HOUR: 9 a.m.
DAY: Monday, March 21
EVENT: Sale 1,000 Pianos
PLACE: Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Ltd., 115-117 King St. W.
REASON: Preparing to Remove to Their New Store--the Brown Building, 193-197 Yonge Street

There's the story of the great sacrifice sale of new and slightly-used Pianos, Player-Pianos and Organs that opens at summarized in a few lines. There's never been an occasion like it in the piano trade of Canada. It's not a case of creating some fictitious reason for making such a sale desirable.

HEINTZMAN & CO. WAREROOMS

115-117 KING STREET W., TORONTO

The simple fact is that after fifty years in business, and forty-one of these in our present premises on King Street West, the growth of the business makes a new building necessary, and following the trend of trade we purchased nearly a year ago the large Brown Building on Yonge Street, just above Queen Street.

The present occupants vacate the building at the end of this month. Contractors enter on the work of remodelling at once. In the meantime we make preparations for moving. The first step is to bring down the volume of stock on hand—over 1,000 instruments. The prices will startle you.

These values are for those outside Toronto as much as those in it. Sign the attached coupon and we will write you fully on all points.

Easy terms of payment arranged with all purchasers.

Bible in the Schools Only as Literature

Religious Teaching Should Be Taught, Says Rev. Dr. Rose to Teachers' Association.

"The public schools of to-day should not be turned into places of religious technical teaching. The pupils attend the schools for a good education and I am not in favor of the Bible being used for religious purposes any more than at present. I know many people have advanced the idea of having the Bible taken as a branch of the school curriculum, but if that were granted, then I would be in favor of secular schools," said Rev. Dr. Rose in an address at the annual meeting of the Toronto Teachers' Association yesterday.

"The only manner in which I advocate the Bible being taught is as school literature. The characters portrayed are equal to Napoleon, Caesar and other historical celebrities, but I regret to state I believe the present-day teachers are unqualified for this work. Not that it is their fault, but they have not received the training that they need. If the teachers could instill high ideals into their pupils then they were worthy of the greatest of praise. Sermonettes were, however, to be taboo. These did more harm than good, but to educate the pupils to do right because it was right was their work."

Chairman Simpson of the board of education in the opening speech again advocated the policy of not sparing the taxpayers for education improvements.

The speaker briefly touched on the new departures in manual training, domestic science and reform in home work. In the latter he advocated the children being given work in which they were deficient, but in no case should the same work be given to the whole class. He also upheld the action of the board in appointing a woman physical instructor for the girls and predicted that within a few years more ladies would be engaged for this work.

The morning sessions were held in Pearson and Ogden schools. At these meetings discussion took place on the various phases of school work, while a paper was read by Prof. S. B. Moody, O.A.C., Guelph, on Home Gardening.

Principal C. T. Young gave notice of a special matinee Saturday afternoon.

The performance will take the form of an extravaganza with three hundred performers, introducing "The March of the Toys," the most successful number of "The Babes in Toyland," Dr. Cook's Eskimos, with "Fishes They Discovered," the French Chanticleer Ballet (burlesque), Krings's Reindeer Ballet, Little Soldiers of the Present Day, and special settings of the nursery rhymes, in which three hundred children will take part.

A burlesque by a prominent Toronto amateur, who made such a success in "A Policeman's Lot is Not a Happy One," "The Great Juggling Brothers Animal Act," the national dances of England, Ireland and Scotland, the original troupe of South Sea Islanders in the famous song "The Rings on My Fingers and Bells on My Toes," the Spanish bull-fight with toreros, matadors, dancing girls, etc., "A Clinic on the Muzzled Dog," by six of the world's greatest surgeons, with Mendelssohnian selection.

A fitting finale to the performance will be the procession and tableau of two hundred uniformed nurses.

Rev. H. A. Macpherson of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church will be the speaker at the Young Women's Christian Guild, Sunday afternoon, at 4.15. Soloist Miss Wellywood. Social hour and tea at 5.15.

The busy housewife who needs darning day may not know that paraffin rubbed on the heels of stockings reduces friction and saves many a jagged hole.

Embroidery can be cleaned by rubbing the surface with a piece of bread a day old. Use a small piece with the crust still on it, and then throw away as soon as soiled.

If you can work letters neither with a hoop nor without it, compromise on a piece of fine muslin, sewed under the letters. Paste outside the portion to be marked, otherwise there is danger.

FOR LUNCHEON OR SUPPER. Fried Parsnips. Peel or scrape the parsnips and half till tender in salted water. Drain and cut in slices lengthwise. Season with salt and pepper and let them cool. Then dip in flour and fry in drippings till brown.

FOR DINNER. Almond Soup. Blanch half a pound of almonds and brown them in the oven. When crisp and hot, mash them to a powder or run

O. S. A. Exhibition.

That the public are taking a great interest in the annual O. S. A. Exhibition is evidenced by the increased attendance. Last Saturday over 2000 people viewed the paintings and to-day when the galleries are again thrown open free of admission an even larger crowd is expected.

The Toronto Graduate Nurses' Club have completed arrangements for their second annual entertainment, which will be given in the Massey Music Hall, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 15 and 16, with a special matinee Saturday afternoon.

The performance will take the form of an extravaganza with three hundred performers, introducing "The March of the Toys," the most successful number of "The Babes in Toyland," Dr. Cook's Eskimos, with "Fishes They Discovered," the French Chanticleer Ballet (burlesque), Krings's Reindeer Ballet, Little Soldiers of the Present Day, and special settings of the nursery rhymes, in which three hundred children will take part.

ERISH IN FLAMES

and His Wife Meet in Cobalt.

March 18.—Wm. Cope, his wife Edith, aged 29, to death in their three-roomed cottage in Cobalt, about 11.20 o'clock last night, upset a lamp in the kitchen, and the flames, finding their exit through the door, directed Mrs. Cope at her husband, who was sitting at the table, and she was overcome by the flames.

Mr. Cope, who was sitting at the table, was not injured, but his wife, who was sitting at the table, was overcome by the flames.

They were married about 1880, and have three children, a son and two daughters.
