 8. Men in Fawn, 91 you ever actually saw a fly get stuck on the fly paper, anyhow, without you or somebody else assisting it there? I did, once, but I had to wait nearly two hours before the occurrence took place, and I never want to spend another such hour of disappointed expectation again. The fact that there is such a host of flies around me must account for the "filing" of the fly paper by straggling, thoughtless specimens, who don't use their judgment in avoiding the danger zone.
 The fly and the paper is a simple matter, but it requires some observation. There are other incidents much more important that don't require half so much power of discernment. For instance, you don't have to drink much of O'Keefe's Star Beer until you discover that you've struck a real refreshing beverage. It is a queer experience. The delicious flavor of the best lagers is there, and yet the abnormally low percentage of alcohol it contains makes Star beer a non-intoxicating drink, pure in material and in preparation. It is just possible you may not yet have tried this new beverage, which has been the subject of a revelation to many people, who used to think that you must have a high percentage of alcohol to make beer drinking a pleasure. Telephone the O'Keefe Brewery Company for a case of Star Beer and you won't regret it.

 8. Men in Fawn, 91 you ever actually saw a fly get stuck on the fly paper, anyhow, without you or somebody else assisting it there? I did, once, but I had to wait nearly two hours before the occurrence took place, and I never want to spend another such hour of disappointed expectation again. The fact that there is such a host of flies around me must account for the "filing" of the fly paper by straggling, thoughtless specimens, who don't use their judgment in avoiding the danger zone.
 The fly and the paper is a simple matter, but it requires some observation. There are other incidents much more important that don't require half so much power of discernment. For instance, you don't have to drink much of O'Keefe's Star Beer until you discover that you've struck a real refreshing beverage. It is a queer experience. The delicious flavor of the best lagers is there, and yet the abnormally low percentage of alcohol it contains makes Star beer a non-intoxicating drink, pure in material and in preparation. It is just possible you may not yet have tried this new beverage, which has been the subject of a revelation to many people, who used to think that you must have a high percentage of alcohol to make beer drinking a pleasure. Telephone the O'Keefe Brewery Company for a case of Star Beer and you won't regret it.
