IN CANADA

Manufacturers Complain That I. C. R. Buys in the United States.

Toronto, May 17.—At the meeting of the executive council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, held today, the Montreal branch of the association drew attention to the fact that supplies for the Intercolonial Railway are being brought into Canada free of duty from the United States. This is allowed under clause 49 of the customs tariff, and because the railway is owned and operated by the Government.

The association considered the supplies should be purchased in Canada and that if they are not a duty should be charged on them.

The Montreal branch asked the association to use its influence in getting the Government to have clause 49 rescinded, and to have the Intercolonial Railway brought under that clause of the National Transcontinental Railway which provides that all supplies shall be purchased in Canada.

REMAINS OF A MAMMOTH.

Toronto, May 17.—The department of education has been supplied with detailed information with regard to the finding of mammoth remains on a farm in the western part of the province.

Officials of the department will shortly leave for the scene with a view to securing the remains for the Provincial Museum, where the only specimens of such remains consist of a few teeth and odd bones. It is not quite clear to what species the remains in question belong, but there are said to be sufficient reliable experts to reach a definite conclusion on that point, and to permit of their being shown in such a way as to give visitors to the museum an idea of the kind of animal which that once existed in this country.

DON'T WANT CRIMINALS

Strathcona Moving to Prevent Their Being Sent to Canada.

Toronto, May 17.—A communication from the department of the interior has been received by Mr. F. G. Morley, secretary of the board of trade, including a letter of Lord Strathcona, high commissioner in London, in reference to the shipment from Europe to Canada of criminals and other undesirable persons.

Recently the board of trade discussed this matter, and subsequently urged the department of the interior to look into the subject and take steps to prevent what is considered by the board an unfair treatment of Canada in this way.

The letter received by Mr. Morley says that this question is being closely watched by Lord Strathcona, and that he has been in correspondence with people on the continent regarding it, with the hope of having it discontinued.

GOES BEFORE CONGRESS

Garfield's Oil Trust Arrangement Submitted by President.

Washington, May 17.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to Congress the complete report of James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations of the investigation which he made into the operations of the alleged oil trust. A full synopsis of the report, accompanied by a message from the President dealing with the facts developed by the inquiry, was sent to Congress on the 4th inst.

The publication of the message and the synopsis of the report attracted widespread attention. Comments on each were made by officials of the Standard Oil Company and by officials of several systems of railroads. In submitting to the President the full report of his inquiry, Commissioner Garfield wrote an interesting letter, drawing attention to some of the published comments on the oil report attributed to certain railway officials and representatives of the oil trust.

AS TO REDISTRIBUTION

Whitney Says Has Not Given the Matter Any Consideration.

Toronto, May 17.—The report that the Government has already decided that Toronto will have eight seats in the legislature under the redistribution bill to be brought down next session has no foundation.

It was based solely on the remark made by Premier Whitney during an address at the recent session of the Legislature, in which, when not desiring to be understood as pledging himself in any sense, he expressed the opinion that Toronto was entitled to increased representation.

When spoken to tonight in regard to the report the Premier answered that the cabinet had not discussed the question of the redistribution of the constituencies.

"We have not given the subject a moment's thought," he added.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Mrs. Emma Sawyer

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case."

GREAT THINGS FROM LITTLE CAUSES GROW.—It takes very little to derange the stomach. The cause may be slight, a cold, something eaten or drunk, anxiety, worry or some other simple cause. But if precautions be not taken, this simple cause may have most serious consequences. Many a chronically debilitated constitution today owes its destruction to simple causes not dealt with in time. Keep the digestive apparatus in healthy condition, and all will be well. Pinkham's Vegetable Pills are better than any other for the purpose.
