stock Wednesday afternoon were pointed out to the rugby squad, and the outfit came in for some severe criticism and a lot of hard work afterwards.

The locals did beat the Woodstock collegians all right, but every man on the team realizes that the score should have been 116 to 1 instead of the score it was, and as a result are putting a lot more pep into their workouts than they have the last week. Romping up and down Tecumseh Park with nothing but the air to beat, a portion of the when it comes to rugby they are very much on the premises, and the work-out in Woodstock has had the effect of making that portion realize that there on Saturday to play out the first scheduled game of the distinct. Lack of practice was given as trick. Lack of practice was given as the reason for the Sarnians wishing to stave off the game and play it later in the season, but when they found that for the Clinton View Park to dry out, and the program of three events was incomplete the call the program of three events was consequently well filled. Value Has Increased.

Secretary-Treasurer Joseph S. Martin of the Niagara Racing Association, whose headquarters are at Fort Erie, stated that his people acquired the plant when it was a losing venture, and that American capital was not solicited until it was found impossible to interest Canadians. The property was now worth many times over $100,000, which was the purchase price originally paid. Abraham Orpen of the Metropolitan Association said that his profits varied, ranging from $2,000 to $20,000. He said he was equally interested, along with Thomas Hare, in the Dufferin and Hill-crest half-mile tracks, and that between them they had 40 per cent of the stock in the Kenilworth Club at Windsor, He admitted candidly that racing with him was a business. Mr. Orpen was the last witness called.

The gentlemen interested in the Hamilton and Fort Erie tracks were rather circumspect in talking about their affairs; far more so than the representatives of the so-called "merry-goround" tracks.

Doubles.

The bowling season at the Thistle Club has ended after one of the most successful seasons the club has ever experienced. Thistle rinks have been winners at most of the big tourneys, and altogether this season the club added thirteen more trophies of all degrees of importance.

Harry Owen finished the season as singles champion in the first event, and W. H. Rath took the honors in the second event.

Pari-Mutuel Best.

The pari-mutuel system he considered superior to any other form of speculation, as it gave better racing and made higher purses possible. Racing at half-mile tracks was necessarily inferior to that at mile tracks. Its patronage was entirely local. The witness did not think that four tracks were too many for Toronto, but he thought that there were too many at Windsor for the benefit of racing. He would not admit that the owners of the Fort Erie track were professional racing men from the United States. On the contrary, Mr. Madigan, the principal owner, was a British subject.

W. P. Fraser, O.J.C., said that the discontinuance of racing had affected the enjoyment of many people, and that the O. J. C. meetings were social events of the greatest importance.

The inquiry is proceeding.
